Unique Program Affords

Distributive Education and Office Occupations are vocational training programs in which school and business cooperate to provide specialized training for seniors who are considering a career in business after graduation from high school or college. One of the program's main objectives is to help the student make the adjustment from high school to that which follows graduation, full-time employment or college.

The student attends school in the morning and works at least 15 hours per week in an approved business establishment. Employment is arranged by the distributive education and office occupations co-ordinator with the approval of the student and his parents.

Students may be employed in any business which has a produce or service to sell. Employment will be mainly in selling, advertising, display, merchandising, office routines or other areas of work related to the sale of the product or service of the business. The student is rated frequently on the job by his employer and supervisors.

Words of wisdom and practical advice appear conspicuously on bulletin boards regularly to help guide students involved in the coop business training program. Beverly Platt learns "What to wear."

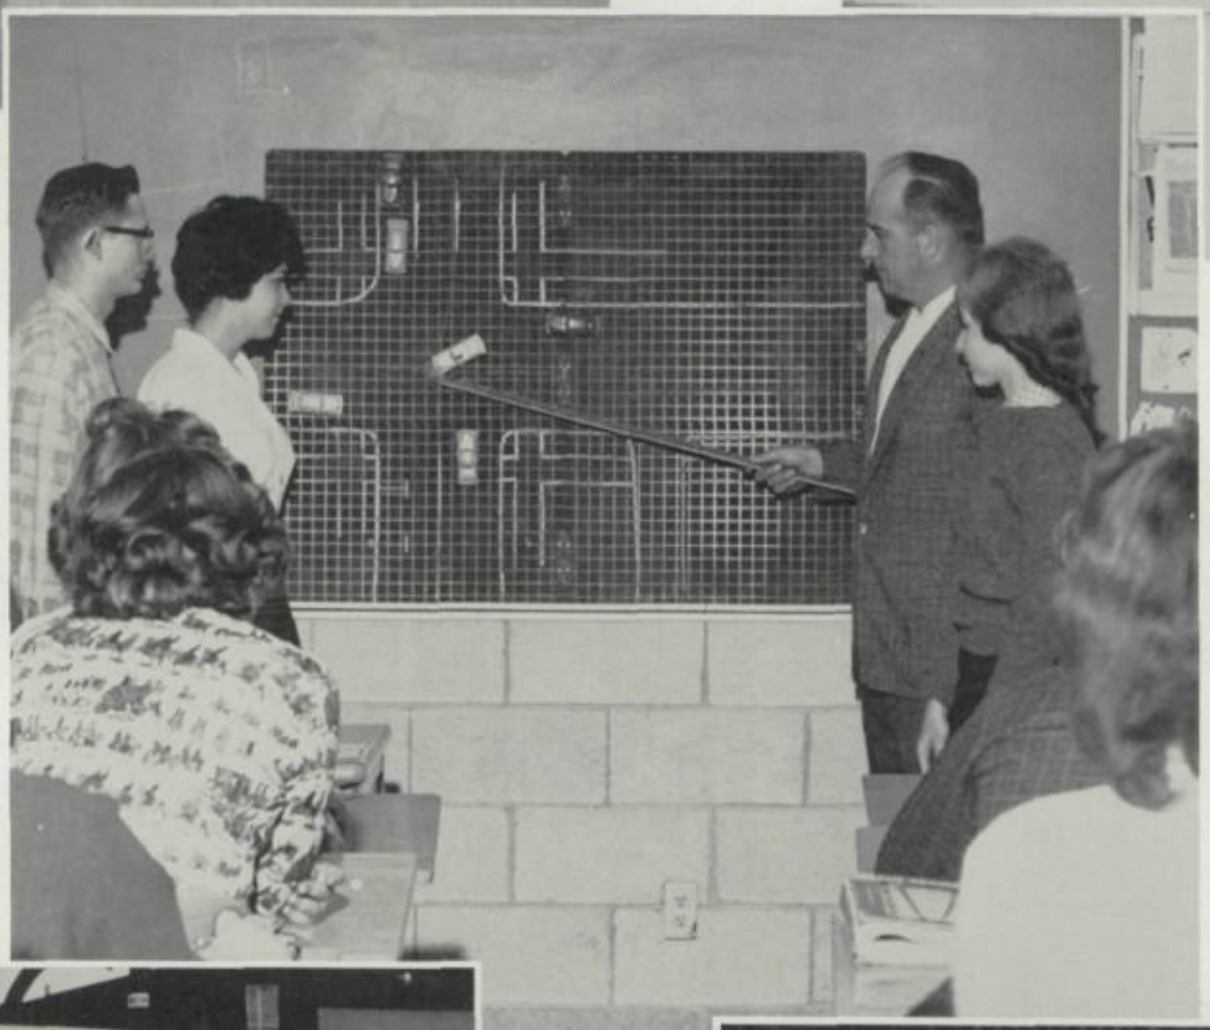
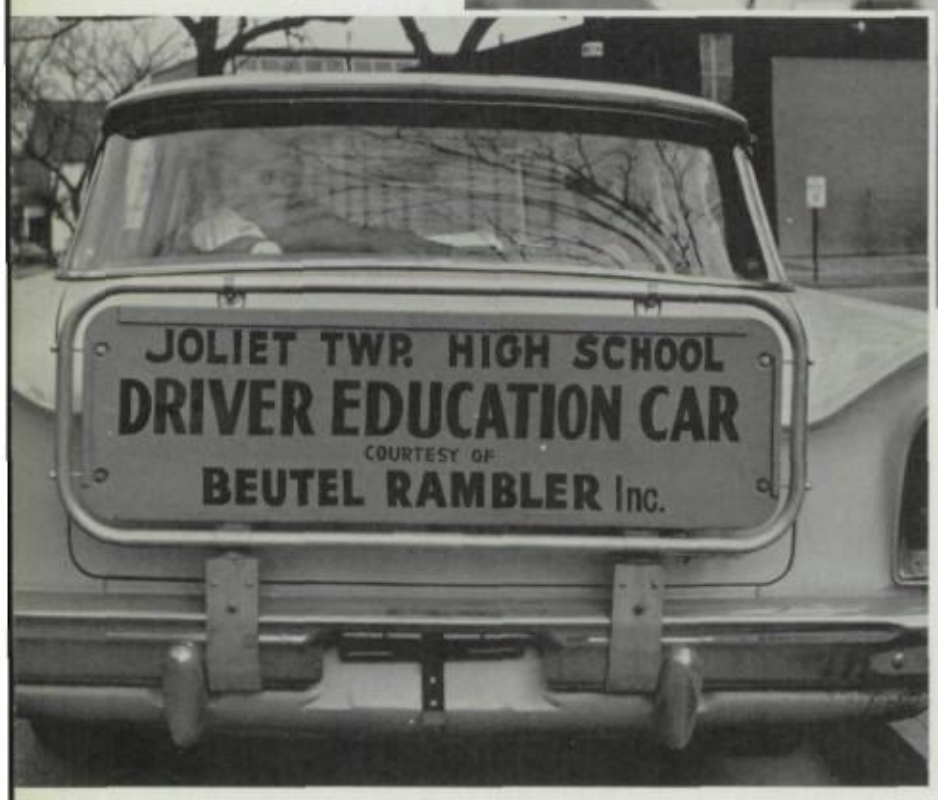
Modern Classroom Procedures Adaptable

Bunny Cohen and Dave Lambert identify muscles of the human body to the satisfaction of Mr. Davis in a HEALTH CLASS.

First you see that the gears are disengaged then you twist the commencer—the first lesson in learning to drive. However, Mr. Zaida, driver training instructor, may not subscribe to this procedure as he aids John Gasparic in automotive operation.



Proper procedure for auto operation at an intersection is explained by Mr. Burget in a blackboard instruction period in DRIVER'S TRAINING.



A familiar sight to many Joliet motorists is the driver education car identification—It means CAUTION—STUDENT DRIVER.

STUDENTS IN PHOTOGRAPHY lend themselves as props as they display a portion of their extensive equipment. Mr. Leatsler's advanced students prove as photogenic as many of their camera subjects.

Physical Fitness Prime Objective of Gym Classes

"All work and no play makes John a dull boy." "John" is shown here at play under the supervision of Mr. Bell.

Everyone gets in the act as the senior girls in this physical education class enjoy "mass" basketball at the close of their basketball "season."

In a six week course in first aid students learn what to do when the unexpected happens. Girls practice the proper way to move an injured patient in an emergency case.

Ungainly and weird physical contortions are effected by the ladies in a tumbling session of a physical education class. Mrs. Dawson checks the proficiency of her students.

Social Science Developes

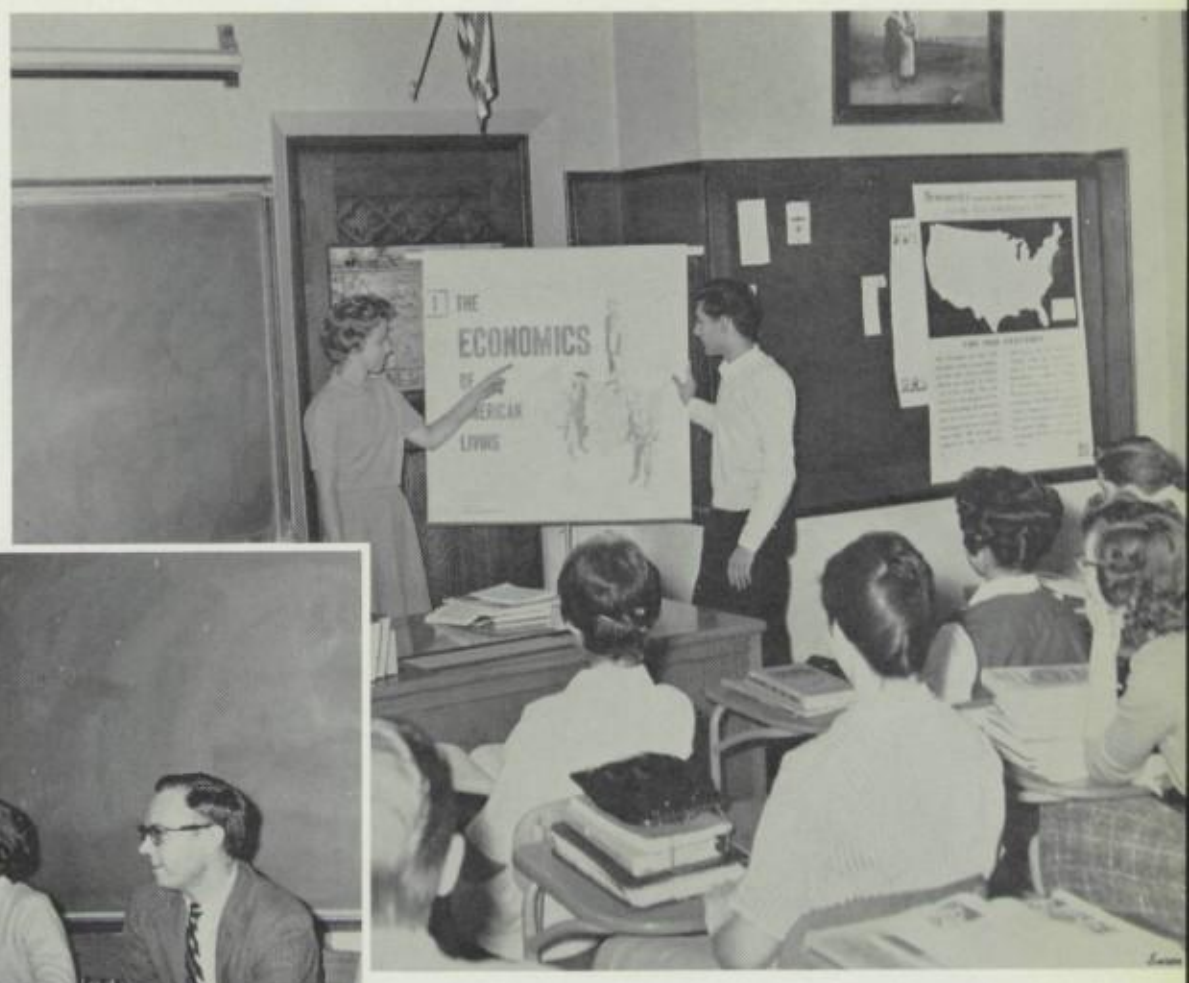
The study of WORLD HISTORY requires wide reading in many areas. Students of Mr. Hurst are involved in a reading and note taking study session.

Large wall maps aid in getting proper perspective of an individual's relationship to the world. Mr. Hodgman directs the classes' attention to a specific area in the Mediterranean.

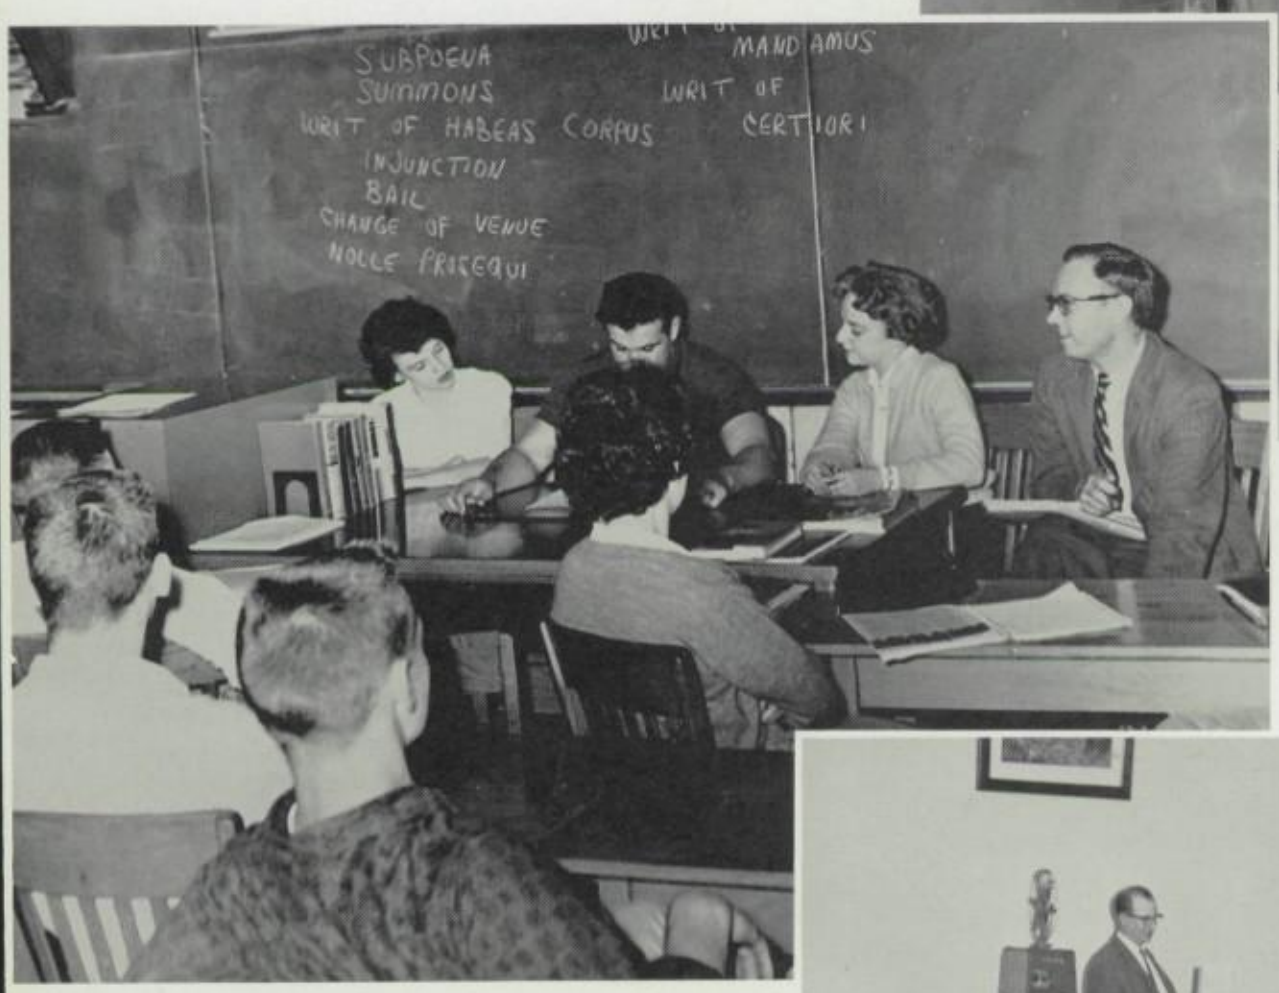
To students frequently falls the responsibility of leading a class discussion concerning important aspects of the course work. One such student, Scott Rackham, conducts an open forum in AMERICAN GOVERNMENT.

World, Historical Understanding

The general purpose of the Social Science Department program is to develop an understanding and appreciation of the historical growth of the world and especially our own country. It also aims to help students prepare for participation in the vocational, economic, social, and political world about him so that he can become a worthy member of the community and the nation.



Students often find themselves before the class for the purpose of reiterating some pertinent points that have been introduced by the instructor as is the situation in this ECONOMICS class.



Panels of students examine theories and questions posed in a SOCIAL PROBLEMS class and work to their solution under the guidance of Mr. Bondar.

A critique often follows the showing of a special film in a classroom. Mr. Robinson leads his students in such a discussion in his course on LATIN AMERICAN HISTORY.

Use of wall maps are utilized in the study of HISTORY OF THE FAR EAST. Mrs. Hawes isolates a geographical point in an explanation.

Business Education — Both Mental

The Business Education Department has for its main objective the provision of training in skills necessary for office employment. However, it also provides training in those fundamentals of business everyone needs to know.

Checking the results of work reproduced by a mimeograph machine are Carol Butler and Joann Onchak in SECRETARIAL OFFICE PRACTICE class. Miss Lane, the instructor, stands by to offer constructive criticism.

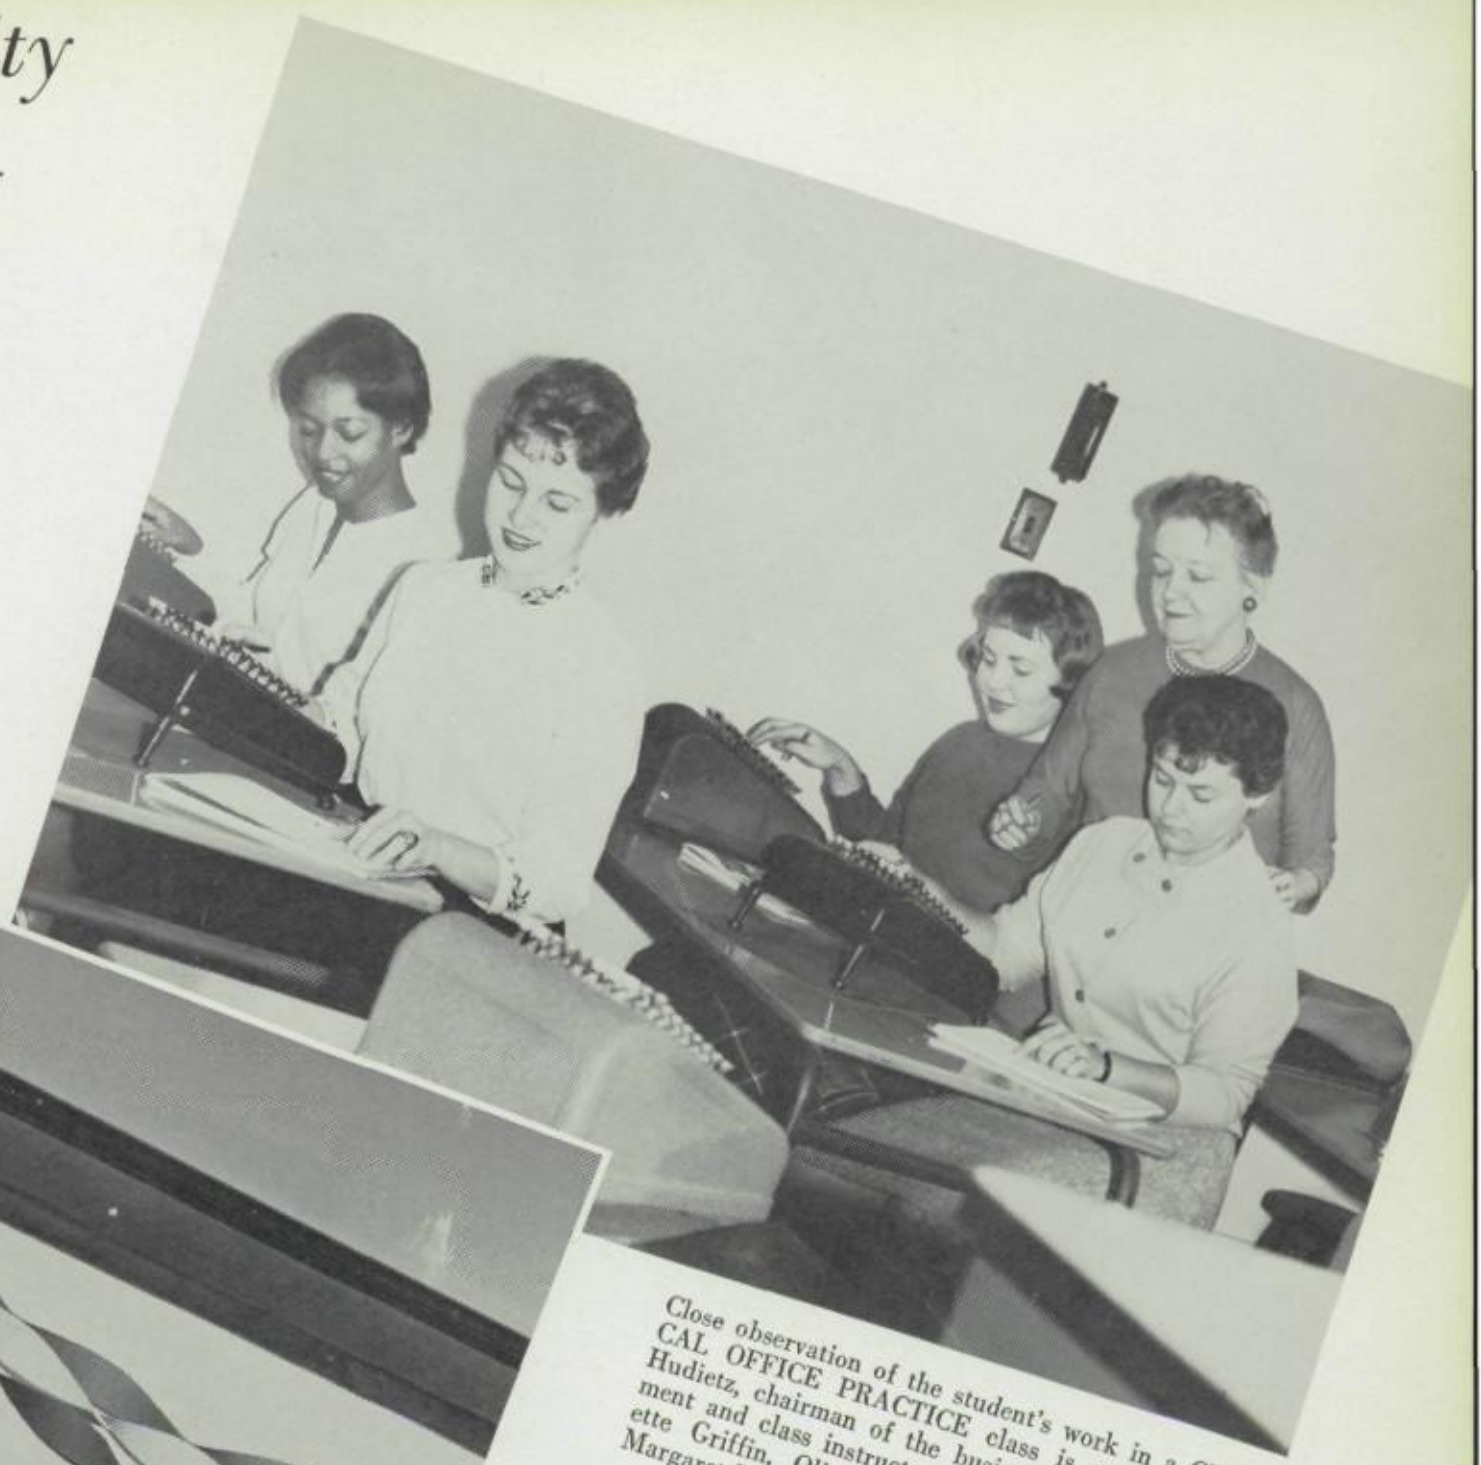
The attention of the students in a BASIC-BUSINESS class is directed to the bulletin board by the instructor, Mrs. Dillinger.

A source of pride in the business education department is the bulletin board being serviced here by Ginny Bussey.

Requires Dexterity and Physical —

In all classes, business teachers strive to develop knowledges, understandings, appreciations, work habits, and social attitudes which will aid in a student's life adjustment.

Up-dating the bulletin board in the business education department is a continuous chore. Adding a new touch to the display is Bea Papesh.



Close observation of the student's work in a CLERICAL OFFICE PRACTICE class is made by Miss Hudietz, chairman of the business education department and class instructor. The students are Acquanette Griffin, Olive Hennings, Sally Stanfield and Margaret Vercellotti.

Students in ADVANCED STENOGRAPHY strive for speed and accuracy.

Chemistry, Mathematics Stressed

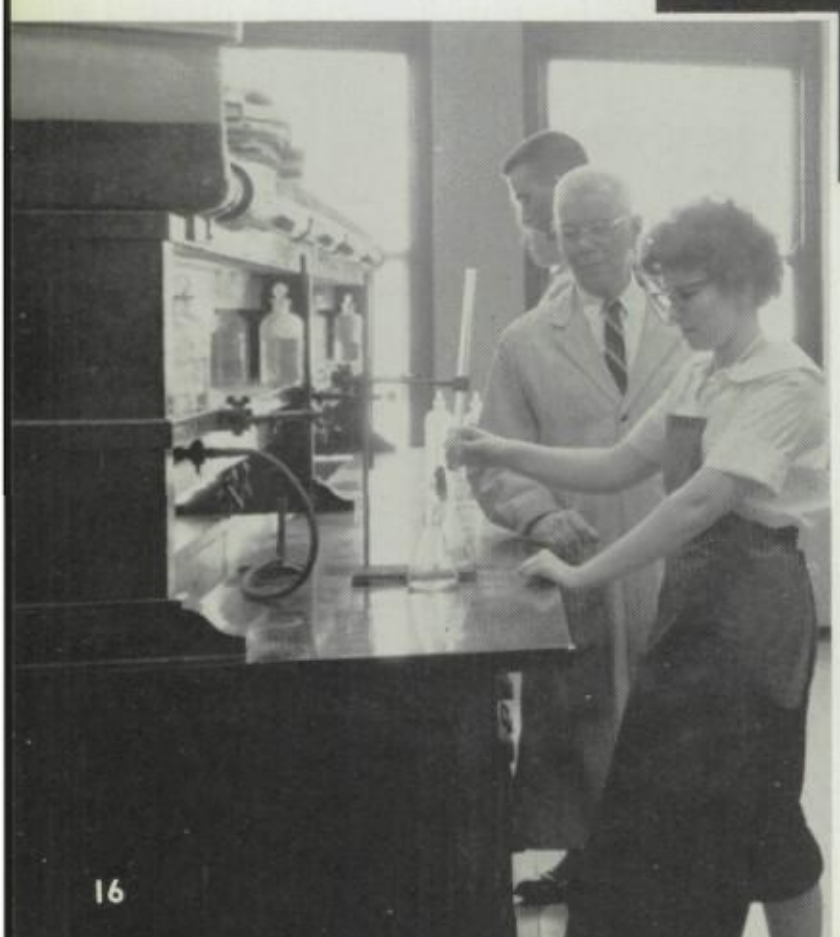
Initiative on the part of students is urged in arriving at answers through prescribed procedure in Chemistry experimentation.

Chemistry is open to juniors and seniors on the high school level. In the fall of the current school year, about two hundred students entered courses in high school Chemistry.

Some enroll in Chemistry because of specific professional or vocational pursuits: others wish to study in this science to broaden their understanding and appreciation of natural phenomenon.

Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, President of the California Institute of Technology has said, "There is more to science than its practical urgency . . . as discovering the beauty of a piece of music can give one pleasure, so discovering for oneself the harmonies of nature can give intense enjoyment."

Workbooks in Chemistry are used to outline correct procedure in developing chemistry experiments, prescribed by the instructor and the text book.



Students learn the correct procedure for the use of the balances in order to measure ac-

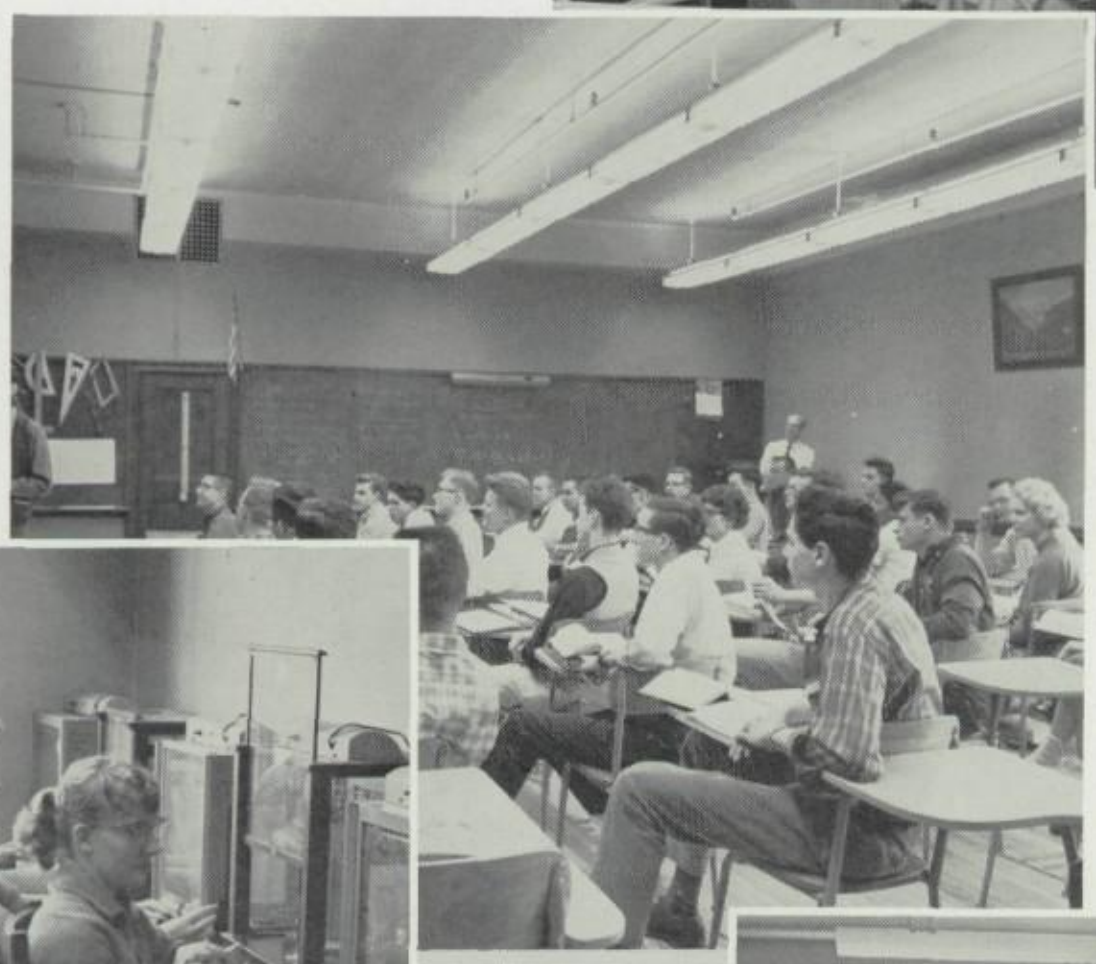
in Science Crash Program

The Mathematics department has a wide range of offerings. One year of mathematics is required for graduation. Although some college-bound students terminate their high school mathematics after Geometry, the doors to many colleges are closed, if no other high school mathematics courses are taken.

The students in the "X" class program have a more rigorous course throughout the four years. For example, Plane and Solid Geometry are covered in two semesters, thus allowing time for Analytic Geometry later in high school. In addition they are able to learn to use a slide rule, partial fractions, and infinite series.

Verbal interpretation of the example problems used in the text is normal procedure in TRIGONOMETRY. Mr. May is outlining the day's work prior to a student work session.



While one of his students presents an individual interpretation of a problem at the blackboard, Mr. Esworthy keeps a close check on the procedure.

curately the weight of compounds to the fourth decimal place.

Mechanical apparatus is utilized in SOLID GEOMETRY to allow visual perception of angles and shapes. Mr. Kohl presents an explanation of a geometrical shape by means of specially constructed props.

Adult Education Is Sort

Students have a variety of subjects from which to choose to portray the use of oil painting.

Classes at Joliet Township High School and Junior College in Adult Education began in the year 1901 and have continued, almost without a break, through 57 years. Joliet's Evening School is one of the larger evening schools in the Chicago area. It is, without a doubt, one of the leaders being the first in Illinois to appoint a full time director. The past year has seen 115 different teachers handling classes after 4 p.m. The term "evening school" is understandable, but the fifties have brought the term "adult education" into much stronger focus.

The supervised Home Study program, which was inaugurated in 1953 with an initial group of 15 people, has grown, until at the present time we have in excess of 200. Last year this program had an enrollment of 273 people in this high school credit division of the evening school.

The offerings at the Adult Evening school include college credit courses, graduate credit courses by extension, high school credit courses and pre-high school credit courses, in addition to business education, homemaking, trade and industrial, and general knowledge courses. Several apprenticeship programs, as well as some trade and industry extension courses are offered each year, either on campus or in the industrial plant.

"Your World Today" is the film lecture series which started in 1951. Nine film lectures and one music program were included on the series this year.

Junior's Pursuit of Knowledge

The curriculum intended for juniors at J.T. is carefully designed to produce effective training for living. Always included in the training is laboratory work designed to be as close as possible to actual experience in the field of the student's desired area of study.

Every person, whether or not he is a practitioner of some one of the mass communication skills, is a consumer of the product of those Above: Deliberate contortion and exaggerated flourishes are characteristic of the mimic. DRAMATICS students are put through their paces regularly as Mr. Mallary exhorts his charges to understandable communication through action.

Right: ADVANCED READING is a course designed to improve the speed and comprehension of the students. Mr. Day flashes printed material on the screen to aid students in increasing the speed at which they read.

May Begin With Communications

skills. We all read newspapers, listen to radio and watch television, go to movies and plays: we listen, we read, we communicate. The various departments try to prepare the consumer for an effective use of the media through which information is distributed in our democracy, so that we may be intelligent listeners, readers, viewers, and effective individual communicators.

First year Journalism students lose their heads over the "J" Hi Journal. Seeming more controlled is Mr. Denison as he looks over some of the accomplishments of his students.

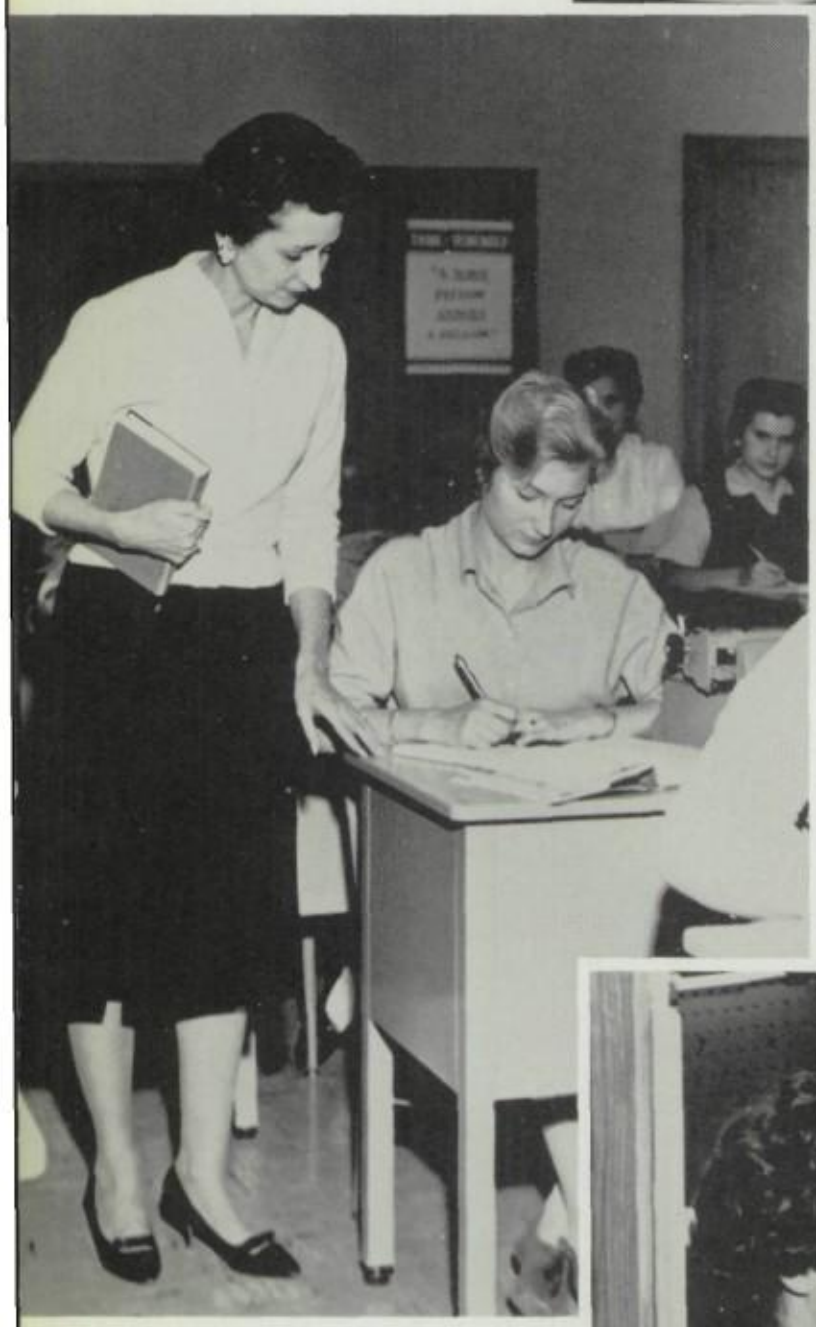
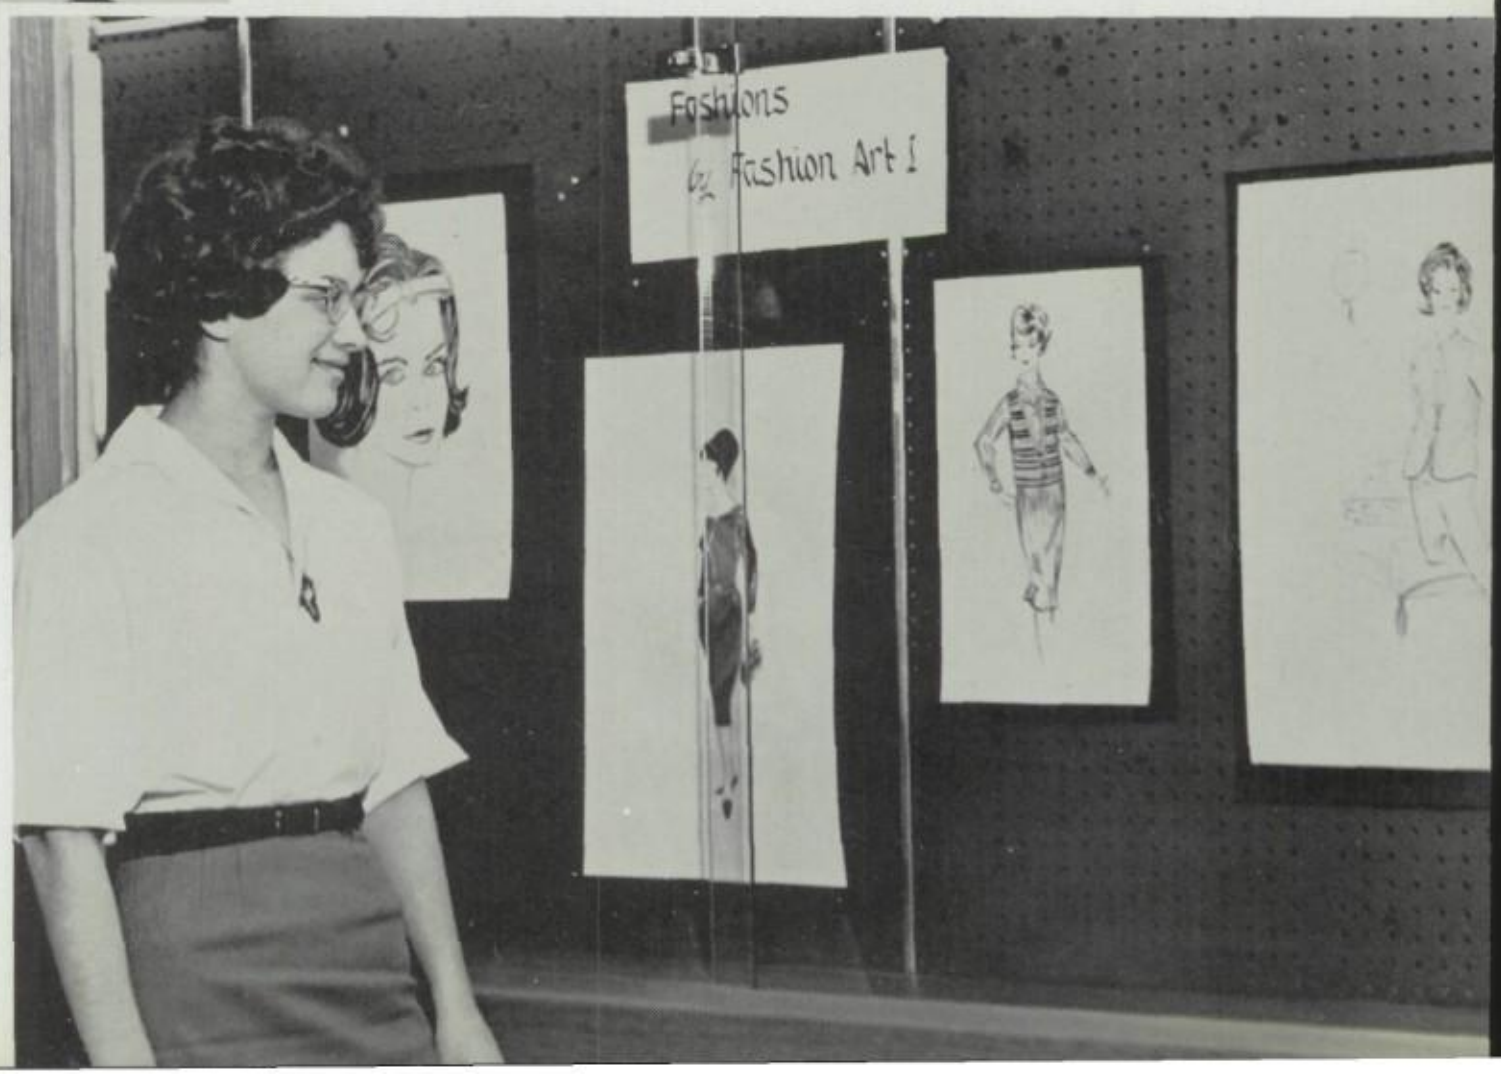
Hands Interpret Thought Processes

Individual project work assignments are the rule in BOOKKEEPING with close surveillance made by the instructor. Observation of students' work by Mr. Jamnik is a daily procedure as he charts their progress.

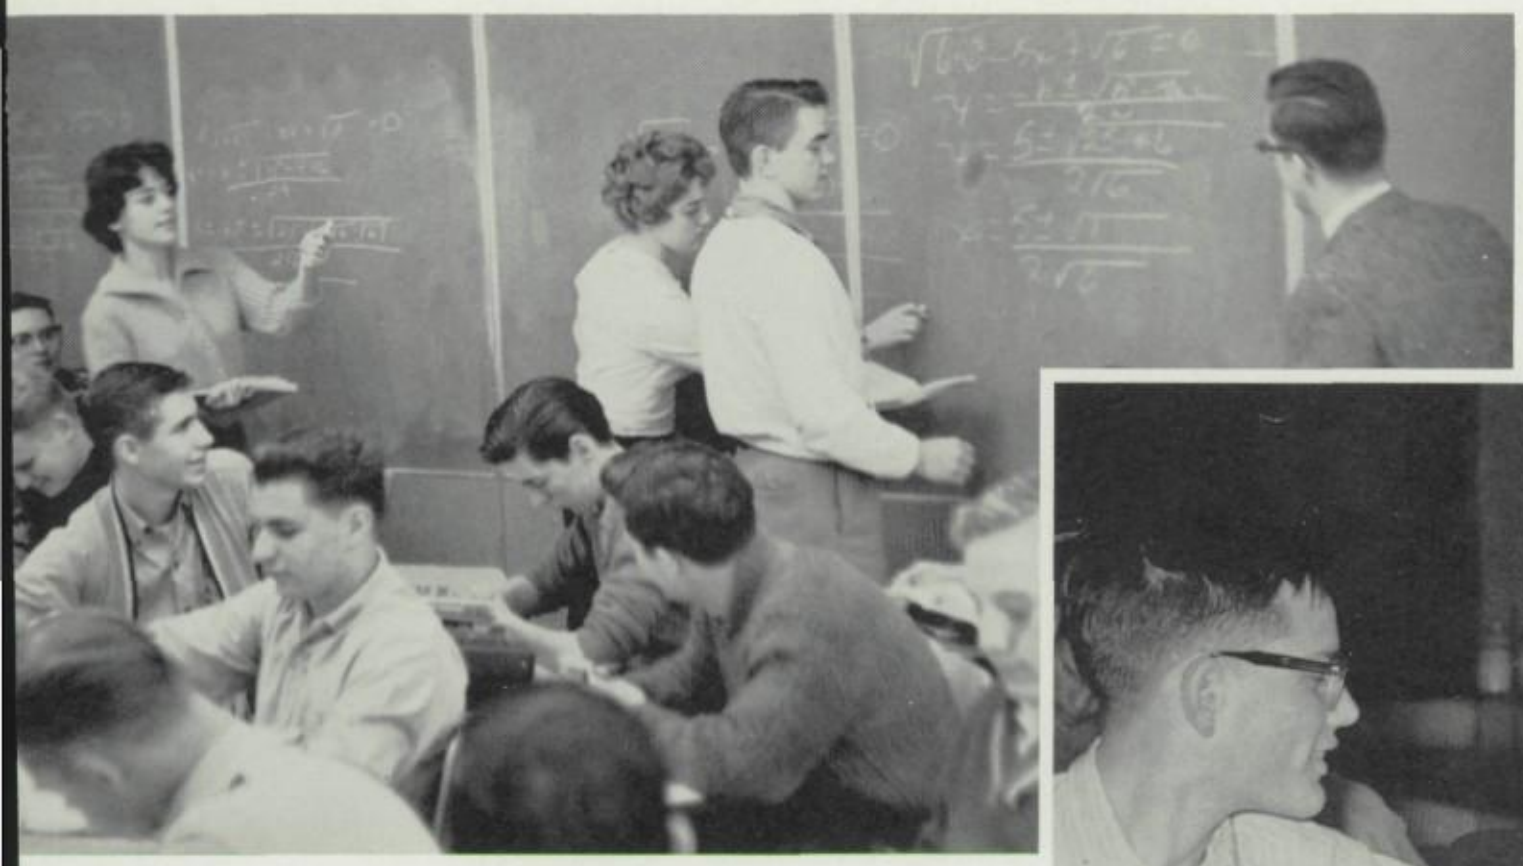


Proficiency in STENOGRAPHY is stressed in the classroom. Intense concentration in pursuing an assignment by Carolyn Querio is observed by her teacher, Mrs. Linton.

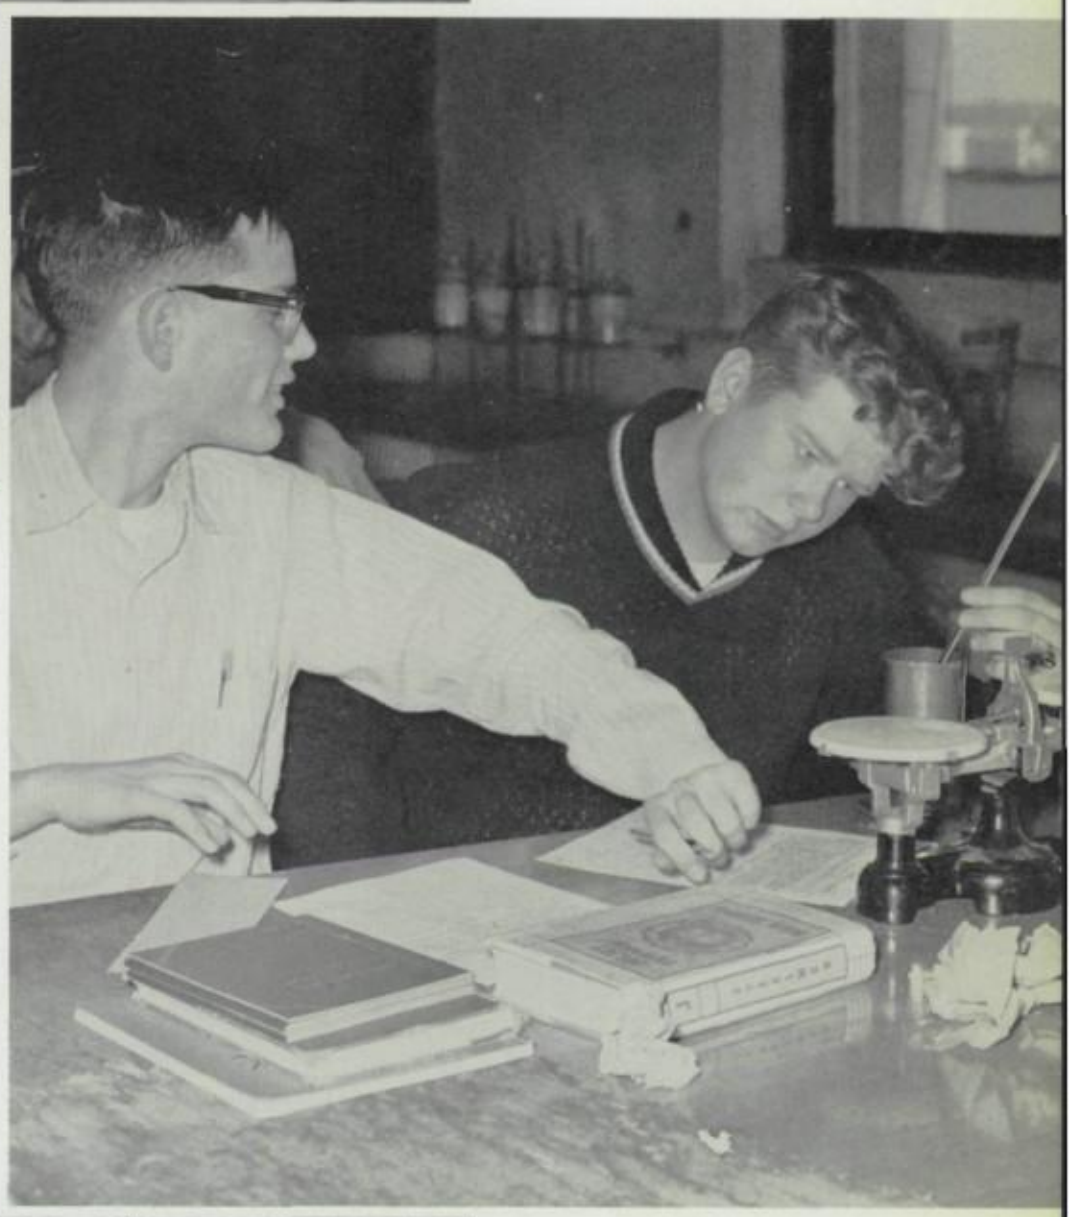


A look of self-satisfaction appears on the face of Carole Zaborsky, and well it should, as she examines a display of her work which is a result of classroom training in FASHION ART.

College Preparatory Study



The students in ALGEBRA III work out the more difficult problems on the board under the close supervision of Mr. Howard. An advanced course in algebra affords students a sturdy basis for college study.

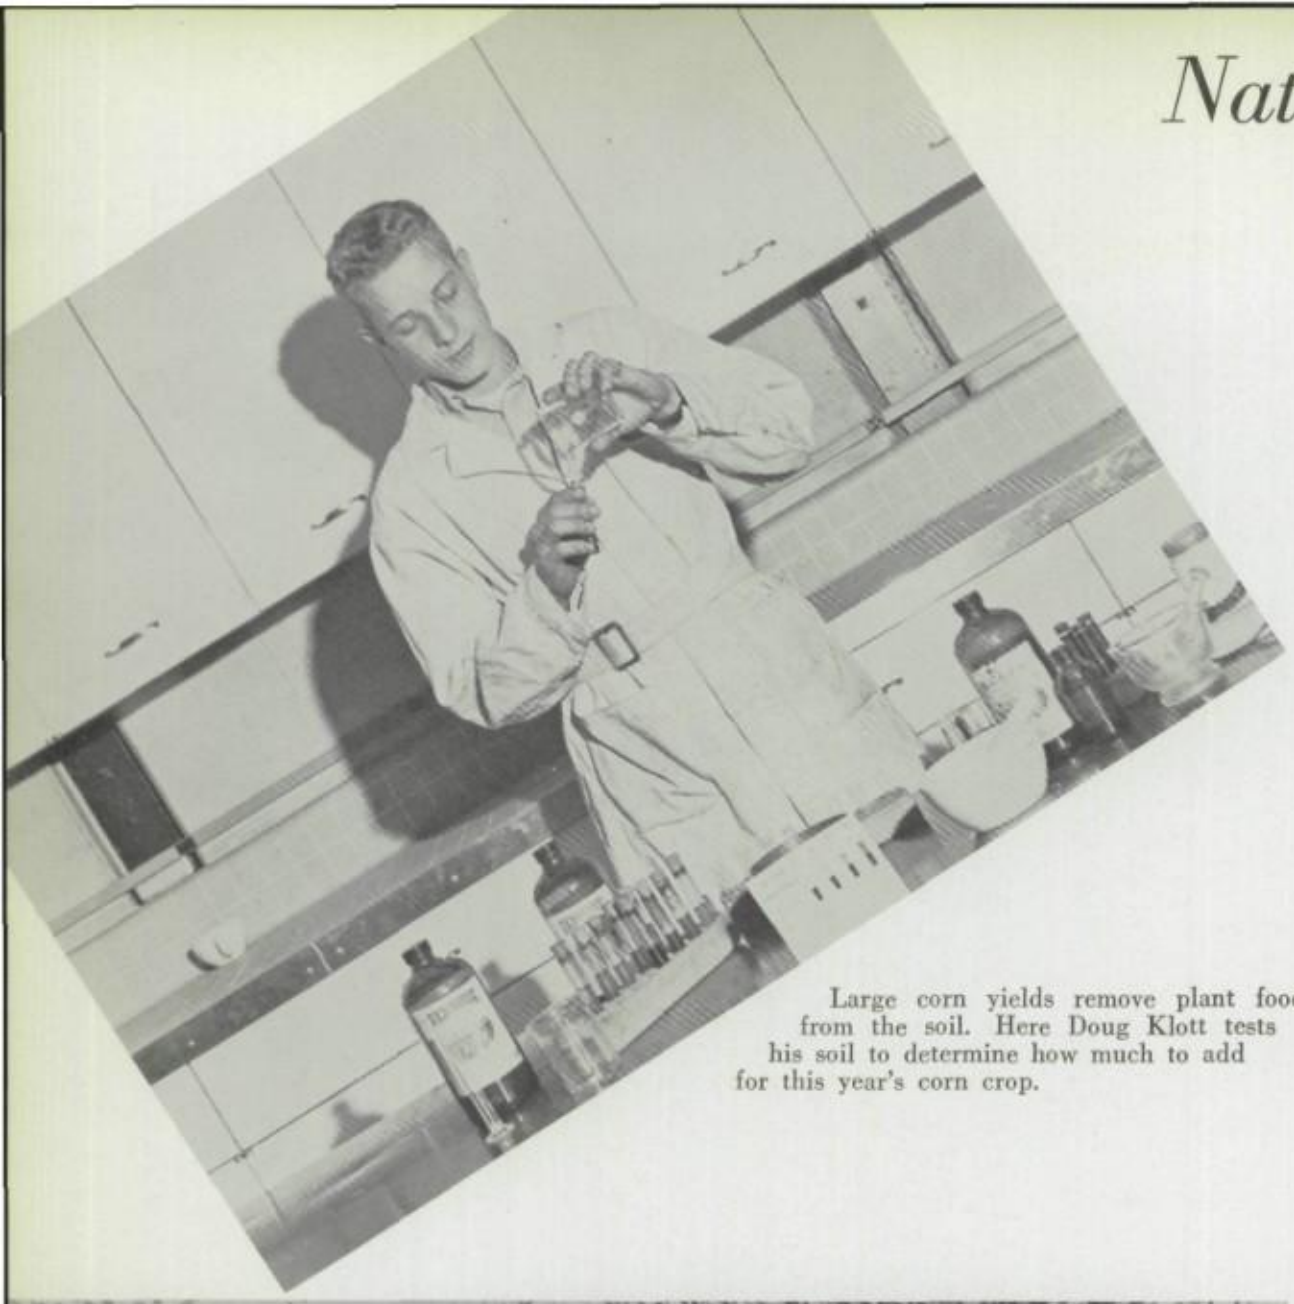


In PHYSICS, students learn to put physical values into Algebraic equations. Working in the laboratory on their experiment concerned with weights and temperature are Bob Cary and Arthur Williams.

Giving oral reports in UNITED STATES HISTORY teaches students the value of public speaking. Mr. Thompson grades the students on the delivery of their speech as well as for their presentation of information on their subject. This required course includes periods of history reading up to the present time.

Nation's Future Farmers for Entry Into

"Learning to do by doing" is the motto of the Vocational Agriculture boys. It is apparent that they do just that. Education for a modern day farmer is essential. Forty-two boys who are taking Vocational Agriculture this year are learning by doing so as to help them with their present farming practices and also to prepare them for the future.



Large corn yields remove plant food from the soil. Here Doug Klott tests his soil to determine how much to add for this year's corn crop.

Above: Doug Klott picked 200 acres of corn this fall. Doug is doing almost all of the farming on their farm.

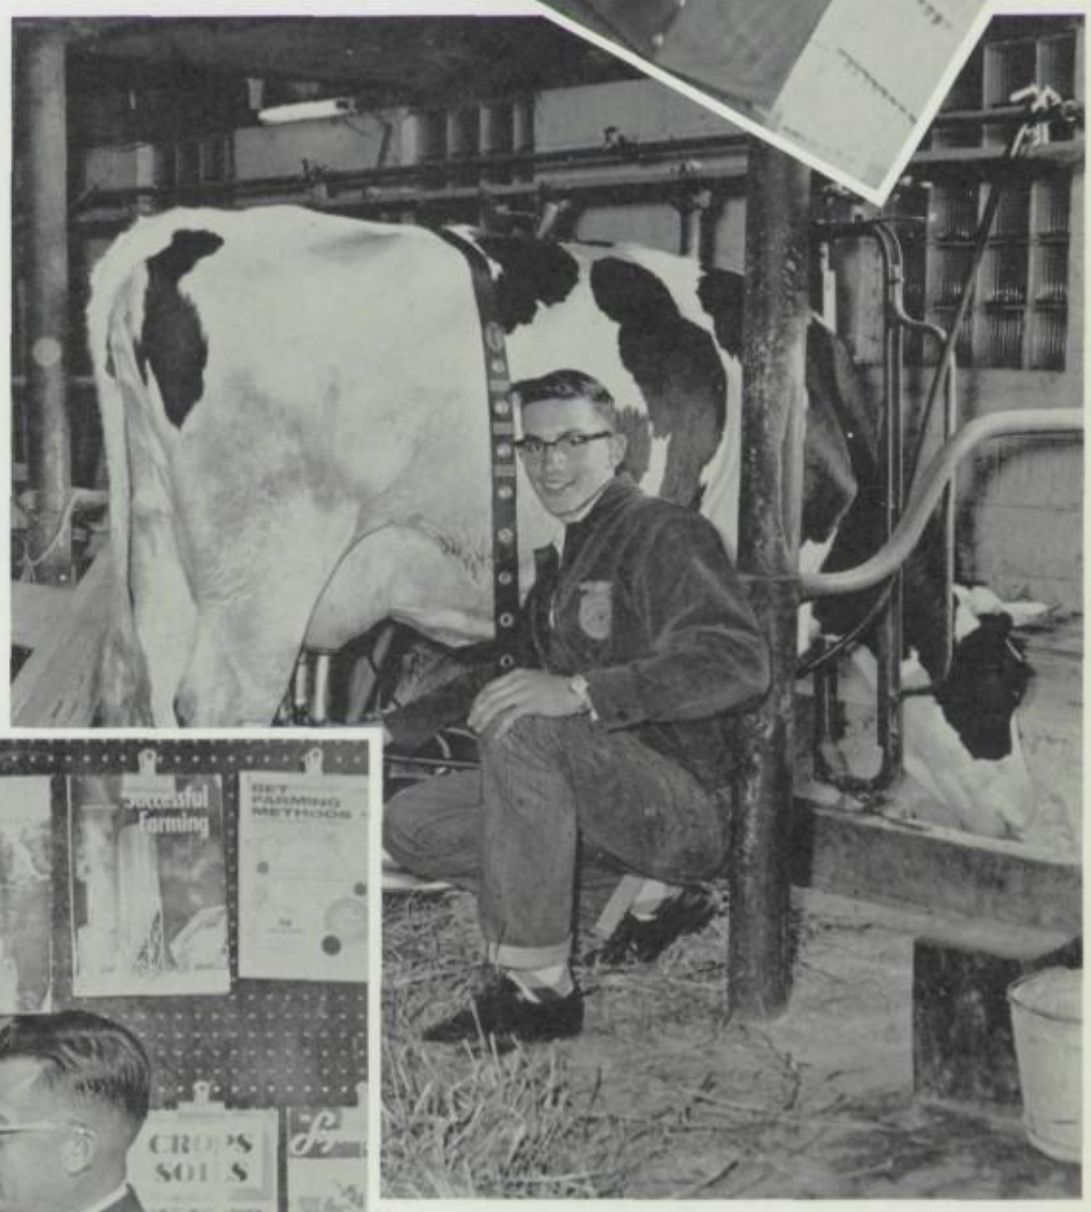
Prepare With Diligence Professional Agriculture

Each Tuesday night over 100 farmers also go to school. These farmers try to keep up with the new scientific changes in farming. Mr. Kuster says there are no discipline problems here. These men want to learn.

Approximately 300 boys get six weeks of general agriculture each year. It's nice to know where your food comes from. Isn't it, boys?

Vigo tests 3.8% butterfat. After Everette weighs the milk and tests for butterfat he can then calculate the pounds of butterfat that she produces.

Left: There is a difference in corn. These boys first grade it with a corn grader, then sort it by hand. It paid off, too. The Vocational Agriculture boys had ten entries at the sectional show and received ten blue ribbons. In this picture Jerry Seil, Veryl Lichtenwalter, and Joe Graham are grading their corn exhibits.



Above: It's milking time for Everett Hauert. This is his purebred Holstein cow. We think she will make over 400 pounds of butterfat her first lactation. She has a heifer calf somewhere in the barn.

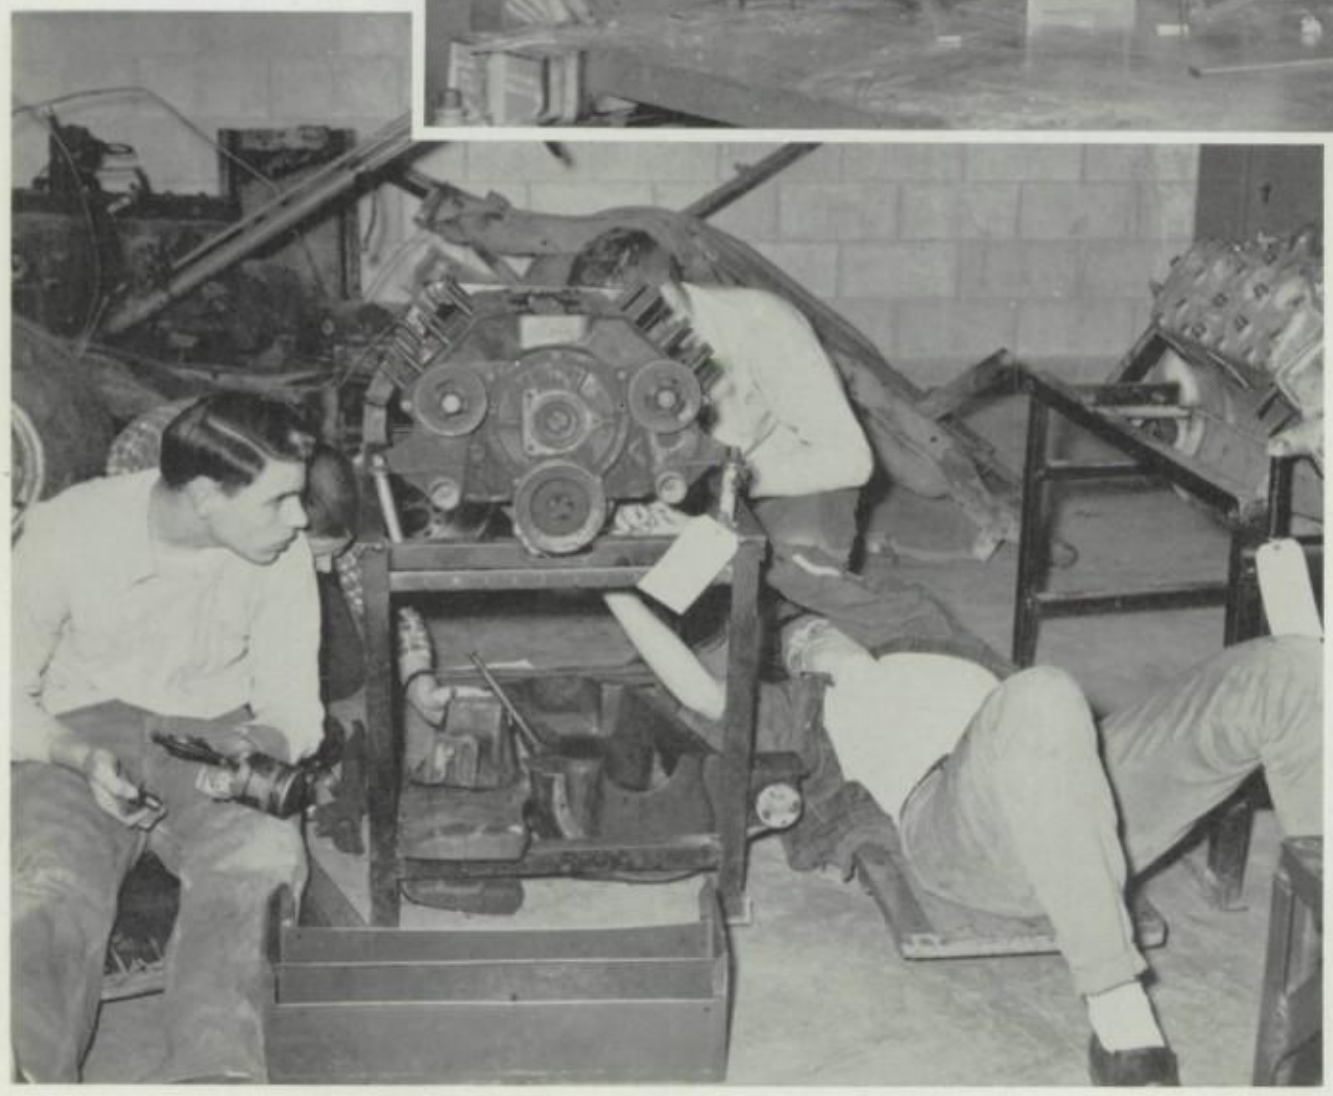
Boys Interested Get Practical

"Careful there, that bug will bite," cautions Mr. Engelhardt, as John Gradberg makes an adjustment on the ELECTRICAL apparatus.

As the result of a class project, in WOOD SHOP, Walter Allen shows his recently finished "hope" chest to Mr. Kichefski. Fellow students looking on in admiration are Tom Hess, David Johnston and Patrick Duffy.



"I understand everything about this motor except one thing—What's the transmission?" Tinkering with their own cars affords invaluable training in automotive fundamentals. The boys learn even about transmissions as they make the necessary repairs in AUTO SHOP.

In MACHINE SHOP boys are allowed to work on a variety of machines. Working here on an automobile engine are Bob Linden, Bob Attaway, Darryl Dupre, Ray Petersen.

BIOLOGY

the SCIENCE of LIFE

These sophomores are guilty of "cutting up" in biology class—frogs, that is. They watch them, study them, and dissect them, too!

Likely as not the first thing these biology students see in a microscope is a reflection of their own eyes. However, they are learning and before long they will be probing the mysteries of life, by means of their microscopes.

Most anything once inhabited by the earth from snake skins to snail shells may be seen on display in the biology exhibition cases on the third floor of J.T.

Foreign Language

Ja, sich sagte: "Donavdampfschiffsfahrtsqesellschaftsvertreteranwartermutze!"

The Foreign Language Department of J.T. offers four years of French, German, Latin and Spanish. In addition Russian was introduced this year.

All of these language courses endeavor to guide the student toward the

"O Tannenbaum!"

Students enrolled in foreign language courses have the privilege of joining a foreign language club. For the 1960-61 school year there has been a Spanish Club, Los Conquistadores, meaning "The Conquerors," and a German Club, Wir Wunderkinder meaning "We Geniuses." The activities of these clubs are centered around the idea of getting additional practice in grammar and vocabulary while participating in extra activities that would be impractical in the classroom. These students sing songs and play games while using the foreign language which they are studying. Miss Frenk is the faculty sponsor of the Spanish Club and Mr. Fieliyz sponsors the German Club.

mastery of the basic skills; namely, listening, speaking, reading and writing. Also there is an emphasis on the culture and civilization behind these languages which enrich the students' knowledge of the peoples in the world around him.

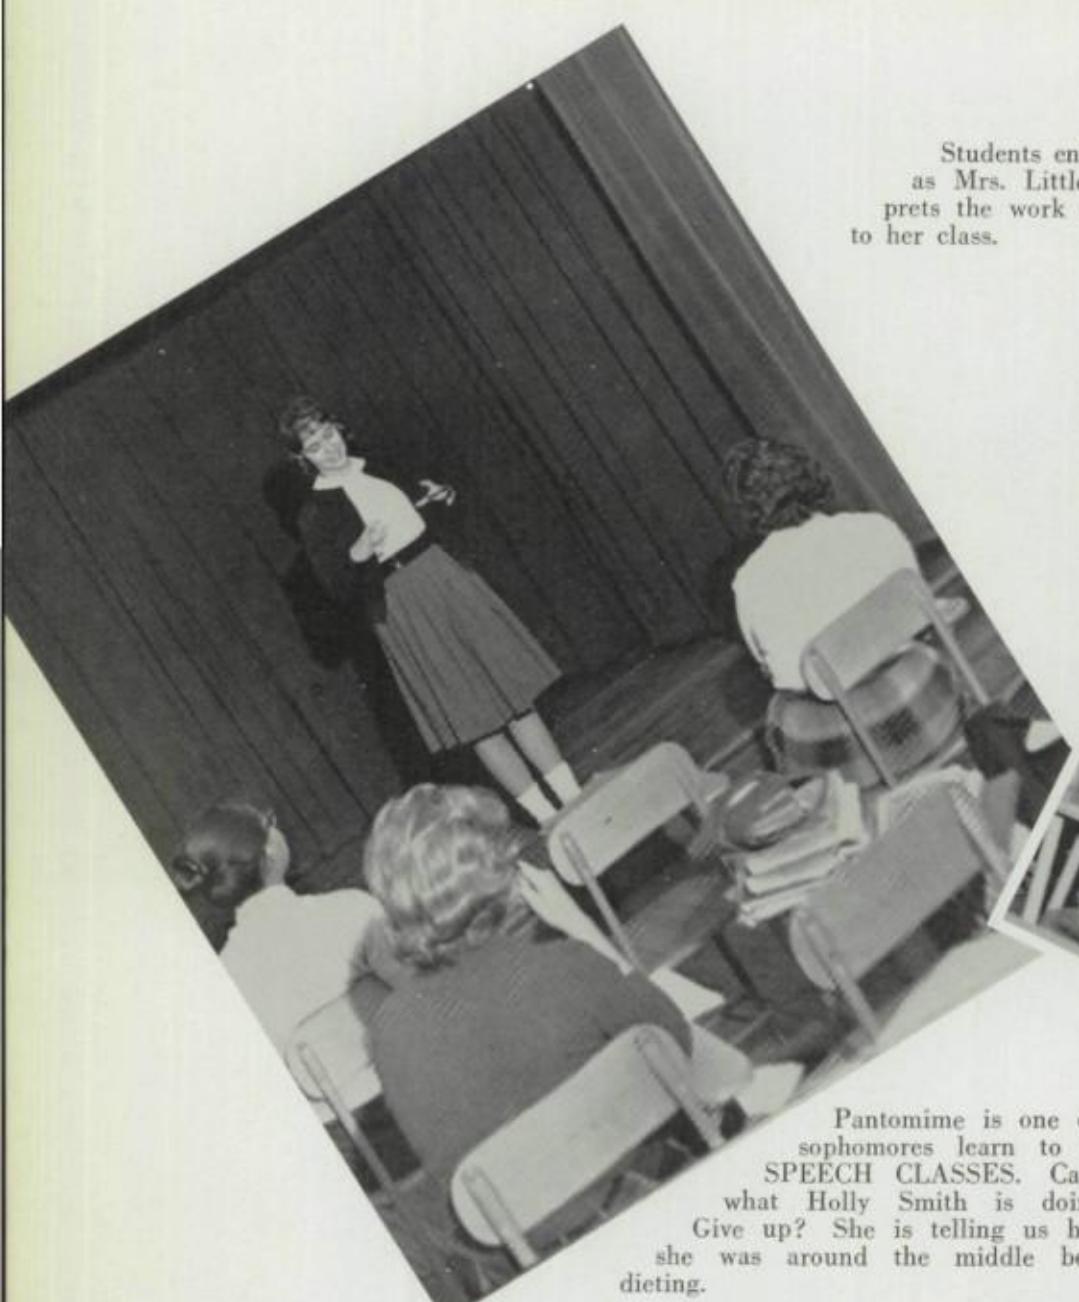
Applications of English Study



Students enjoy poetry more fully as Mrs. Little reads and interprets the work of various poets to her class.

Pantomime is one of the first things sophomores learn to effect in their SPEECH CLASSES. Can you guess what Holly Smith is doing here? Give up? She is telling us how big she was around the middle before dieting.

An innovation employed in the more progressive classrooms is the deliniioscope, a machine which permits the teacher to project on a screen images of single copies of study materials for example and discussion purposes. Observation of features of the projected objects are shared simultaneously with a large group. This teaching aid is used advantageously by Miss Adler in her ENGLISH CLASS.

As sophomores, J.T. students continue to explore wondrous experiences through their study of LITERATURE. These students of Miss Thackaberry are enriching their lives through reading.

The library card catalogue offers ready and efficient aid to Laroux Minor, as she searches for proper course work reference materials.

Tamar Adams, a student librarian, checks out a book from the high school library to Rita Wolf as Mr. Williams looks on.

The library offers a variety of reading materials including a convenient rack containing late magazines, some of which Gary Yocum is shown here examining.

Literary Heart of the School

Students are permitted peace and quiet in which to read or study.

While surrounded by a mass of paperback books, recently unpacked, prior to a special sale, Mr. Williams, the high school librarian, has a look of quandary. However, this confused look disappeared soon after when the first general sale of its type at J.T. was termed a successful Library Club project.

Being Practitioners

A Wide Variety

Practice, They Say

Students personal progress for speed and perfection is individually recorded by Miss McManus. In TYPING students learn the mechanical as well as the automatic phases of typing.

Above: Practice makes perfect. This also holds true in TYPING where students strive for speed and perfection.

This moveable triangle demonstrated by Sylvia Lundin shows the imagination which is necessary to fully understand and appreciate the basic fundamentals of GEOMETRY.

Art students utilize structures adjacent to the school for sketching purposes.

An Art student's training involves numerous facets. Instructed to reflect depth and perspective of unusual shaped objects in their sketches, Bruce Sanders, Sara Beth Jones, Cheryl Barrett, and Kay Downing attempt to differentiate between garbage cans and telephone poles.

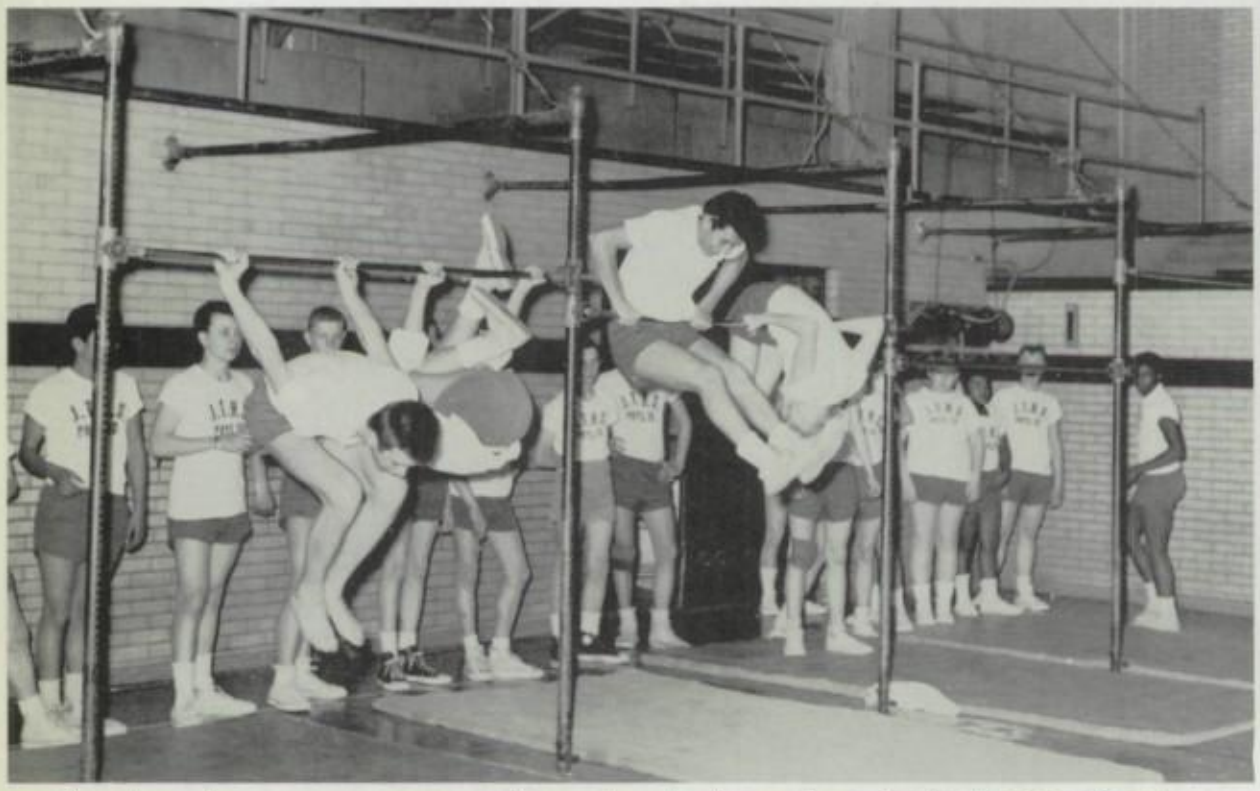
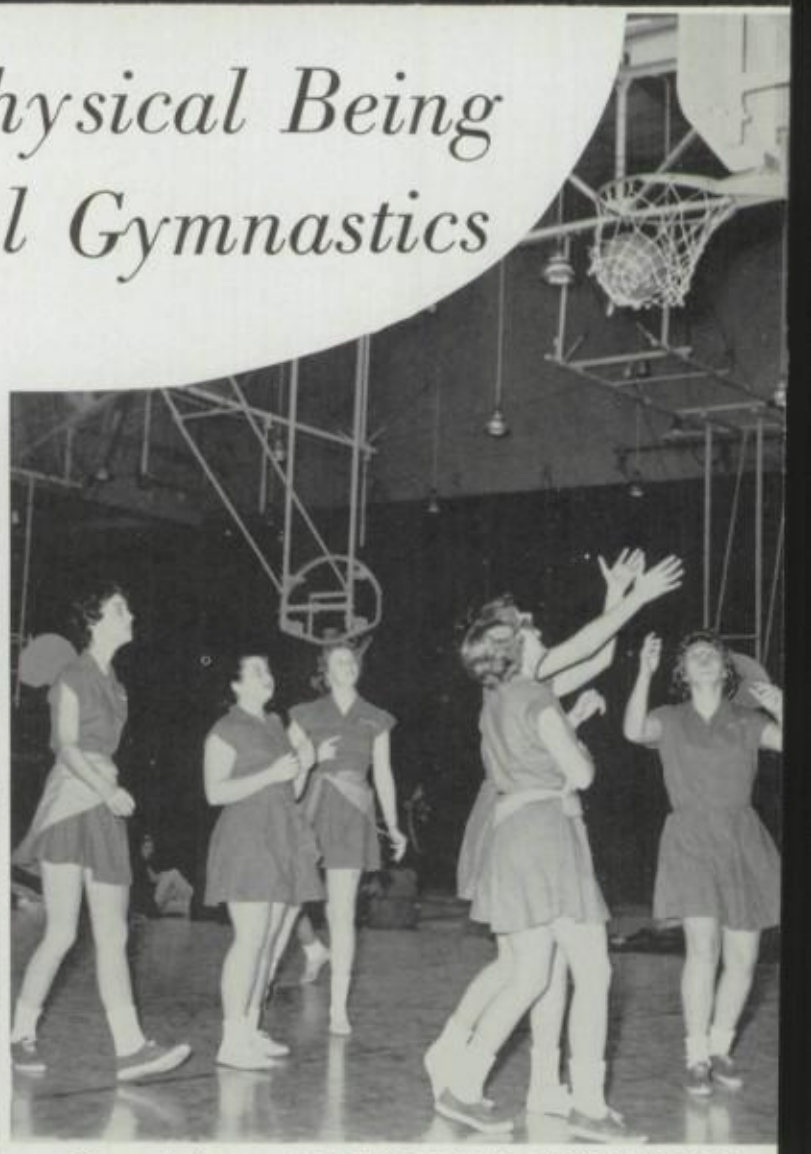
Frosh Get Attention to Their Physical Being in Addition to Academic Mental Gymnastics



Grunts and groans are commonplace when freshman boys begin their workouts on the horizontal bars. This individual activity is one of the first projects encountered by the boys in the PHYSICAL EDUCATION program.



One of the varied PHYSICAL EDUCATION activities in which freshman girls engage is basketball. Here is a game which affords sportsmanship and character training and a lot of fun for the participants.

Restacking and checking books are the two main duties of student librarians in the Freshman Library. Playing this particular role are Jeanette Bardowski, Mary Jane Brachle, Louise Raddatz, and Mary Jo Verchimak.

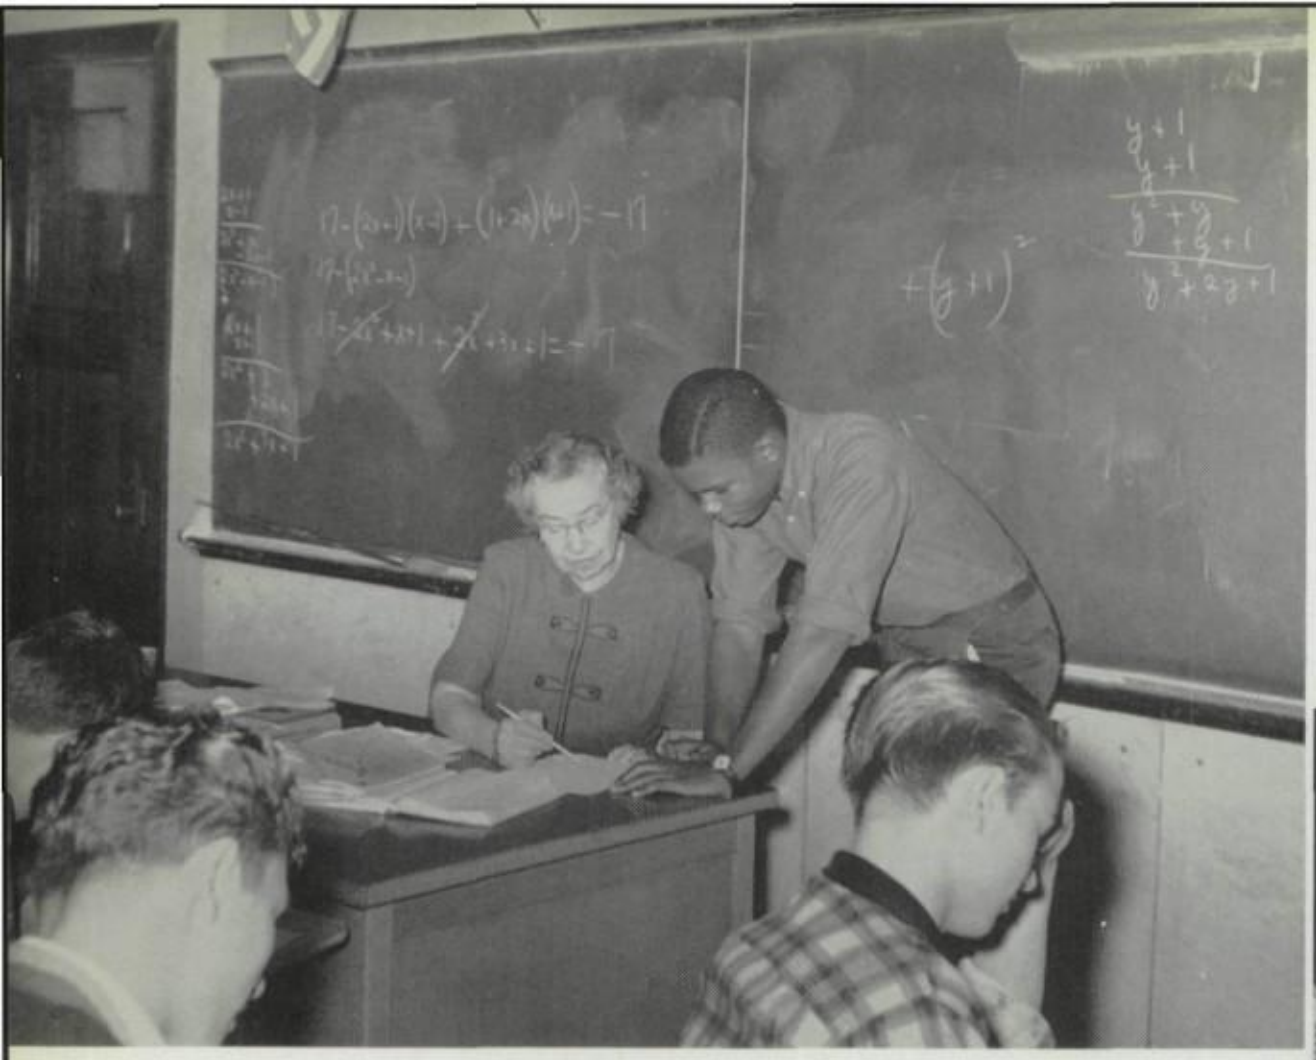
Freshman students at J.T. learn to utilize and appreciate more fully their English grammar knowledge. Mrs. Medcalf reviews the fundamental uses of grammar.

Freshmen Utilize Library Services

Throughout the day freshman students are hard at work in pursuit of academic perfection, but once in a while they like to relieve the study pressure by engaging in a little "light" reading such as is on display here at the magazine rack.

The library's collection of fine books serves as a background for this picture of freshman students at work.

Early in Their Freshmen Are to the Sciences

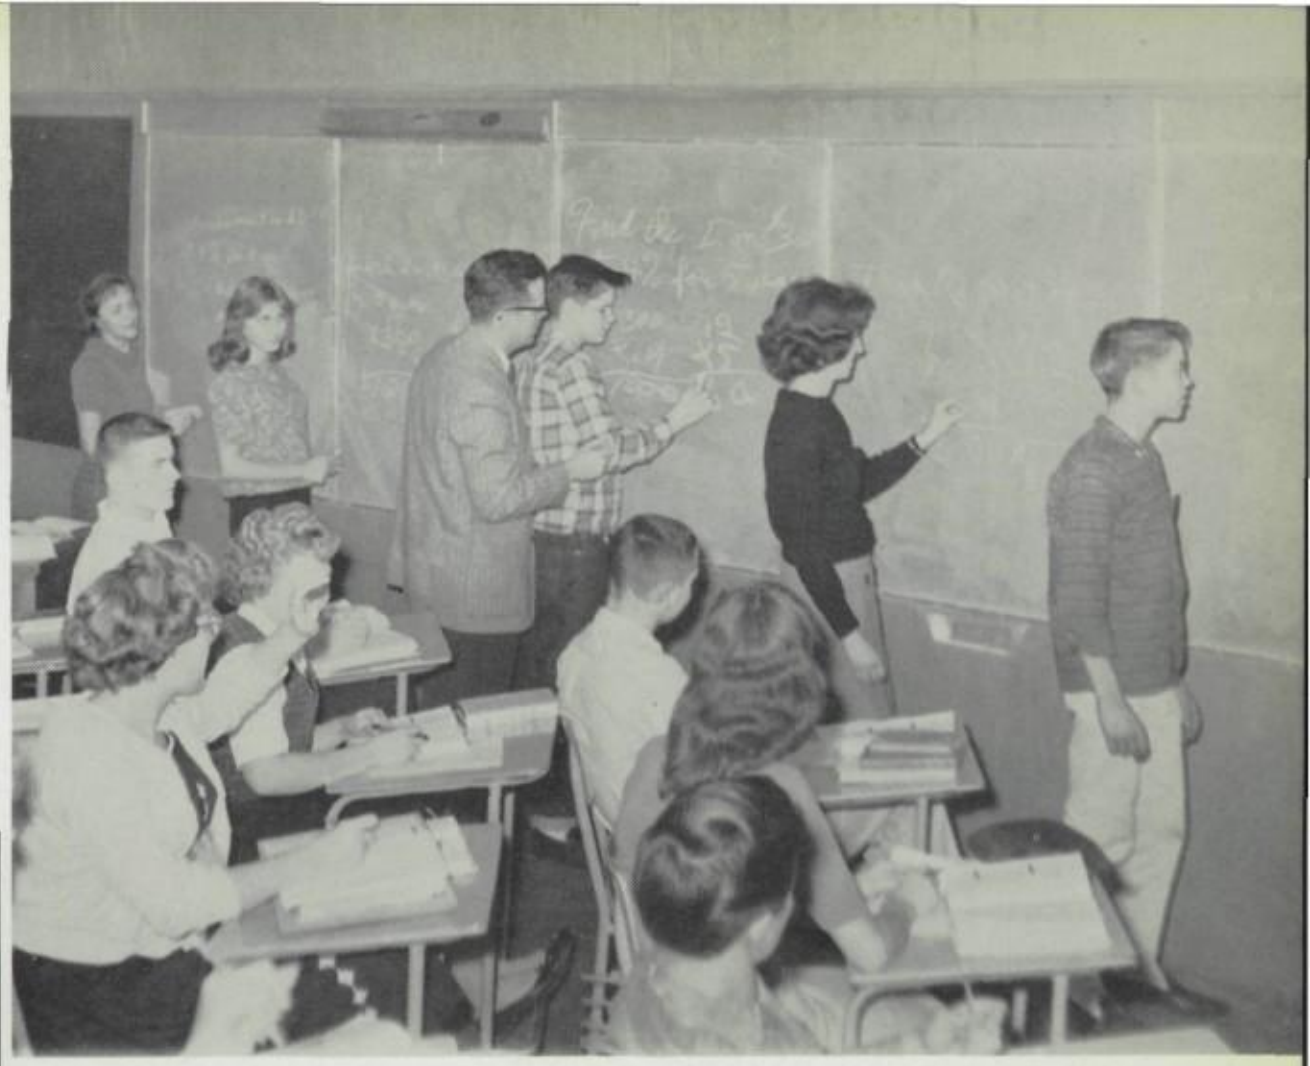


Above: ALGEBRA is a requirement of all students bound for college. Pupils are encouraged to seek counsel from their instructors. Here Mrs. Fox gives individual attention to Joe Hinton, with one of his problems.

Below: SOCIAL STUDIES is a course designed, among other things to teach the freshman the fundamentals of our government. Mr. Chase appears concerned when speaking to his freshman.

Insignificance is a typical reaction all freshmen experience when first encountering the massiveness of the structure that is J.T. Depicting pictorially the human feeling of unconspicuousness is Joan Skikas, who appears dwarfed by the long halls, the high walls, and the great steel cribicals that are lockers.

Academic Life Formally Introduced and Mathematics



Above: Finding the interest on $300 at 4% for five years is one of the problems the students of Mr. Howard learn to solve in GENERAL MATHEMATICS. Board work and close observation by the instructor are characteristics in a class such as this.

Left: The Science department maintains display cabinets showing natural phenomenons. Two freshmen, Judy Collins and Ronald Duff, pause momentarily to admire the rock collection.

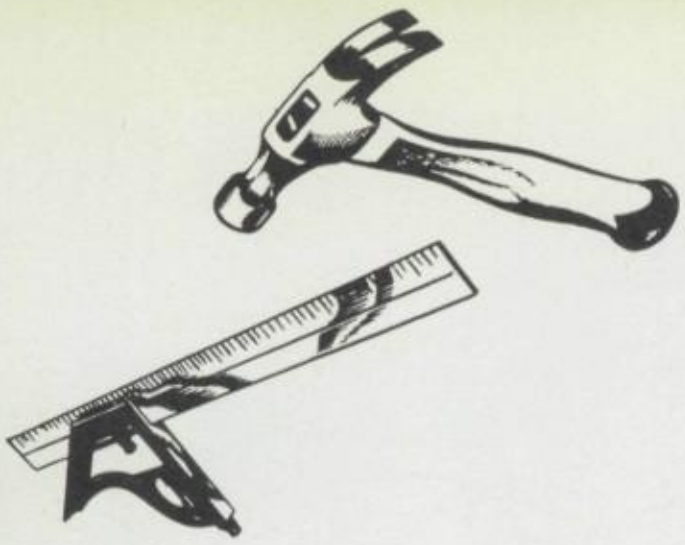
Right: Lynn Spencer is amused as Mr. Odenthal probes a large chunk of rock in a classroom demonstration. EARTH SCIENCE is a course in which freshmen learn of the earth's composition and natural properties.

GENERAL HOMEMAKING training includes proficiency in the use of the sewing machine. Here are pictured a few freshman girls learning the intricacies of the machine in preparation for future homemaking duties.

Today's freshmen are tomorrow's bread winners and homemakers. These kids, in much too short a time, will be assuming the obligations demanded by marriage and family living. One of the responsibilities our school assumes is that of helping to prepare young adults, such as Aiden Ferguson and Barbara King, for partnership in a full and beneficial living experience. Where better to graphically present this dramatic projection into the future than in front of the Home Economics Department's allusion to a house and homemaking center where training for this may have its inception.

Pots, and pans, and the kitchen stove—all symbols of the homemaker's trade are integrated into this situation as Sharon Smithberg prepares her favorite dish.

Below: Practical experience in preparing and serving foods derived from exercises in laboratories such as this in which these future homemakers effect realistic situations which will be met many times later on in their lives as wives and mothers. Shown here are Sharon Smithberg, Barbara Easley, Mary Hudolin, and Judy Darin.



"This, boys, is a cow," says Mr. Zaida as he orients his AGRICULTURE students in the concepts of animal husbandry, an important phase of modern day farming procedure. Learning what a cow looks like are Joseph Rungaitis, Anton Semrou, Ron Pozzi, and Peter Peterson.

J.T. is proud of its new TECHNICAL ARTS BUILDING.

As part of their general shop training Bill White and Don Sargant are exposed to practical exercises in the proper handling of various metals. These boys are learning to make good use of metal while practising the proper use of tools.

Below: The general shop training includes a course in WOOD SHOP in which boys learn to use various tools which help them to be constructive with wood.

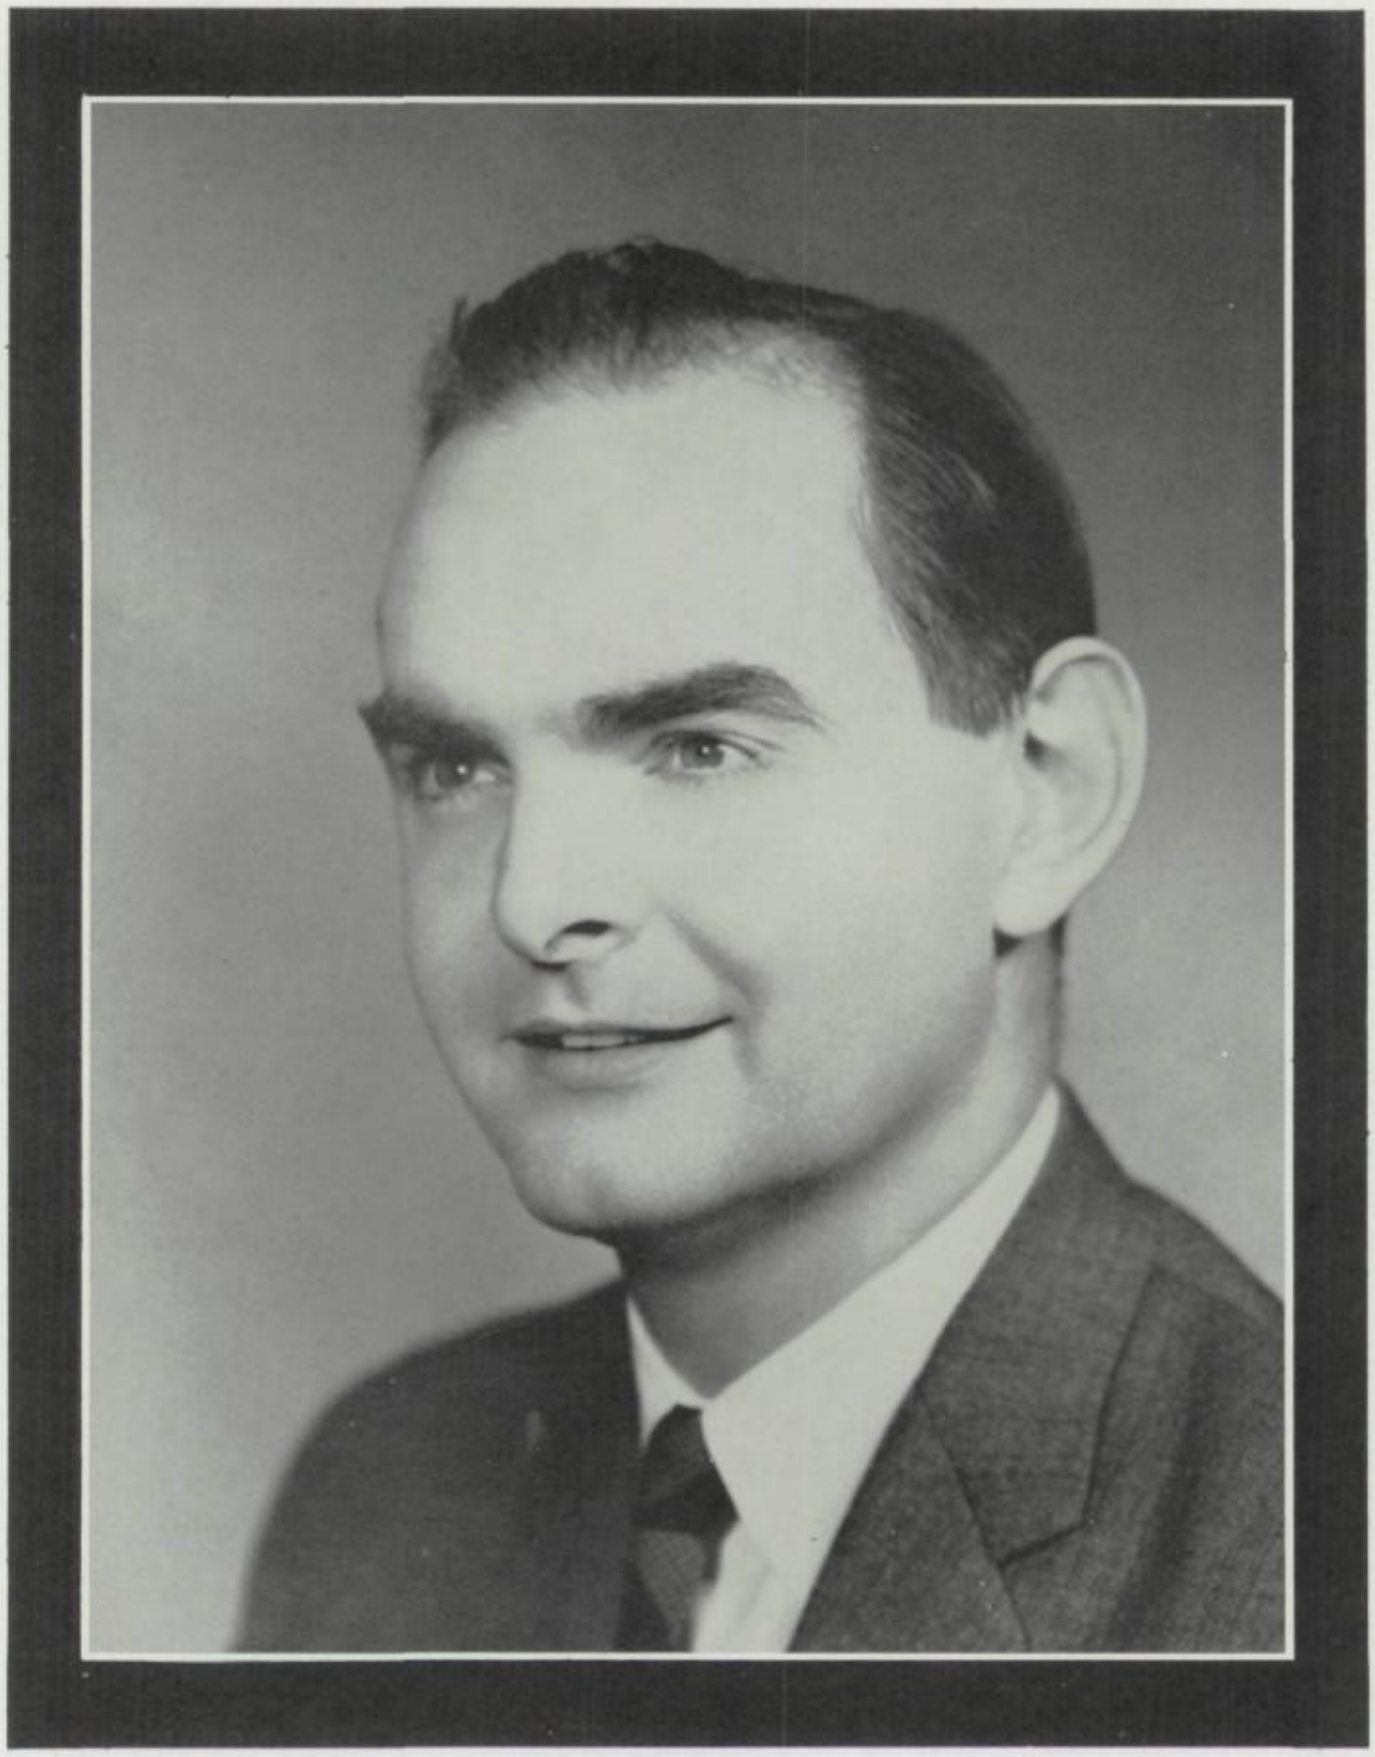
To the Class of 1961



"... it is for us the living to be dedicated to the unfinished work ..." When Abraham Lincoln spoke these words nearly one-hundred years ago, he had different problems in mind than we face today, yet the principle involved is just as true now as it was on the battlefield at Gettysburg. Surely our nation now has problems as grave and as threatening as those of the Civil War seemed then. Surely too, the "unfinished work" is there to be done. This should be particularly important to young adults graduating from high school for, without question, many of the major decisions of our time for our country will be made in the next thirty years. The future is not assured, yet our course of action should be clear. In the perspective of history there has never been a nation with such bright prospects. The democratic principles upon which this country rests are unique. Our major task is to continue to apply these principles at home and with other nations throughout the world.

The men who established the basic concepts of democracy in our country set their standards exceedingly; so high that over one-hundred-fifty years later we are still seeking ways to apply these principles to all phases of our national life. This represents our unfinished work. It is with real hope for the future that we graduate the Class of 1961, for within these young people we see the seeds of strength necessary to carry the great traditions of this country into the future.

DEPARTMENT

Each of the eighteen departments at JT operates under the jurisdiction of a master teacher who coordinates the teaching program of their academic area. These department chairmen are appointed to their posts by the Superintendent. They are dedicated educators in the true meaning of the word. With strong moral fiber and a sense of responsibility. The administrative duties, especially in the larger departments, is burdensome. Yet, each of these department heads assumes a heavy teaching load, and, in most cases, perform home room duties. Decisions on methods of teaching for the course work in their academic field, outlining courses of study for each teaching assignment, voluminous reading to keep abreast of current curriculum offerings, arranging for substitute teachers, presiding at meetings with the teachers in their department, approving textbooks and continuously updating reference materials for use in the department are routine duties of the Chairman. Add to those the scheduling of teaching courses, the assignment of classrooms and office space for their teachers, balancing the number of students in classes, and making regular reports to the Superintendent, and one will concede the importance of the role of the department chairman.

OUR CLASS

MR. HARRIS ENDERSON
Senior Class Counselor

To each of us the expression "Our Class Counselor" had a different meaning. To some freshmen it meant receiving help with their educational plans. For others it meant interviews that helped them to understand the meaning of test scores. For a few freshmen it meant receiving help in understanding why they were having difficulty with some subjects and how they might improve their study habits.

As sophomores, some of our classmates will remember the counseling interviews where we explored occupations and job opportunities. There were a few of us that said, "I am going to be an engineer" or "I want to be a nurse." We also will remember those famous last words, "Education for the future is very important."

It was our Junior Class Counselors that reassured some of us that we could master a foreign language. We were helped during this year to complete our educational plans for graduation. Many of our classmates were introduced to PSAT and the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. The scores from these tests were sometimes shocking. We were informed that there would be more standardized tests in our future.

We started our senior year with ACT and SAT. At group guidance meetings we were given information about scholarships and college entrance requirements. We were helped in selecting a college and filing applications for scholarships. We will remember "Our Class Counselor" as a person who gave us guidance and counseling when we needed help. The counselor was one of the many persons who reassured us for the future and expressed confidence in our abilities.

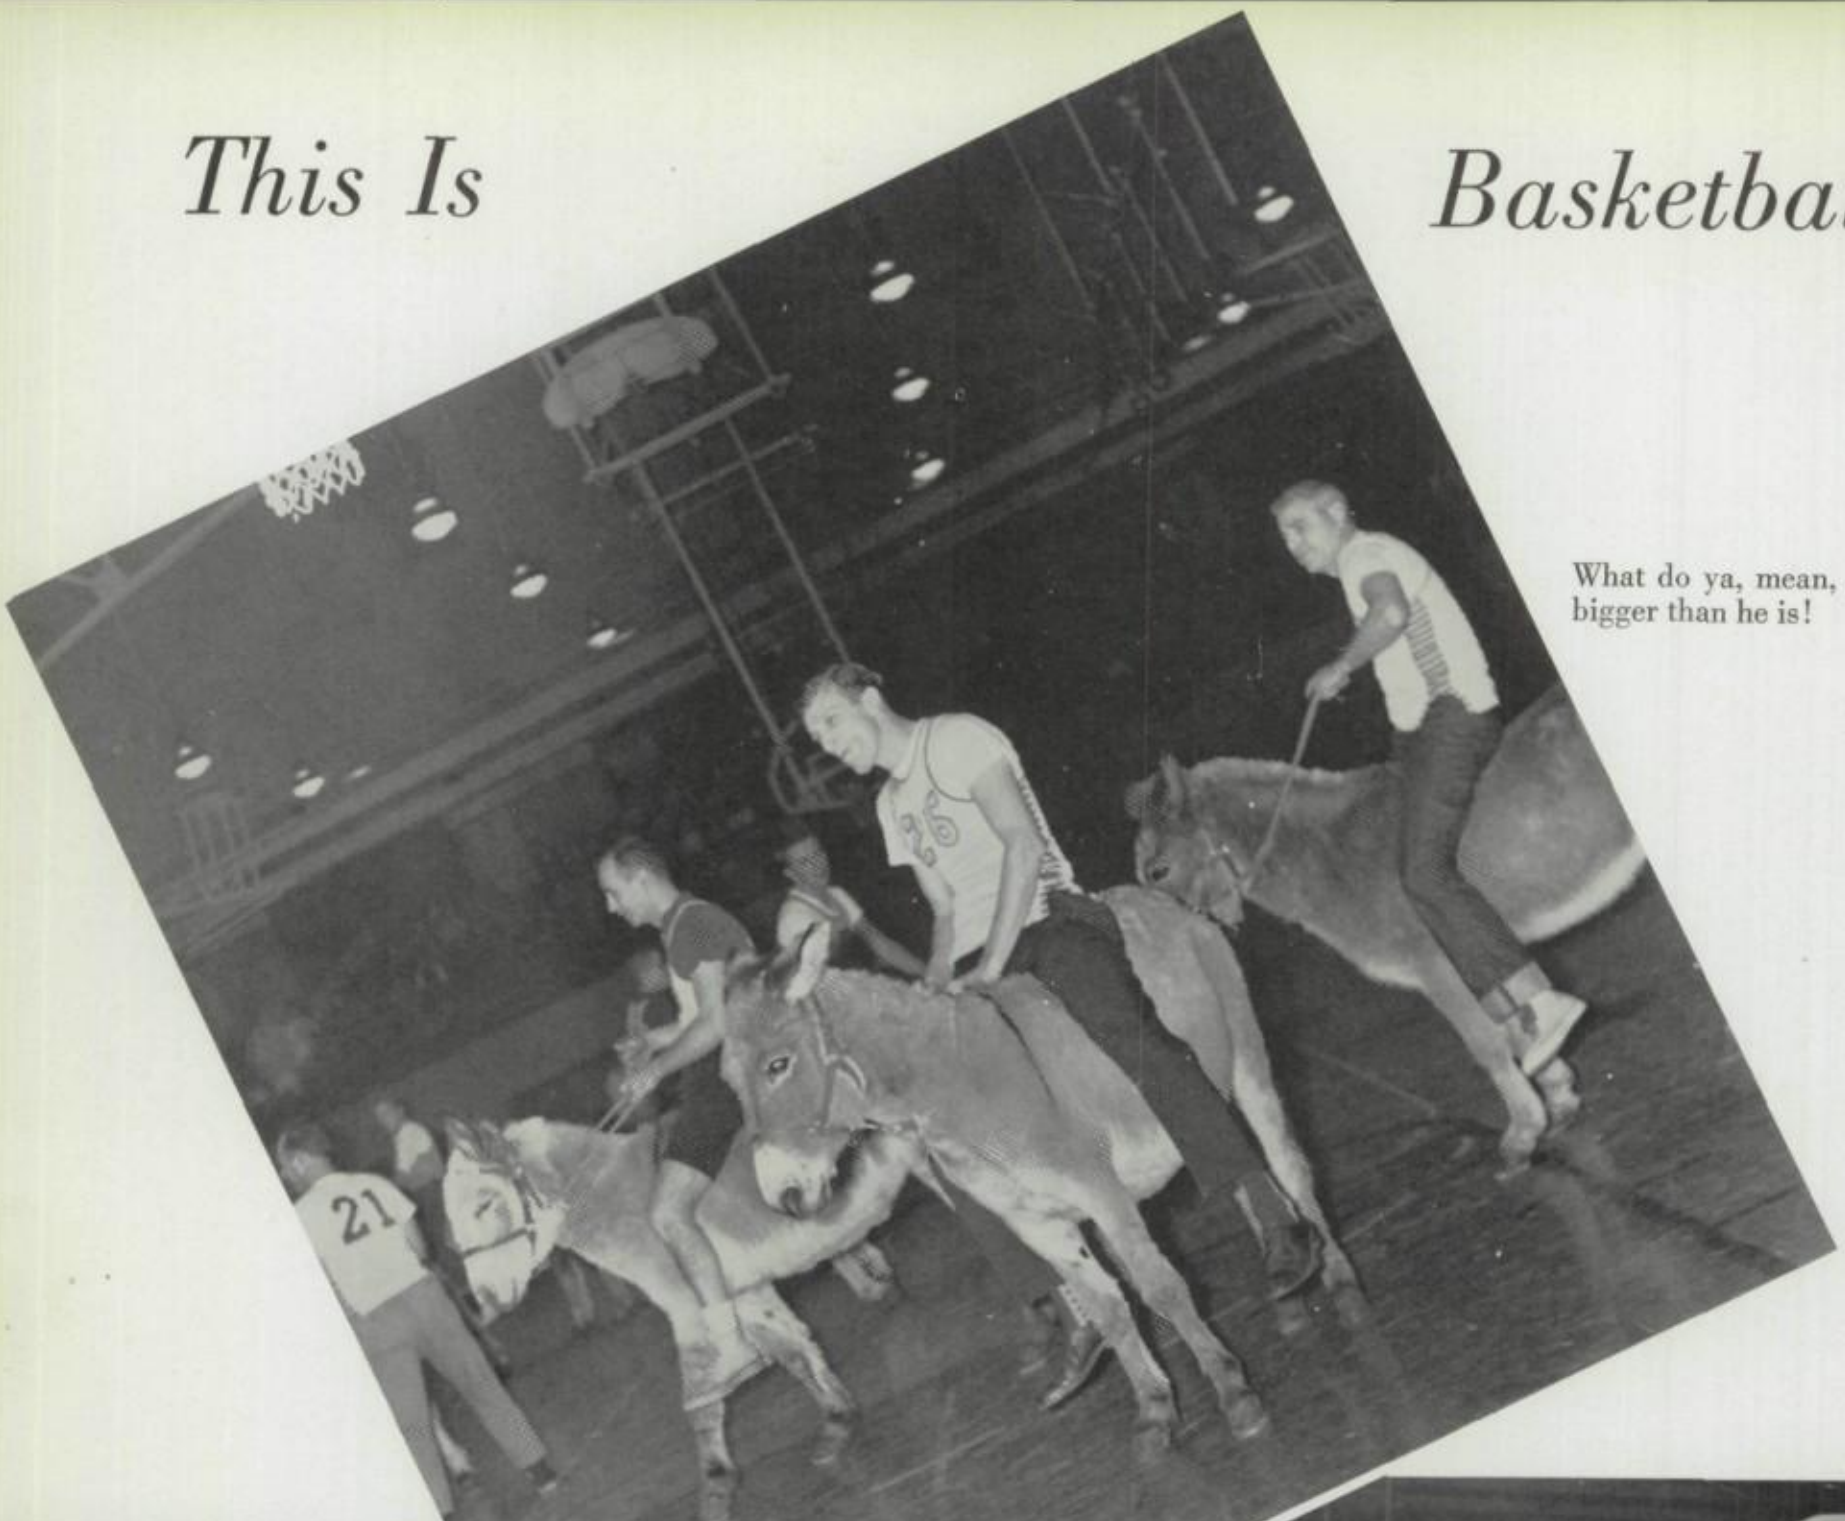
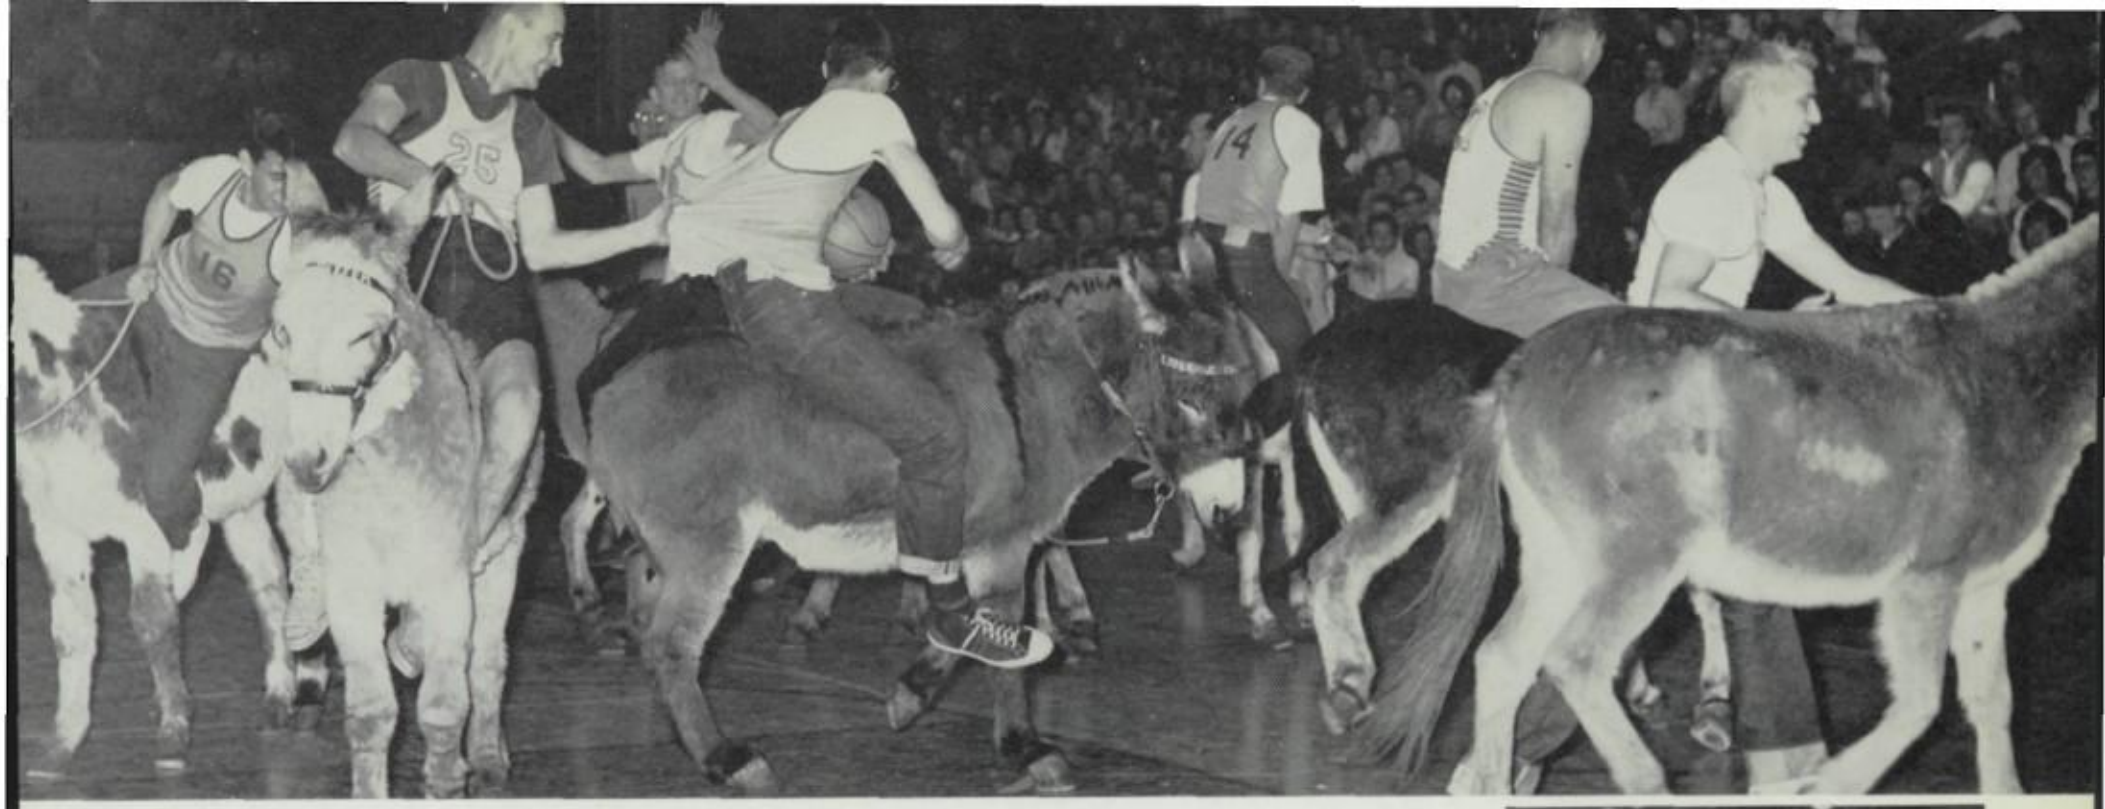
This Is Basketball??



What do ya, mean, I am not bigger than he is!

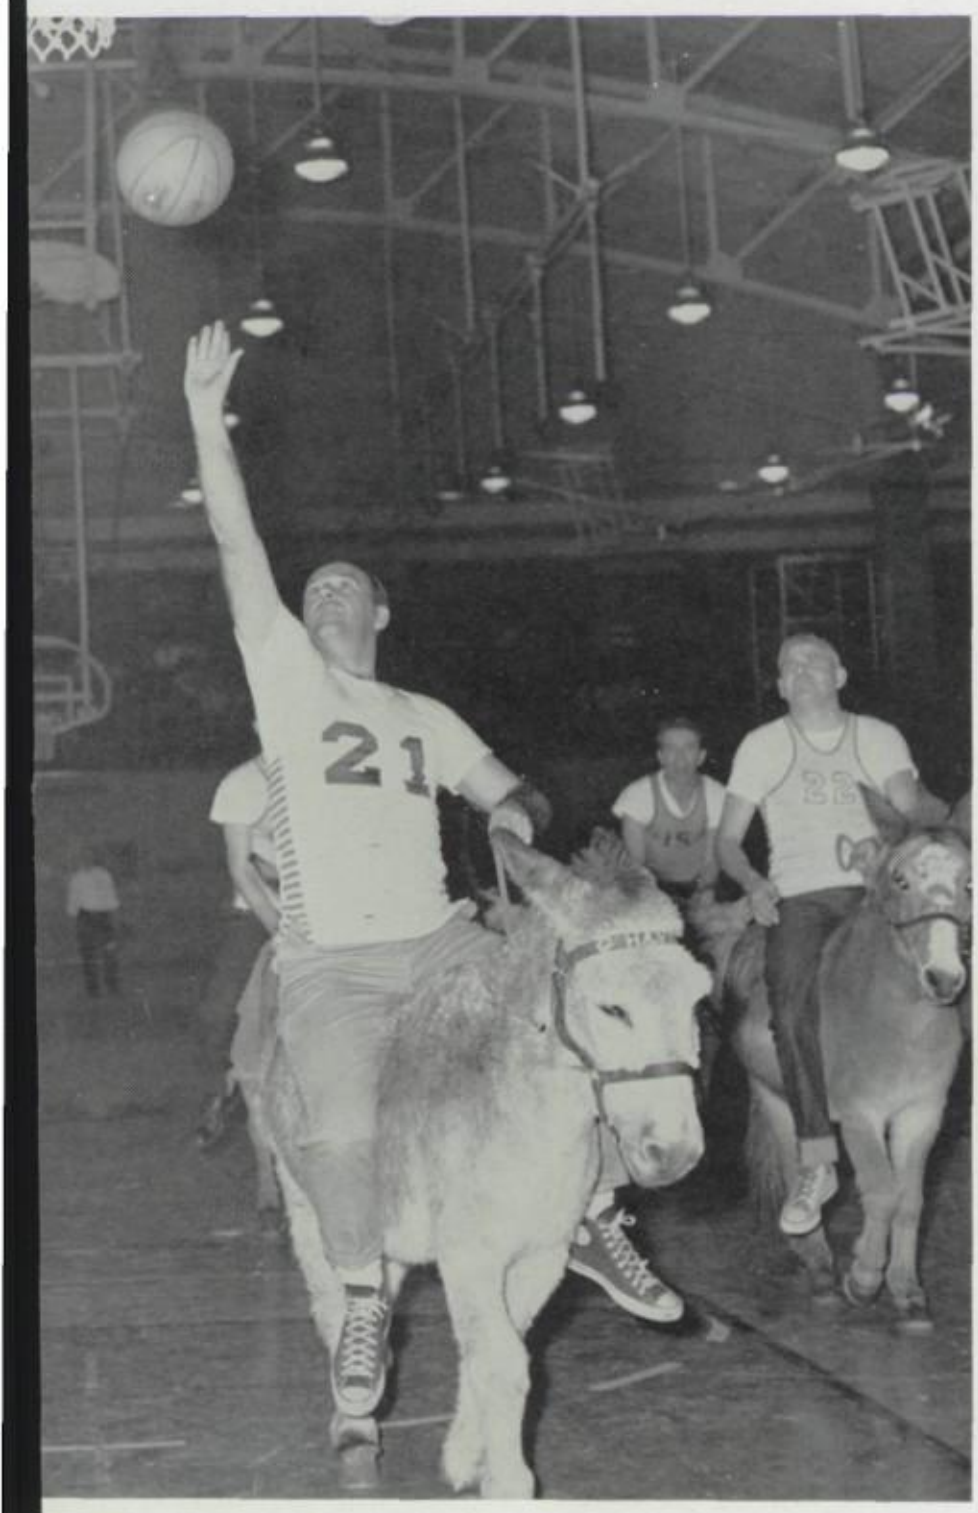
Hey, someone stole my saddle!

Please move a little closer to the basket!



Donkey: Will you please stop kicking my ribs?
Mr. McCarter: Come on, let's go . . . hey, you're cheatin'.

About face!!!



Whoa! Put it in reverse!
Donkey: Hah, I'm in drive and that is where I'm staying.

Council Acts in Best Interest of Student Body

This year's Student Council has been working to make their organization vital to the school and to represent the student body in all situations. The Council has been striving to become more active in school and community affairs.

The Student Council has headed projects such as the "Peanuts for Polio" Drive, the foreign exchange program which is represented by our foreign student, Ragnar Magnus, and the development of better dress in school through the "dress right program."

Our Student Council exchanged many ideas on our dress code, our homecoming activities, and our community projects at the 24th annual district student council convention held at JT for the first time this year.

The Student Council published a school directory, the Black Book, this year as a service to the school. The project remembered by all students is Homecoming. The pep assembly, at which the Queen was named, the Queen's parade at the game, and the annual homecoming dance were all planned by the Student Council members.

The faculty advisor of the Council is Guy Haines, Dean of Boys.

One of the main projects sponsored by the Student Council was the "Peanuts for Polio" Drive. Students and boxes of peanuts filled the halls to capacity at the hour designated for the peanut distribution to homeroom representatives. Student Council President Skip Paulson and Vice-President Clyde Andrews are pictured distributing peanuts to Jack Biro.

Spotlighted Features

Nancy Ariagno was hostess at this poster party where Judy Bock, Mary Ann Blackmer, Bonnie Shingler, Bea Zinser, and Nancy worked on homecoming posters for queen and court candidates.

The celebrated season of J.T. Homecoming is always a favorite with students and old grads alike. The 1960 Homecoming activities opened with a pep rally staged in the gym on Thursday night to usher in the festive week-end. The rally was highlighted by the announcement of the Homecoming Queen and her Court attendants. At the Social mixer following the pep rally, newly designated Queen Eve Buell and the members of her Court, Bobby Bates, Janis FitzHenry, Rita Wolf, and Linda Bolling, received the congratulations and well wishes of the guests. The appearance of the Royal party was the feature of the mixer which was attended by several hundred celebrating students.

The festivities continued on Friday with the judging of colorfully decorated floats, and the early evening parade to Memorial Stadium for the football game. The Steelmen, inspired by the occasion, presented the partisan crowd with a 13-12 victory over the Lockport Porters.

Homecoming for 1960 drew to an appropriate conclusion with the traditional dance, titled "Moments to Remember." Now, we have only those moments from the Homecoming Season to remember —and they are pleasant ones.

BOBBY BATES expresses delight upon being announced Senior Homecoming Court attendant as Lona Ficarella, Karen Chaney, Ginny Bussey, Eve Buell, Nancy Ariagno, Anne Low, Janet Tozzi, Sally Yahnke, and Karen Wills applaud her.

EVE BUELL swells with emotion as Student Council President Skip Paulson declares her the Homecoming Queen for 1960. Surrounding the Queen-elect and sharing in her happiness are the other Queen candidates.

J-Hi-Jinks

LINDA BOLLING trembles with excitement when she is pronounced Freshman Homecoming Court attendant for 1960. Diana Gordon, Joan Skikas, and Cheryl Spice are the other Freshman candidates.

Mike Hathway, Jeff Roots, Ron Swinford, Doug Ziech, and Vic Corsetti enter the contest for Homecoming Queen. Good luck, gals, ugh, fellows, I mean!

RITA WOLF expresses surprise as she receives the title of Sophomore Homecoming Court attendant. The other candidates are Mary Ann Foote, Joyce Heinlin, Susan Hicks, Joan Hynd, Sylvia Lundin, Ginnie Meier, and Sharon Thorpe.

Enlivens Pep Rally

What a "built"! What delicate form! What cra-a-azy legs! This is a queen candidate?

The reaction of being proclaimed Junior Homecoming Court attendant for 1960 reduces JANIS FITZHENRY to tears. Looking on are Diane Diemer, Rose Affrunti, Sue Kurtyak, Karen Mancini, and Bonnie Nieland.

Skip, please, quickly, which one of these "charmers" will be our Homecoming Queen? Silence prevails as the audience awaits the decision; but, actually, no decision was made in this mock contest. Yet, it will always be remembered that J.T. had a "bevy of beauties" in this "election."

Fabulous Floats, Gorgeous Girls

Queen Eve's

Early Saturday evening finds Eve Buell, still unbelieving she is the reigning Homecoming queen, preparing to attend the dance where she will be the guest of honor. Her escort for the evening is Bob Musser, whose gentlemanliness and masculinity is a proper compliment to the queen's feminine beauty. At the dance during the intermission Queen Eve delivered a brief statement in which she expressed appreciation for her selection as queen, congratulated the football team on their rousing victory the night before, and gave credit to everyone who lent his talents and time to making Homecoming of 1960 the fabulous success that it was!

The Homecoming Queen's Mother, Mrs. Carlos Buell, adds the "crowning touch" as Eve prepares for the Homecoming dance.

Queen Eve is greeted at the door of her home as her date, Bob Musser, calls for her to escort the Queen to the Homecoming dance.

Numerous couples attended the Homecoming Dance and enjoyed the music of Bill Pappas and his orchestra.

Enchanted Evening

The dance was held in the combined J.T. gymnasiums, and was sponsored by the Student Council.

What better way to affix the Seal to a beautifully packaged Homecoming Weekend. Queen Eve is the recipient of a goodnight Kiss from her escort, Bob Musser.

Mr. Robert Mallary, Director
"Heaven Can Wait"

Miss Peggy Mahoney, Ass't Director
"Heaven Can Wait"

"Heaven Can Wait," a play written by Harry Segall, was chosen as the senior class play for this year. Although the play was sponsored by the class of 1961, try-outs were open to underclassmen as well as seniors. The play was presented October 28 and 29, 1960.

The actors take the curtain calls, but much credit should be given to those who work very hard behind the curtains. They are responsible for the scenery, scene changes, properties, lighting, sound, costumes, publicity, make-up, playbill, and tickets. Bob Ploch was the stage manager with Mr. Bryon Chrisman as advisor.

The plot of the play centers around Joe Pendleton, a prize fighting pilot, who falls asleep at the controls of his plane. He finds himself in a terrifying position when his airplane loses control and goes hurtling earthward. A heavenly messenger rescues him from the agony of the plane crash and takes him to heaven. It isn't long, however, before it is discovered that a "slight" error has been made, and Joe isn't "due" to arrive at heaven for sixty years. The heavenly messenger feels terribly sorry about the whole affair and agrees to take Joe back to earth. When they return to earth, they discover that Max Levene, Joe's fight manager, cremated Joe's body. Finding a new "home" for his soul is now of prime importance to Joe. From this the theme of the comedy-fantasy, "Heaven Can Wait," begins.

Long days and longer nights were spent at rehearsal in an effort to perfect each act, each scene in the production of the Senior Class Play. Compensation for body weariness, stupified minds, and frayed nerves was the full measure of success enjoyed by the play.

Mr. Robert Howell, director of the freshman and sophomore choruses, and Mr. Roy Johnson get together at the piano and discuss a musical arrangement that involves combining the choral groups for a concert selection.

Mr. Roy Johnson, the new director of the Choral Department, manages some time from a busy schedule to "relax" at his desk in order to make selections of musical arrangements for the choral work sessions.

Vocal Music Has Inception

Examining the ilustrations for the suggested costuming for the operetta, "Finian's Rainbow," are Mr. Johnson and four freshman glee club members, Morris Maitland, Fred Dillon, Ed Richards, and Ron Aeschleman.

Believing that one cannot get a start as a singer too young at JT, Mr. Johnson works diligently with freshman boys who compose the Glee Club.

Is All Theirs — and Yours

The Sophomore Chorus is one of the more active musical groups at JT. Included on the work agenda for the Chorus was the Veterans' Day Assembly, the annual Christmas Talent Show, and "Songtime 1961," the group's spring concert. Social activities took a measure of the Sophomore Chorus time with "Femmes Fancy," a dance to which the entire school is invited, Homecoming participation with a float entered in the parade which won second place, and a successful candidate for the Queen's Court in the person of Rita Wolf, and the annual picnic at the end of the year which rounded out a full social season. The Chorus is directed by Mr. Robert Howell.

General Choir, JT's music organization consisting of sophomore, junior, and senior boys and junior and senior girls is under the direction of Mr. Roy Johnson, the choir director. In addition to a new choral director, the music department has also annexed a beautiful new choral room and office. The choir had a very busy year beginning with participation in the Armistice Day Assembly. Following the Armistice Day program preparation for the annual "Christmas Vespers" got underway. The choir, combined with A Cappella and Boys' Glee Club, provided enjoyable listening for the Christmas program. With spring, came the excitement of operetta practice and contest work. This year's operetta was "Finian's Rainbow" and proved to be an artistic success. The choir also participated in the J.T.H.S. Spring Band Concert.

Socially, the choir was quite active, with a picnic in the fall, a Christmas Party, and the annual trip to the Indiana sand dunes. This year was one that will be remembered for a long time by many of the choir students.

Row One: John Vieceli, Karen Skikas.
Row Two: Jim Elens, Mary Ann Ross.

This first school year of a new decade proved to be a full and beneficial one for the A Cappella Choir. The social season opened with a picnic early in the fall at Pilcher Park. A lengthy list of performances began with the annual Veteran's Day program in the gym. Work began immediately on Christmas music after this initial public performance. Just prior to the holidays, Christmas Vespers was presented featuring soloists and the Madrigals. The Christmas party held in the gym closed the year 1960.

Early in February Bev Morse, Gayle Bachman, Clyde Andrews, Jim Arnold and Ken Palmer represented JT at the All-State Choir Clinic conducted on the campus of the University of Illinois. By early spring the organization was engrossed in work preparing for the District and State Choir contests. This involved individual soloists in addition to the singing group. Stage musicals performed by the choir were "Brigadoon" and the operetta, "Finian's Rainbow." Replacing Mr. Paul Lester, former choir director of long standing at JT, was Mr. Roy Johnson, formerly of the LaSalle-Peru High School.

SECTION LEADERS: Row One: Clyde Andrews, Laroux Minor, Karen Chizmark, Karen Wills. Row Two: Don Eken, Ted Boydston, Ken Palmer.

Music Is Their Game
National Is Their Fame
JT Orchestra Is the Name

The Orchestra furthers the musical education of students with theoretical and instrumental experiences and at the same time contributes a form of the finest entertainment for everyone served by J.T. in the Joliet area.

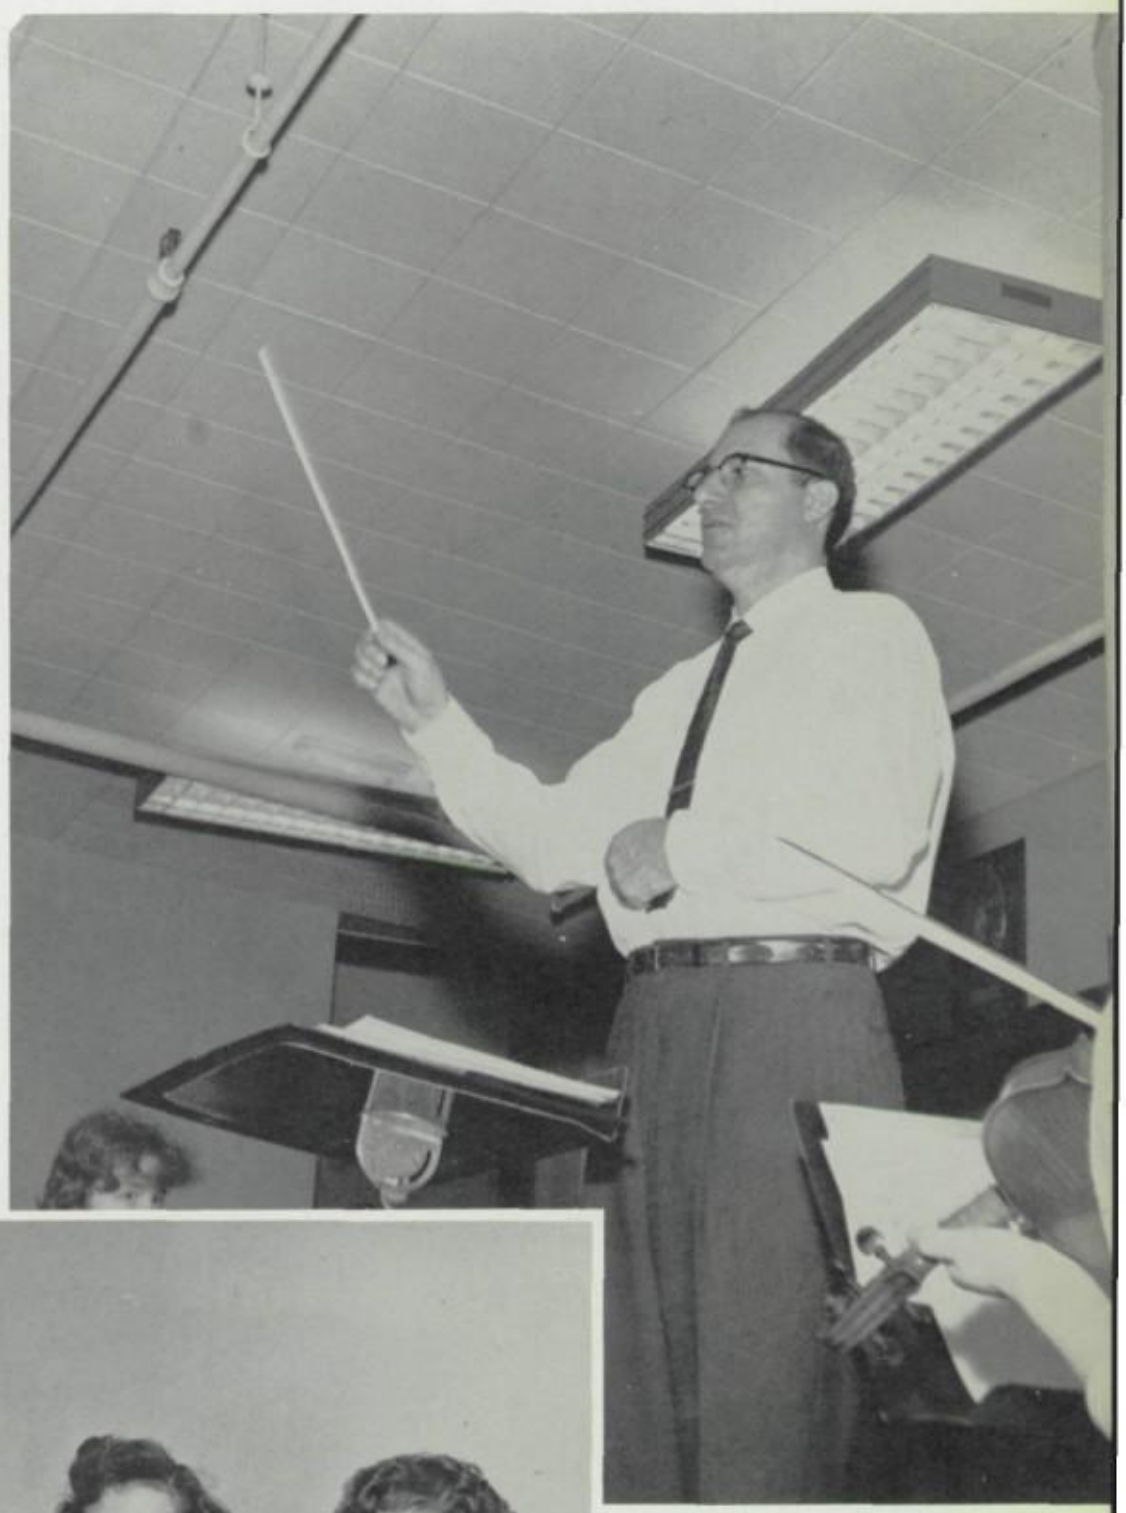
Admittance to this musical organization is gained by passing an audition given by the director. Seating arrangements in the sections are determined by auditions and try-outs.

Highlights of orchestra activities are the two concerts given in the fall and spring of the year. Senior soloists featured in the concerts this year were Karen Chaney, Marilyn Lemke, Lenora Norem, and Judy Mansholt.

Other musical activities of the orchestra included participation in District and State contests in which representatives of the orchestra this year received superior honors, participation in the All-State orchestra festival in which the best student musicians are selected to play, accompaniment for the Christmas Vespers, and the operetta.

The orchestra members lead an active social life as a reward for the diligent work on concerts and contests with parties, hayrack rides, and road trips, such as the one taken to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in the spring of 1960. The social highlight of the year is the Orchestra Dinner Dance at which the new orchestra officers are announced. This year's dance was the second to be presented by the orchestra and was held at the Joliet Country Club.

Mr. Peter Labella is the conductor of the orchestra and the director of all its activities.



Mr. Peter Labella takes charge of orchestra rehearsal as he wields his baton in a manner of spirited determination.

Discussing the production of the next issue of the "Offbeat," the orchestra's newspaper, are members of the publications staff. The staff members are, seated, l. to r.: Jean Szepalak, Kathy Emmett, Charlotte Sak, and Marilyn Levy. Standing, l. to r., are Sue Myers, Judy Mansholt, and Sonja McAllister.

The Joliet Township High School Band was organized in 1912. Equipment included twelve second-hand instruments and nail kegs for chairs. The first home the band knew was a manual training room at the school. From this humble beginning, the band gradually rose to international prominence.

The late A. R. McAllister was the founder and director of the organization and held that post for thirty-two years until his death in September, 1944. He was also founder and president of the National School Band Association. Because he was a tremendous factor in the organization and helped spread the school band movement, Mr. McAllister is remembered by music educators of the entire country as a "Band Pioneer." Under his direction, the band won the National Championship three years in succession—in 1926, 1927, and 1928—and for this accomplishment was given permanent possession of the National Championship Trophy.

Mr. McAllister took his band on concert tours covering the United States from New York to California and from Mexico to Canada. In 1936, the band appeared for a week's engagement at Radio City Music Hall in New York, and, in 1940, on the California trip, traveled five thousand miles and played twenty-one concerts.

The band has played for every group of departing servicemen from Joliet for both World Wars and is continuing this service. Mr. McAllister was especially proud of this record, and, to him, it was one of the band's most important achievements. The State Headquarters of both the Veterans of Foreign Wars and The American Legion have honored the band and its director with official commendation certificates.

The band has played for every President except President Harry Truman, since the administration of President Woodrow Wilson, and on January 20, 1953, received one of the greatest honors of its long and distinguished history when it led the Illinois section of President Eisenhower's inaugural parade. Its 40th Anniversary Year was highlighted by winning the First Place Trophy for juvenile bands, and receiving the highest number of points of any musical group in the parade.

During the school year 1944-45, after the death of the beloved band-master and before the appointment of the new permanent director, the band was led by Alex Zimmerman.

In July, 1945, Bruce H. Houseknecht assumed the direction of the organization and in 1946 was appointed head of the Department of Music at the Joliet Township High School and the Junior College. Now in his sixteenth year as conductor of the group, Mr. Houseknecht, a native of Williamsport, Pa., received his Bachelor of Science degree from the Pennsylvania State University in 1938, and his Master of Arts degree from the Eastman School of Music of the University of Rochester in 1943. He has had published a number of band arrangements and choral octavos. Mr. Houseknecht received the "Mac" bandmaster award during halftime intermission of the nationally telecast Blue-Gray football game held at Montgomery, Ala., December 31, 1960. The award was given to the five leading band directors in the United States in honor of the late A. R. McAllister. In order to be eligible for an award, a director must have maintained an outstanding organization with a national reputation for superior performance over a period of years. Every school music director in America is eligible to be considered for the award.

In 1958, Mr. Marshall Erickson, a graduate of the University of Illinois, joined the music department as director of the Joliet Township High School Cadet Band. He has appeared as guest conductor or adjudicator in many of the fifty states. In 1960-61, he was president of the Illinois Music Educators Association.

The activities of the band for the 1960-61 school year included the winter concert, January 15; the spring concert, March 26; the District Contest, April 15; and the State Contest, May 6. The Home Show, which is sponsored by the Band Parents, was held in early April. The Blue-Gold Contest was presented in May. A trip to New York was taken May 12, 13, and 14. The Annual Dinner Dance was held early in June to conclude the band's activities for the year.

ROTC Passes in Review

Delegating responsibilities to the cadets, teaching the cadets self-discipline, training the cadets to work as a unit, and participating in school ceremonies, JT's Reserve Officers Training Corps unit is helping boys to become men. Under the supervision and leadership of Captain R. D. Maguire, U. S. Army, with the assistance of Sergeants Campbell and Hodyke and Mrs. Ehart, and with five sponsors to give moral support, RO cadets are developing into responsible, adult citizens.

Practicing for their share in community functions by participating in school-related activities, the cadets, yearly, compete in the Homecoming queen and float contests, take part in school programs, sponsor an after-game dance, provide marksmen for their high-scoring rifle team, produce a drill team, and sponsor the annual Military Ball. Already in community activities, they assist the Salvation Army in its Christmas Food Basket Drive and help out other worthwhile projects, such as the Civil Defense.

The ROTC does much more than dress one hundred plus boys in uniforms every Wednesday. The RO moves!

Tri-Hi-Y "— — Creates Good Citizenship, Maintains Christian Ideals, Extends Service— — "

Through an organization called Tri-Hi-Y, girls learn to meet and solve problems which confront their community. By helping the less fortunate with Christmas and Easter food baskets, they practice good citizenship.

Tri-Hi-Y is made up of twelve individual clubs. These clubs try to include in their program service projects. For these humanitarian deeds, they are rewarded with a social each month. Tri-Hi-Y's "World of Fun" is enthusiastically received by all who attend. A variety of entertainment is provided for the entire evening. The finale of this event is a dance where the King and Queen for the "World of Fun" are announced.

Another social event which all the girls look forward to for months, and remember for years, is the annual Spring Dance. Held in the spring of the year, the dance gives the girls a chance to select the escort of their choice!

A Tri-Hi-Y member is provided with many fond memories. Some of these are sad and touching while others are happy and frivolous. All of these memories, however, give her pride in her community, her club, and herself.

Decorous Social Activity Program Accented

It's not all work and strain, sometimes it's a "World of Fun"!

One of the more pleasant obligations of the newly elected officers for their individual clubs is participating in the installation ceremonies. The girls being installed here are vice-presidents.

Selected to represent their individual clubs at the annual Youth and Government Conference held at Springfield each spring at which they conduct a mock legislative program are, seated, l. to r.: Bob Norris, Kathie Richards, and Marlene Pagliei. Standing, l. to r.: Joyce Williamson, Judy Akin, Jean Shank, Frances Stewart, Judy Lindner, Janet Fosler, Sandy Jensen, and Anne Low.

By 1975 the term "beatnik" will be long forgotten, but in 1960 the beatniks were prevalent as is in evidence here in which club members participated in a skit called "Like Cinderella."

Hi-Y Clubs Serve In School and Community

The purpose of the Hi-Y clubs is to "Create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character." The four planks of the Hi-Y program are: clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship, and clean living.

There are four Hi-Y clubs representing the four classes, which meet each Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A. Features of the meetings include speakers, films, discussions, business activity, and forums. Special events include the "World of Fun," service projects semi-annually, after game dances, social activities, officers training, installation of officers, induction ceremony for new members, and Pre-Easter breakfast functions.

A great deal of the success, socially and intellectually, of the newly reorganized Hi-Y program is traceable to Mr. Paul Schaeffer, who acts in the capacity of Boys' Director. The advisory committee are also to be congratulated for the success of this organization.

True Purposes of School in National

Guest speaker at the mid-winter National Honor Society initiation ceremony on Jan. 11, was Dr. William C. French, the new superintendent of JT. Dr. French addressed and welcomed 46 new members into the honorary group.

Gathered informally before a National Honor Society initiation with their sponsors Miss Frenk and Mr. Zaida are these senior members who were all initiated last year as juniors. Included in the first membership of the class of 1961 are: Ann Allen, Nancy Ariagno, Bobby Bates, Bob Benson, Sue Bowyer, Frank Buehler, Eve Buell, Karen Chaney, Bunny Cohen, Jan DiVecchio, Minerva Evans, Jim Findlay, Jim Fornango, Mary Ann Gosack, John Gregg, Sue Grinton, Sheryl Grohne, Carolyn Harris, Barb Hegstad, Dave Hicks, Dave Jaeger, Janice Johnson, Nancy Johnson, Kay Kennedy, Larry Kepner, Evelyn King, Dave Krohn, Rita Legan, Marilyn Lemke, Marilyn Levy, Anne Low, Kay Lundeen, Sue Meyer, Sharon Milliken, Sue Myers, Janess Nelson, Jane Nicholson, Lenora Norem, Jim Patterson, Bea Papesh, Skip Paulson, Pat Prynn, Virginia Quirk, Scott Rackham, Marsha Schwartz, Marion Sing, Donna Svazich, Jim Tyler, Karen Wills, Barb Wojtowicz, Sally Yahnke, Lynn Yeoman.

Honor Society

The solemn NHS initiation was characterized by an impressive candle-lighting ceremony. The highlight of the ceremony is the affixation of the gold membership pin which represents a valued lifetime keepsake. At right, Nancy Ariagno is pinning Bonnie Shingler, one of 46 honor students who were awarded the coveted gold pin.

Service is a phase of school activities upon which membership into National Honor Society is based. NHS members Mary Ann Blackmer and Sue Bowyer are pictured in their role as "service" guides for parents who attended JT's "Back to School" night on November 9, 1960.

Below, Evelyn King is shown giving mathematical aid to Sue Watson, a sophomore. The tutoring service offered by NHS provides a means whereby absentee students are helped with makeup work, slower students are given added assistance, and students with admitted weaknesses in subject areas are aided.

The National Honor Society, since its formation in 1921, has served to recognize the achievements of top students in high schools throughout the nation. Though most emphasis is placed upon scholarship, membership is also based upon ratings in areas of leadership, character, and service. The size of any chapter is limited to fifteen percent of the graduating class.

The emblem of the N.H.S. is the Keystone upon which is superimposed an image of a flaming torch. The keystone symbolizes the importance of the role these people have played in the "educational arch" of their school. The flaming torch is symbolic of the leadership and guidance received and expected from them. Though proudly worn, the emblem marks the wearer as a person from whom continued excellence and effort is expected.

Essentially this is an honorary society. The local group however, performs services to the school and the student body through such projects as tutoring, guides for major events, and book exchange management. Wearers of the key thus accept the honor and the responsibility of membership in the N.H.S.

The Chess Club is designed to provide an opportunity for chess enthusiasts to match wits with each other and improve their game and to provide for those who sincerely desire to learn to play the game. The organization, known as Chess Knights, meets after school once a week. During the year matches are held with teams of neighboring schools. Membership is open to any student who plays chess or wants to play chess. This year's officers are Jim McKeown, president; Raymond Gro..., secretary; Ken Carlson, treasurer. The faculty sponsor is Mrs. Little.

Boosters Are JT's Flag Wavers

To boost all sponsored activities within the school, to promote a healthy spirit of competition, sportsmanship, and good will among the student body; and to honor the achievements of JT's students, is the operating code of the Joliet Township High School Student Booster Club.

A general meeting of the club is held each Thursday with an open attendance to all JT students and faculty members. The meetings and activities of the club are organized by a group of four officers and two sponsors, each of which are responsible for assigned duties.

In the past, the Booster Club has sponsored buses to many out-of-town basketball and football games and wrestling meets. The organization has aided homecoming activities and has also collected money to help injured and needy students.

In addition, the JT Student Booster Club wishes to maintain the welfare of the students and to contribute to the fine reputation of the school through the student body.

National Forensic League

Speaking to members of the NFL is Evelyn King, president of the organization.

The National Forensic League is a national honorary speech organization for high school students. J.T.H.S. has had a chapter since 1959.

Students are admitted to membership after having participated in inter-school speech and debate activities and by having spoken before adult audiences in the school and community.

As students accumulate speech experience, they are awarded degrees of advanced standing which are honors in themselves and which may qualify the speakers for college scholarships.

The League sponsors a speech and debate tournament each year at the state level and a national tournament each summer at the national level.

Officers of the local chapter are Evelyn King, president; Burrus Carnahan, vice-president; and, Sandra Jensen, secretary.

Debate, at JT, was reactivated during the school year, 1957-58, after a long interval of inactivity. Since that time it has grown from an activity involving about six students to one involving thirty. During the first year the squad took part in five tournaments; this year it engaged in twelve inter-school tournaments, some of which have registered as many as sixty schools and 600 debaters.

One of the highlights of the debate year included the television tournament over Channel 2, WBBM-TV. Debaters Evelyn King and Sandy Jensen won their first debate on December 24, 1960, claiming victory over Niles Township High School. They met and lost to New Trier in their second broadcast on March 4. Pictured at left are varsity debaters Sandy Jensen and Evelyn King with Donna Gott, representing the J-Hi Journal, as they appeared on a TV broadcast.

JT's Publication Family Continues to Grow

JUDY CLAUSSEN

SUZANNE CONSTANT
Editor, "The Blue and Gold"

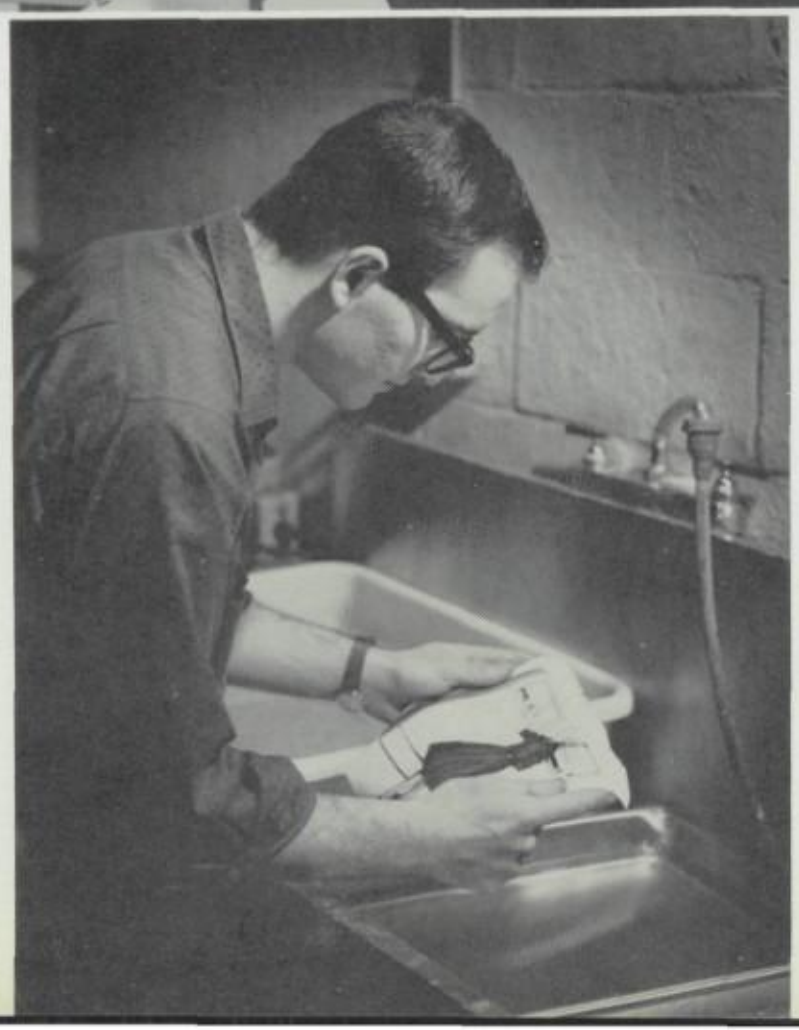
Comparative newcomers to the JT publications' family are the "Blue and Gold," a literary magazine, and the JT News Bureau, an agency established to provide the professional and community press with information regarding general noteworthy activity at Joliet Township High School.

The first issue of the "Blue and Gold" was published in the spring of 1960. The primary purpose of the magazine is to serve as a medium by which students at JT are provided a suitable outlet for deserving literary effort. The authors of short stories, poems, and essays of adjudged superior quality deserve to be published. Not only because of the personal efforts and accomplishments of the writers, but also because of the benefits derived by others from reading.

The JT News Bureau prepares releases in the form of news, feature stories and pictures for publications including the Joliet Herald-News; the Joliet Spectator; Illinois State and Northern Illinois School Press Association newspapers, the High School Journalist and the High School Editor, respectively; and, the neighborhood section of the Chicago Tribune. This year the JT News Bureau was credited with releasing over two hundred stories and pictures to the professional press.

Established and in operation for the first time this year is the JT Publications' Council. Composed of the editors of the four school publication units, the Council's primary responsibility is to make policy decisions regarding the operation of the publications program. Pictured in session are Mr. Denison, Director of JT Publications; Suzanne Constant, Editor, "Blue and Gold"; Judy Claussen, Director, JT News Bureau; Larry Harris, Editor, J-Hi Journal; and, Nancy Ariagno, Editor, The J of 1961.

Photographer Extraordinaire



If ever a yearbook evolved principally through the efforts extended by one individual that person is Suren Seron, a Joliet Junior College student who does free-lance photography. This book reflects appropriately in part the artistic photographic status that has been attained by a young man who was willing to subordinate virtually all other typically teen-age interests in favor of his photography activities. True, there were others who contributed to the photography cause, and to them we are grateful. However, they were serving under obligation. There seems to be no rational explanation of Suren's diligent and unselfish efforts in behalf of this yearbook other than a compelling desire to contribute something creative in an understandable art form to be included in a lasting medium such as this book. It's of personal pride to Suren that yearbook production can result in something good and worthwhile. There was undoubtedly personal satisfaction derived from a continuous stimulating creative flow which is obvious in any series of his pictures. Perhaps this publication would have been nothing more than just another yearbook had it not been for the work of Suren Seron.

Prime Episode Chroniclers

Being FACULTY EDITOR has its advantages—just ask DONNA ZAHM.

It is the purpose of a yearbook to record for posterity the events and activities of the school population over a twelve month period. In order to do so, it becomes necessary, however, to adapt the production schedule to coincide with publication calendar dates rather than those of the regular school year. The heart and soul of seven student editors and numerous assistants have gone into making this publication what it is. It will compare favorably with any high school yearbook in the nation. As the years wear on, the value of this yearbook will increase, and, in time, will become invaluable to its owner. In many instances, this book will prove to be the only link between a person's life as an adult and the memory-laden, care-free school years.

"What we've got around here is too many Chiefs and not enough Indians," says NANCY ARIAGNO, the really Big Chief.

The utilization of a bank vault is not unfamiliar to JEAN FOX, BUSINESS MANAGER.

ACADEMICALLY speaking, ANNE LOW finds the sight of an empty classroom a welcome relief.

During "That Wonderful Year"

With this yearbook, a new era in annual production has dawned at JT. For the first time in the long history of the school, the yearbook is styled after the collegiate format. A new series has been initiated with this issue in which future staffs will perpetuate the new size, style, and will effect variations of the revolutionary cover design.

This just about washes-up JIM HAMRIN, our august SPORTS EDITOR.

Fiery School Spirit Boosters

As defined by Webster, a cheerleader is "one who calls for and directs organized cheering." This is exactly what JT's cheerleaders try to do. Varsity cheerleaders, ordinarily from the junior and senior classes, and the freshman and sophomore cheerleaders work in teams of six girls; however, for the last two years the use of boy cheerleaders has been utilized, adding two more to the varsity squad. Tryouts for each squad are held separately. Freshmen and sophomores hold theirs soon after school begins in September to give freshmen an opportunity to try out. The Varsity Squad is chosen late in the spring so practices can be held during the summer to enable the new cheerleaders to be ready for the first football game. One of the requirements is that the girls maintain a C average. New cheerleaders are chosen by a faculty committee and by the present cheerleaders according to ability, neatness, and magnitude of voice.

Miss Antoniewitz, cheerleading sponsor, not only helps to choose new cheerleaders, but serves as an advisor and the squads consult her with any problems that might arise.

Typical of the frosh.-soph. cheerleaders is the crew in a yell finale pose. Looking fresh as daisies after working a basketball game are Suzi Hicks, Gigi Budzinski, June Fischer, Sue Allen, Barb Huey, and Laurie Brown.

BEST YEAR SINCE 1953

The Steelman didn't win a championship this year, but Coach Klootwyk and his able assistants, Howie Scheidt and Frank Miller, surely gave the Joliet Township football fans an exciting football team to cheer for.

The Steelmen finished the season with a victorious record of 6 wins, 2 defeats, and 1 tie. The South Suburban League with a 4-2-1 record.

Following is a brief summary of each game the Steelmen played.

J.T. 25, Catholic High 13

This was the first time in six years that the Steelmen came out on top of the Hilltoppers. Tom Rickhoff put on a one man show by scoring three touchdowns and throwing a touchdown pass to Sammy Miller for another score. Donel White won the annual Caterpillar Sportsmanship Award for J.T.

J.T. 20, West Aurora 0

J.T. racked up a total of 252 yards rushing and 24 yards passing. West Aurora was stopped cold only moving the ball 115 yards all night. Bob Boban scored two touchdowns in an outstanding performance. The highlight of the game came in the second quarter when slot back Donel White raced around the end for a 55 yard touchdown.

J.T. 7, Thornton 7

Thornton dominated the game in the first half. J.T. struck back in the third quarter when halfback Bob Martin hit pay dirt on a jaunt of 2 yards. Bob Meyer then tied the score with his place kick.

J.T. 12, Bloom 18

Bob Boban paced Joliet with 86 yards rushing. Junior Tom Rickhoff picked up 18 yards in 5 carries and used them to their fullest advantage by scoring two touchdowns.

J.T. 14, Kankakee 0

Joliet Steelmen won their first S.S.L. football game. Junior end, Sammy Miller, caught a Rickhoff pass and scampered 28 yards for the first of the game. Bob Martin raced around the end for 44 yards to the Kays' 1 yard line. After a quarterback sneak failed, Martin plunged into the end zone for J.T. final touchdown. Bob Meyer added both of the extra points.

J.T. 13, Lockport 12
(Homecoming Game)

Behind great defensive play and the arm of Bob Musser, the Steelmen defeated the Porters. Bob Boban and Bob Martin paced J.T.'s running attack. Boban gained 67 yards in 19 carries and 1 touchdown, with Martin carrying the ball 10 times and picked up 54 yards and 1 touchdown.

J.T. 33, Thronridge 0

Behind great team effort and all around good playing, the Steelmen beat Thronridge, a new school in the S.S.L., 33-0. However, the first string tackles, Bob Baitenger and Neal MacDonald were injured.

J.T. 0, Argo 25

The Steelmen lost their South Suburban title chances when they were defeated by the Argo Cornstarchers 25-0, at Argo.

J.T. 19, Blue Island 14

Tom Rickhoff passed for 34 yards to Sammy Miller for J.T.'s final touchdown. Laster of Blue Island was a thorn in J.T.'s side for he scored both Blue Island touchdowns.

The first year in the South Suburban League found the Steelmen a total of eight men on the all conference team. Bob Boban, the Steelmen's fullback and leading ground gainer with 564 yards gained, won a position on the first offensive team. Barry Peters, J.T.'s offensive and defensive end, won a position on the all conference team. Greg Wintersteen was awarded a position for his brilliant performance as linebacker. Travis Randolph, a transfer from Waukegan, won an all conference spot for his offensive play at the guard position. Ron Johnston, center, gained a position for his persistent playing at center. Bob Baitinger, Joliet's "big boy" won a position on the offensive team. Lou Gale, linebacker, won an honorable mention and Tom Rickhoff, quarterback, also received an honorable recommendation.

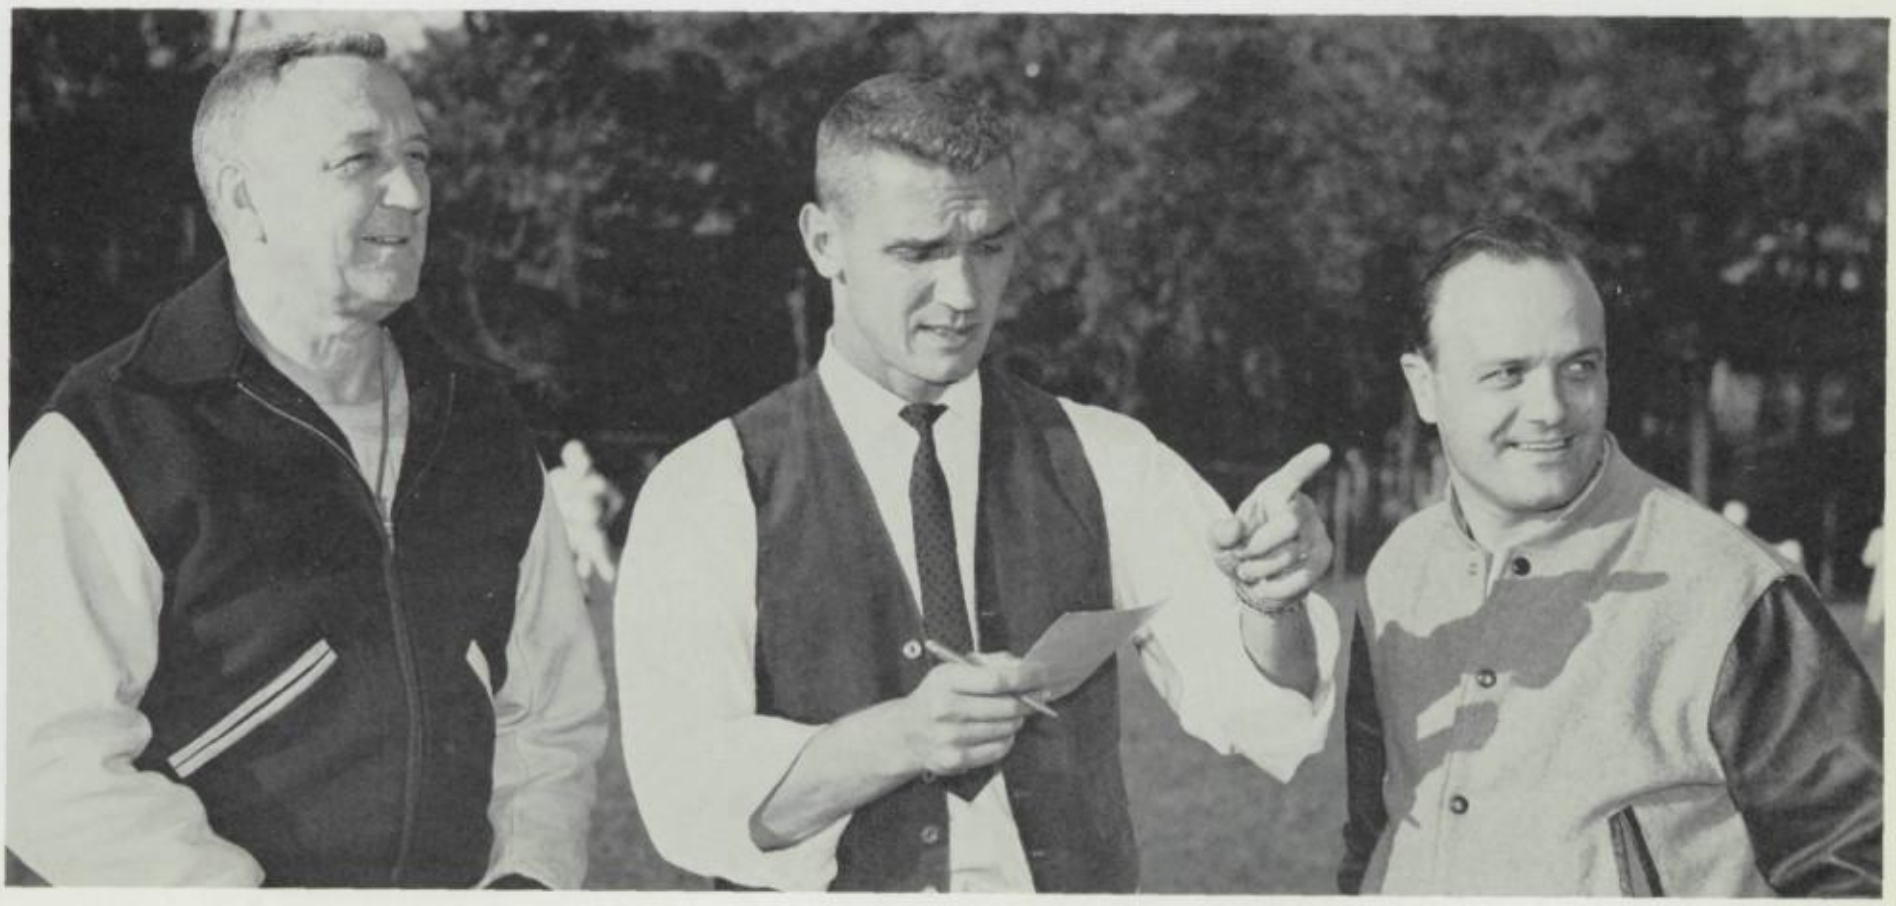
The 1960 Freshman football team was sparked by four fine potential quarterbacks: Dave Clark, Jim Miller, Bill Sukakis and Jim Randolph. The fullback spot was a constant duel between Charles Winters and Gale Bucciarelli. The halfback spots were usually well covered by Elgin Thompson and Russ Thoutlan. This particular squad was a constant threat around ends and in the air.

The outstanding guard of the year was Chuck Schroder who led the plays around end on offense and as a linebacker showed a rugged spirit for would be tacklers. Nick Cookas proved to be one of the best potential ends that the squad has seen in many a year. His defensive play made the ends a tough task for many an opponent.

This year's Freshman football team has all the elements for developing into a fine varsity squad, as stated by coach Mitchell. Size, speed and skill were blended with desire to give the boys a successful season.



Continuous counsel between coaches is standard operation procedure in the production of a winning football team. Head freshman football coach Bob Mitchell, center, explains the next phase of practice as assistant coaches Russ Leksell and Al Meyer agree to the routine.

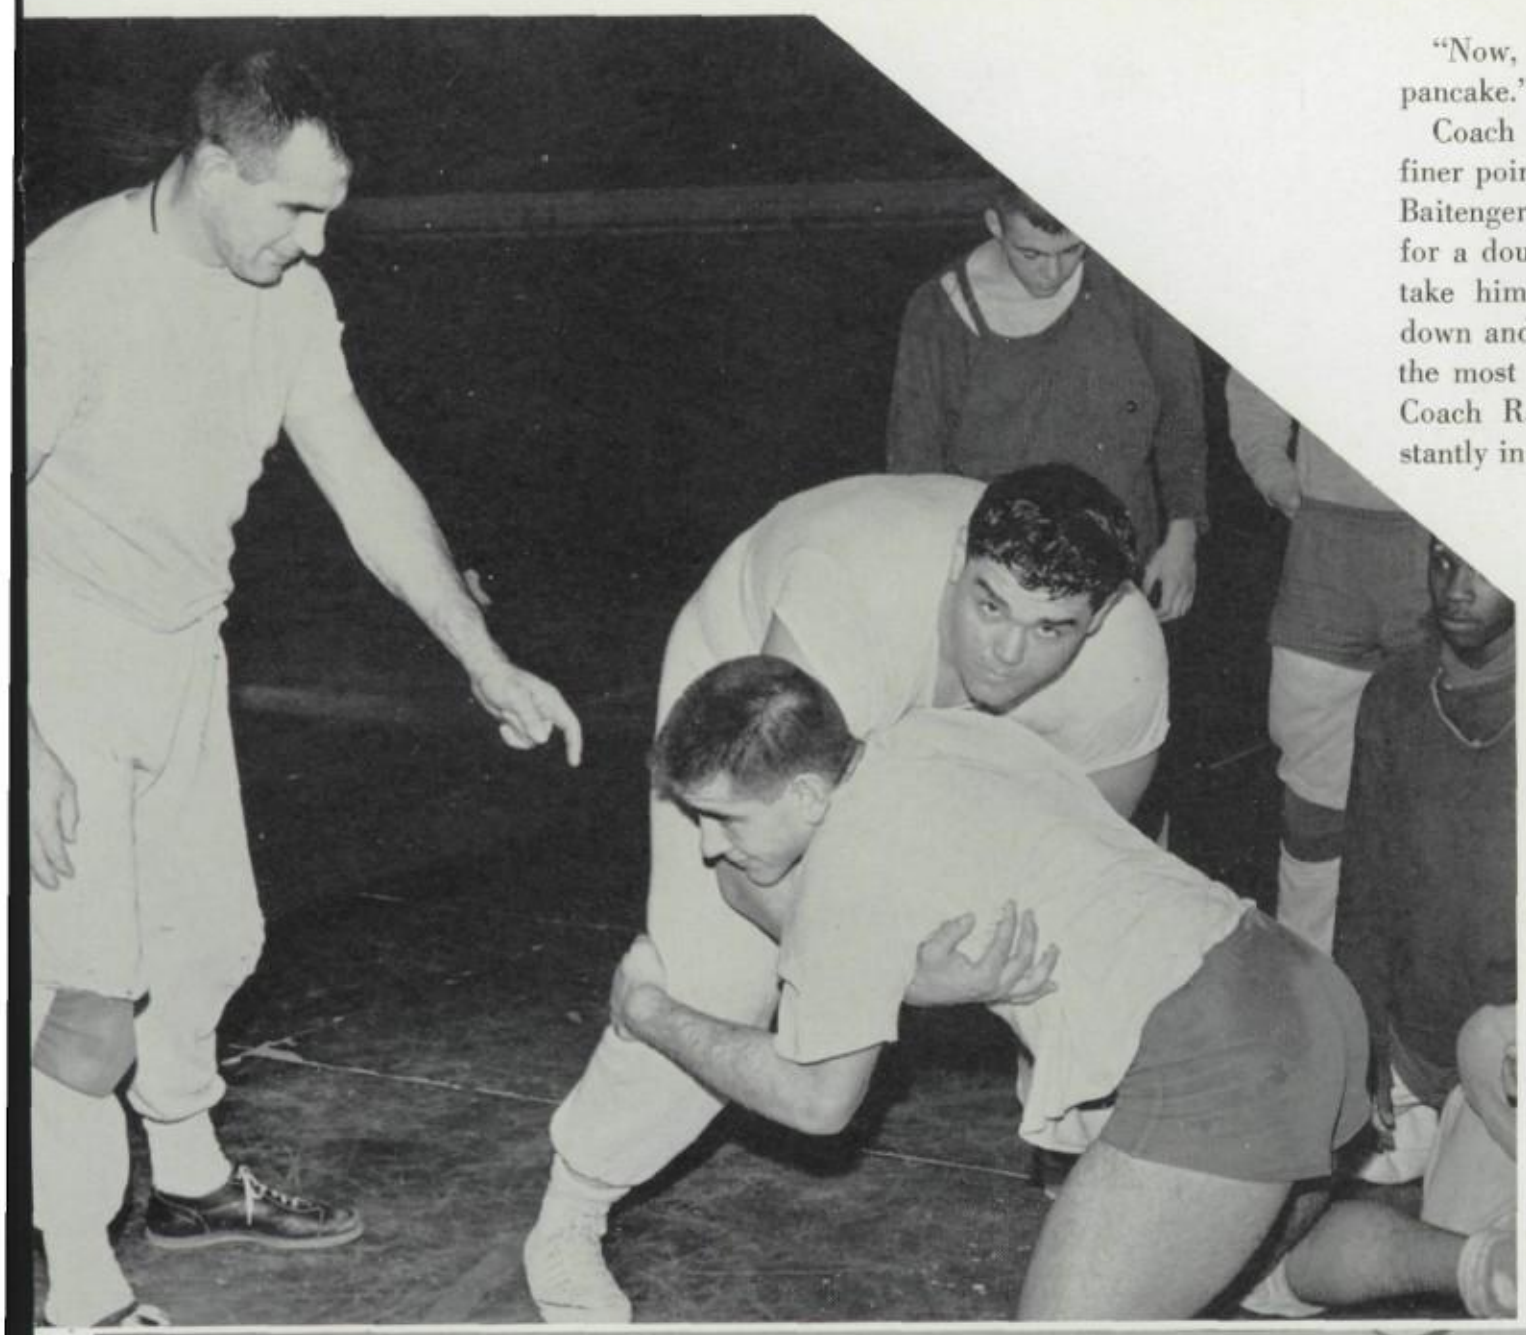
Wrestling Fever Grips JT



"Now, Bob, straighten out your leg, and pancake."

Coach Ray Klootwyk is explaining the finer points of escaping a takedown to Bob Baitenger. Neal MacDonald has gone in for a double leg dive, and is attempting to take him down. Although, an opponent down and trying not to be taken down are the most basic of wrestling fundamentals; Coach Ray Klootwyk stresses them constantly in practice.

Demonstration of new holds and fundamentals are a basic part of the wrestling practice each night. Besides a half hour of instruction, and a half hour of "free" wrestling, the boys spend 15 minutes before practice exercising and running the track.

STEELMIT MATMEN POST 13-3 RECORD

The 1960-61 version of the sophomore wrestling squad has ended the grappling season with an excellent 13-3 record. This gives the Steelmites an overall six year record of 78 victories against a surprising total of 8 losses. The matches Joliet lost could have gone either way, but the Steelmites fell short to Blue Island, Lockport and Evergreen Park.

The most outstanding individual performance of the season was given by Russ Ferguson. Ferguson racked up an undefeated record—12 victories against no setbacks. Also turning in championship performances were Bruce Howk; 11-1, Russ Ghilian; 13-1, Joe Gavin; 11-2, Manuel Tomayo; 11-2, Mike Marconi; 12-3, Neil Lucas, 11-6, and Rich Gilbert; 10-5.

Helping the winning record along also, were Ray Bersano, Dennis Lotz, Chuck Winters, Bill White, Gale Buccarelli, and Walter Allen.

The highest point total the Steelmites registered was in their 51-3 slaughter of Morris. Joliet also had a field day against Oswego when they crushed them 44-10. In contrast to the matches mentioned earlier, JT's closest match was against Evergreen Park when Joliet fell 22-21

Coach Parker's Prodigies Pace Hoopsters

Mental struggles of a basketball coach are graphically recorded during the heat of court action. Apprehensiveness is a typical expression.

As the pressure mounts, disbelief is registered by head coach Ken Parker as a Steeler shot fails. Even the assistant coach, Tony Gutierriz, gets into the act with a show of amazement.

After 42 years in the Big 8 conference, our first year in the South Suburban Conference offered some interesting situations. The South Suburban League will create more intense rivalries as a result of the closeness of the cities, whose teams are involved.

The 1960-1961 basketball team was composed of underclassmen, 3 Juniors and 2 Sophomores. The team finished in 5th place with a 7-7 record.

One of the highlights of the season was the repeated trouncing rendered to crosstown rival Joliet Catholic High School on three occasions.

With seven members of the tournament team slated to return next year in addition to boys up from the Junior Varsity and sophomore squads, the basketball prospects seem much better for next year.

A basketball finally goes through the hoop and the immediate reaction of coach Parker is to make the sign to chalk up the score. His boys worked too hard for the basket for it not to count.

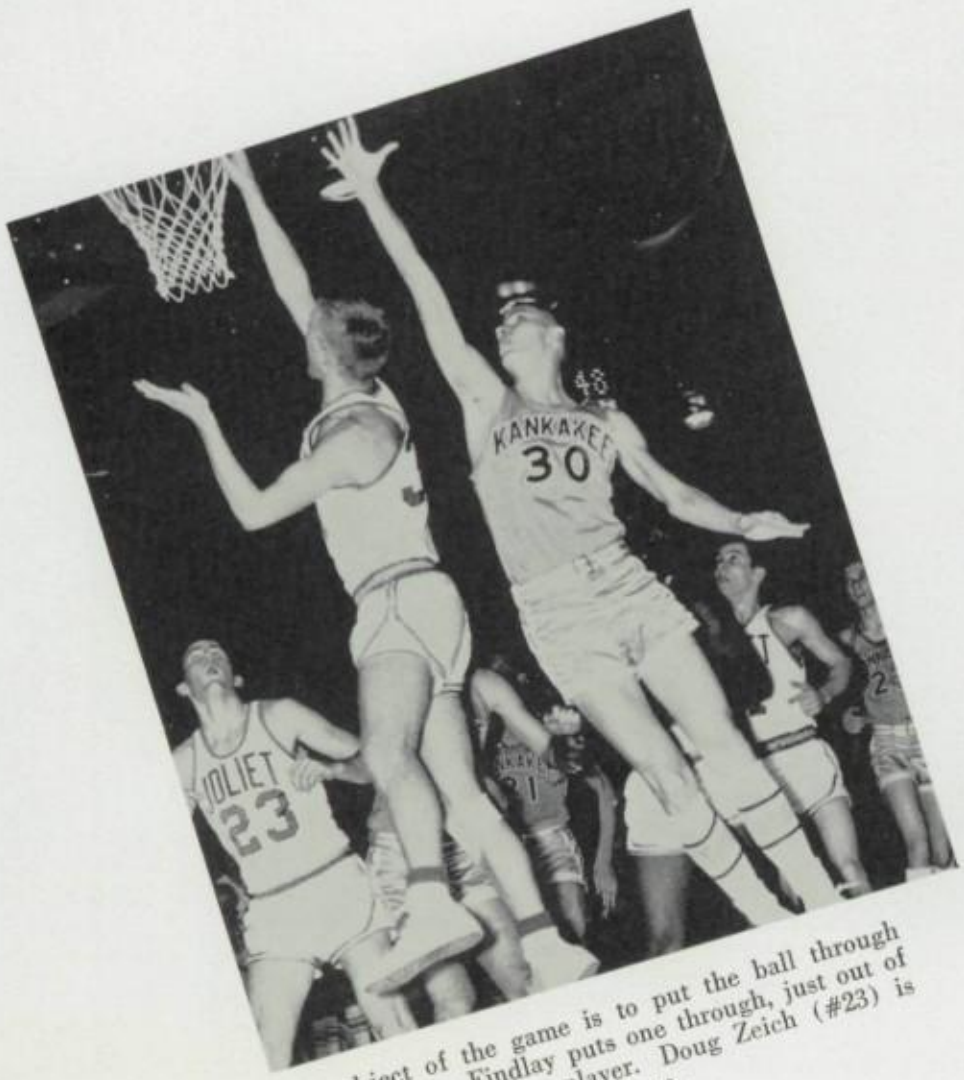
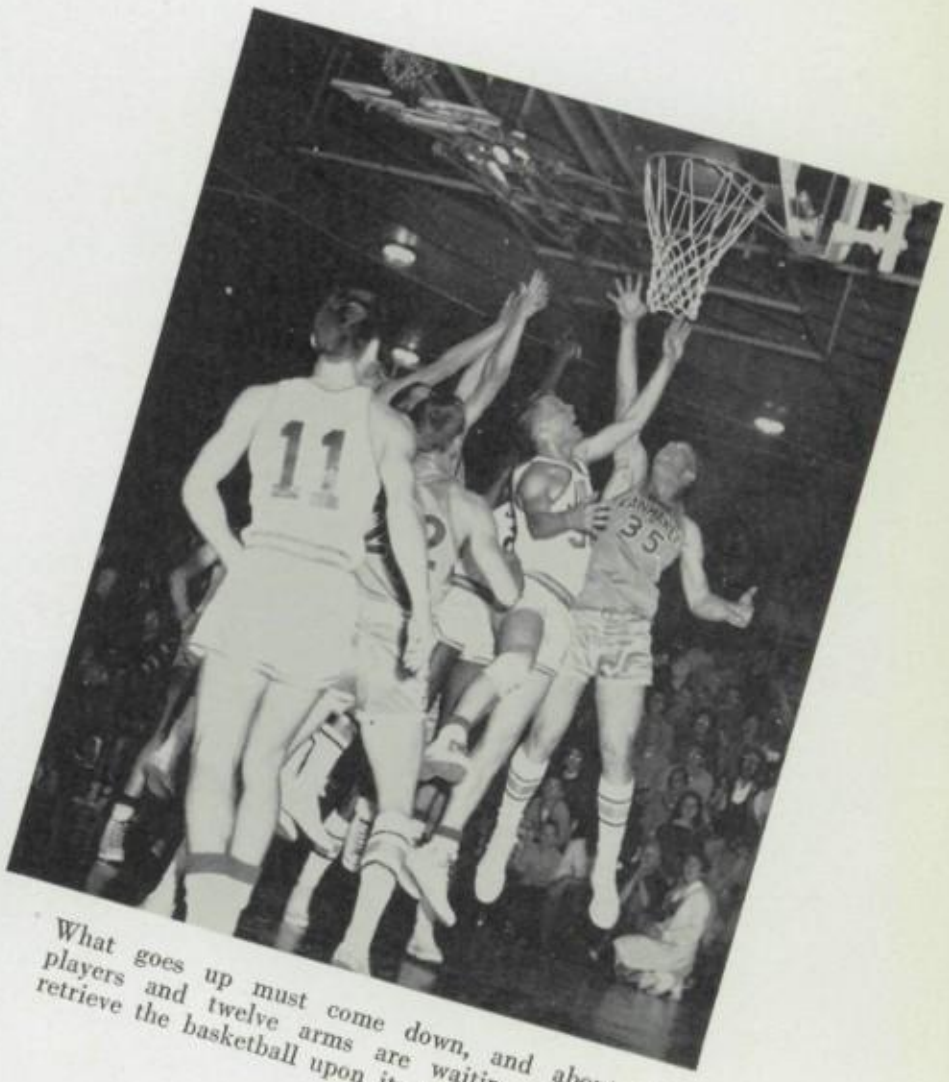
to Preserve a Winning Season

No, the game is not "London Bridges Falling Down"—it's still basketball, and Bill Wehrspann (#14) is about to give the opposition a quick lesson in how it's played. Doug Zeich (#23) is there to back him up.



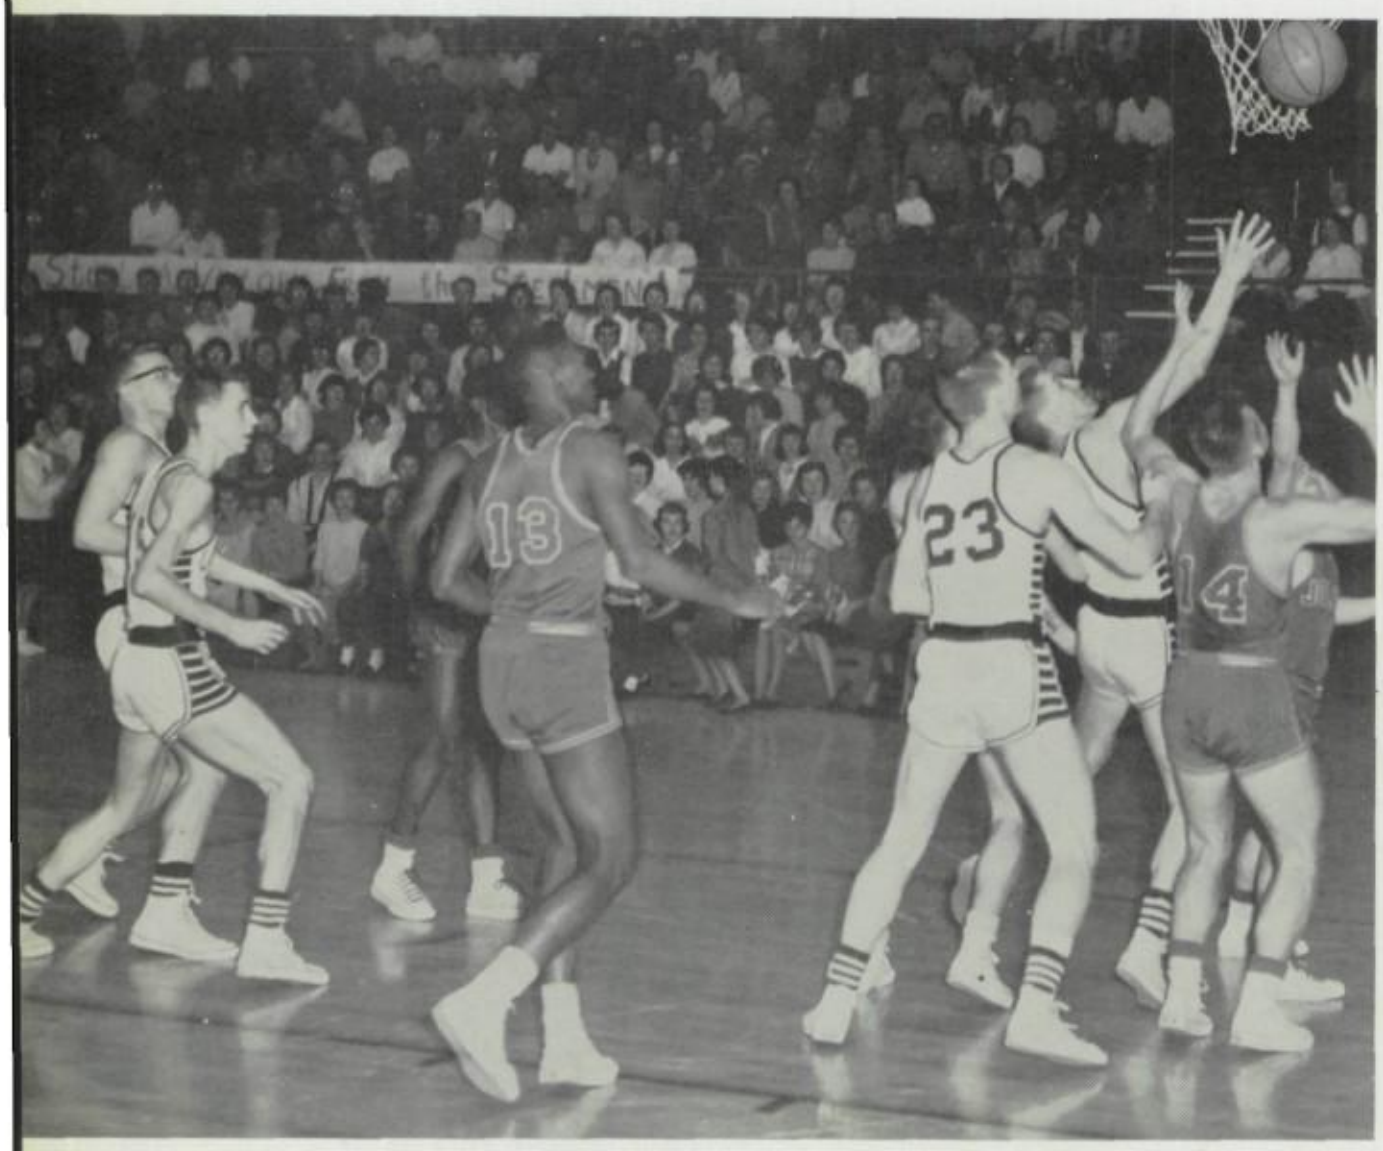
The object of the game is to put the ball through the hoop. Jim Findlay puts one through, just out of reach of a Kankakee player. Doug Zeich (#23) is standing by, though, just in case.



What goes up must come down, and about six players and twelve arms are waiting eagerly to retrieve the basketball upon its return trip to earth.

Balanced Scoring Attack

All through the season coach Ken Parker has used these boys as his first six. They are, left to right: Doug Zeich, Willie Boyce, Jim Findlay, Coach Ken Parker, Bill Wehrspann, Sammy Miller, and Donavan Hettich.



Arms and legs seem prominent in this picture. Bill Wehrspann (#14) and Donavan Hettich next to him are ready to out jump the Lockport players. Willie Boyce (#13) and Sammy Miller directly behind him are rushing in to help their teammates.

Girls' Athletic Association

Before the school doors opened at J.T., the Girls' Athletic Association was on its way for a most successful year. To introduce G.A.A. to the freshmen, the board and cabinet gathered on Freshman Day and gave exhibitions in sports, dance, and singing to the enthusiastic newcomers. After the membership drive in September, a picnic was held for the girls to meet the officers, and have a good time.

Fall began to show its colors with Homecoming. G.A.A. entered a float, which took third place honors. Preparations for the annual G.A.A. dance "Hawaii on a Moonbeam" occupied the time of the girls in Oct.-Nov. Tropical romance, complete with leis, moonbeams, and grass skirts, filled the J.T. gyms for the girl-ask-boy dance, Nov. 18.

A Christmas Party was a huge success and was highlighted with a visit from Santa and his companions. A playday with St. Francis proved to be one of the most enjoyable events of the year. A father-daughter banquet, initiation, handing out of awards, and an after-game dance completed the semester.

Fall Fun

Plans for the G.A.A. Dance are being made by Karen Skikas, General Chairman; and her assistants, Sue Holl, and Joyce Heinlen.

Joyce, Sue, and Terry seem to be doing more eating than working. The dance was a success, as well as the poster party.

Basket?? Lenore Norem watches Sue Holl's try. Both girls are Sportheads.

Here come the reindeer, led by Vera Thalrose. A pleasant surprise at the Christmas Party.

"Santa, I want a T-Bird," pleads Rae Shepley, while Santa's little helper, Lois Litherland listens in.

The officers serve with solemn smiles at initiation.

Winter Whirl

Hi-Ho Joycey, don't let her shoot.

Dad's Night was a roaring success. The dads were pretty good, too.

Warming the bench are the girls who went out for baseball in the 1960-61 season.

Choosing up sides are Sue Meyer and Rae Shepley, sportheads.

Golf is a popular sport around school. Peg Mahoney and Char Sack give a few tips on how it's done.

It's never too cold for golf!!!

Anyone for tennis??? One just can't keep those sporty G.A.A. girls down, even if it is only 29 degrees outside.

Lucia Cinderson and Sue Altieri—sportheads for individual sports.

The cold weather doesn't dampen the girls' spirits nor their appetites.

Presidents, Nan and Char, along with Vice-Presidents Penny and Pat discuss plans for a playday, to be held with St. Francis. Char and Pat, visitors from S.F.A., seemed very impressed with the G.A.A. facilities.

Spring Swing

The mothers and daughters gathered together after the tea for a peek of this year's scrapbook.

Slide away your cares, girls!!!

As spring slid away, the girls looked back on all the wonderful times they had together. They'll never forget the picnic in February with 20 degree weather. They kept warm with all their fond memories.

SENIOR CLASSES

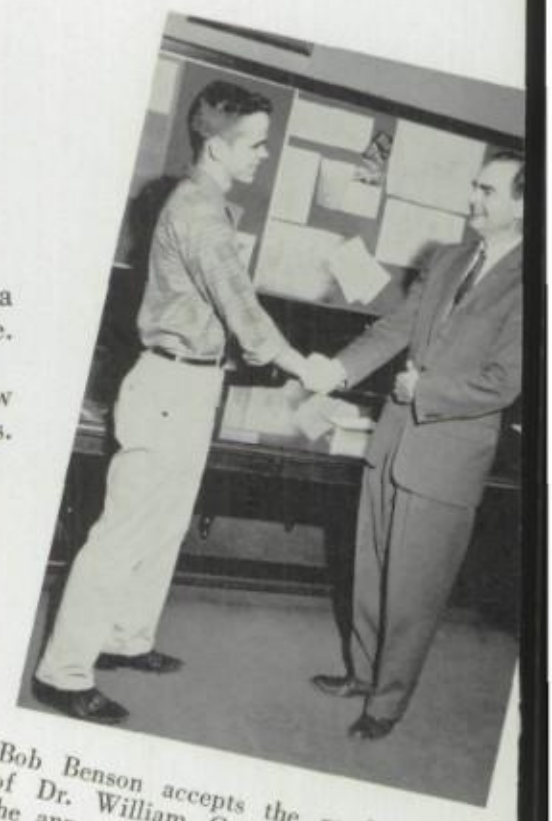
PERSONALITIES

Moments after six of JT's outstanding students were announced for Senior Class honors and graduation commitments by Dr. William C. French, the group posed with the superintendent following his personal congratulations. Graduating seniors and their honors are, left to right: Tom Richoff, Junior Class President; Robert Benson, Commencement Speaker; Fannie Keys, Ivy Bearer; Dr. French; Sam Barcelona, Senior Class President; Scott Rackham, Class Orator; and Neal MacDonald, Class Poet.

Receiving personal congratulations from Dr. William C. French is Neal MacDonald, designated as Senior Class Poet.

There is a moment,
Part of an hour,
At the end of a day,
During the pageant of fall,
When the world stands still.
The land hovers on the brink of trading a green cloak for a brown one.
Only Indian Summer restrains it.
The half naked trees, embarrassed, bow slightly to the winds.

Neal MacDonald



Bob Benson accepts the good wishes of Dr. William C. French following the announcement that Bob would address his class as the Commencement Speaker.

We know the past. We know its successes; we know its failures. Let's not repeat it. Ours is to improve upon it.

J. Scott Rackham

A warm handshake is offered to Scott Rackham by Dr. William C. French upon his being named Senior Class Orator.

Perhaps we don't realize it, but we are the adults and leaders of the future. We will be the examples for the coming generations; we will form the moral, religious, and legal postulates for this country of ours. Will we have the strength of mind and will to stand up to this test?

Bob Benson

Miss "J" of 1961

JANET TOZZI, Miss "J" of 1961

Janet Tozzi, "Miss J of 1961," the sweetheart of the yearbook, was selected from an original field of approximately 350 senior girls. An array of 12 finalists were chosen by Mr. James Stephenson, Joliet photographer, and Miss Judy Stephenson of Lockport, the University of Illinois Homecoming Queen of 1960. The final designation of "Miss J" was made by Mr. Perry Como, internationally known entertainer, who chose Miss Tozzi on the basis of beauty and photogenic qualities.

High Schoolers Integrate With J.J.C.

Jane Nicholson and Skip Paulson, high school seniors enrolled in college courses, transact a bit of business with Vernetta Comer of the Junior College office.

JT has many advantages and foremost among them is the opportunity for seniors to be able to take courses in connection with the Joliet Junior College.

These seniors must have maintained a 4.0 academic average as high school students. They are permitted to take college courses with which to round out their high school program. If students are taking two or more subjects, they are entitled to privileges accorded JJC students.

Credit earned in college courses may then be applied to their junior college academic program following official enrollment in the college division.

High school seniors, Jim Patterson and Anne Low, pause before entering the Joliet Junior College library, a privilege they enjoy by virtue of their taking two or more college courses.

One of the privileges enjoyed by high school seniors who take course work in the college division is the use of the lounge. Taking full advantage of the comfort offered by the JJC lounge are Nancy Ariagno, Peggy Mahoney, and Janess Nelson.

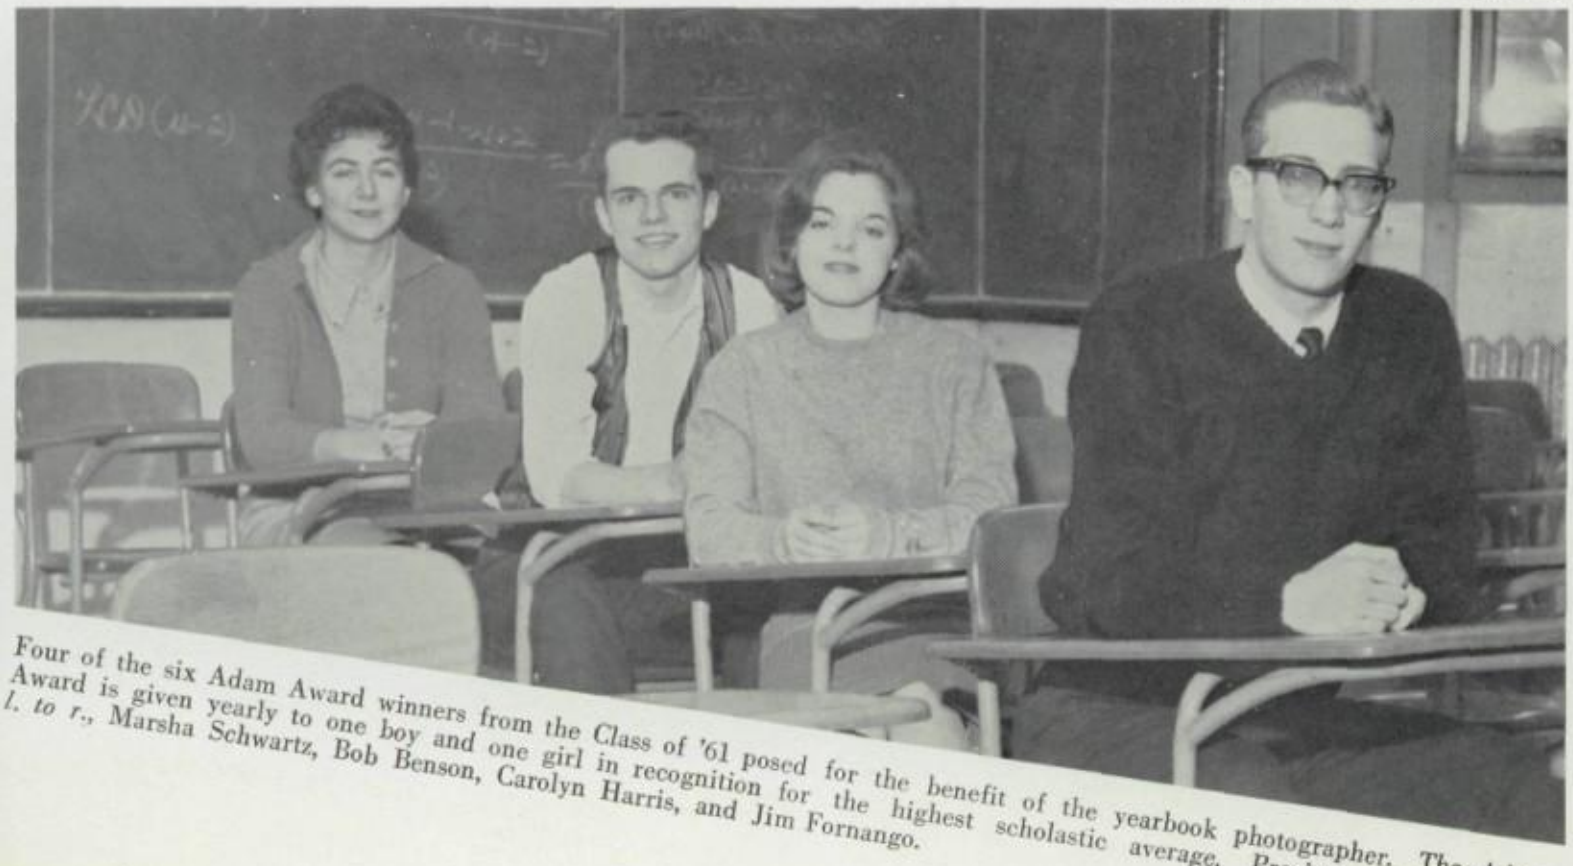
SENIOR HONORES

Lucia Sinderson was the lucky recipient of the Pilot Club Award for an outstanding senior girl. Her selection was made with the aid of Miss Helen Mahaney, Dean of Girls.

Bob Benson, Scott Rackham, and Dave Krohn exhibit their uncommon scholastic aptitude that tended to win them recognition for Merit Scholarships.

Barbara Hegstad, DAR Award winner, is shown with Miss Helen Mahaney, Dean of Girls, and DAR member, Mrs. Leland Stout, as she proudly displays the pin of recognition.

Donel White, a member of the varsity football team, was awarded the Caterpillar Sportsmanship Award following the annual JT-Catholic High football game.



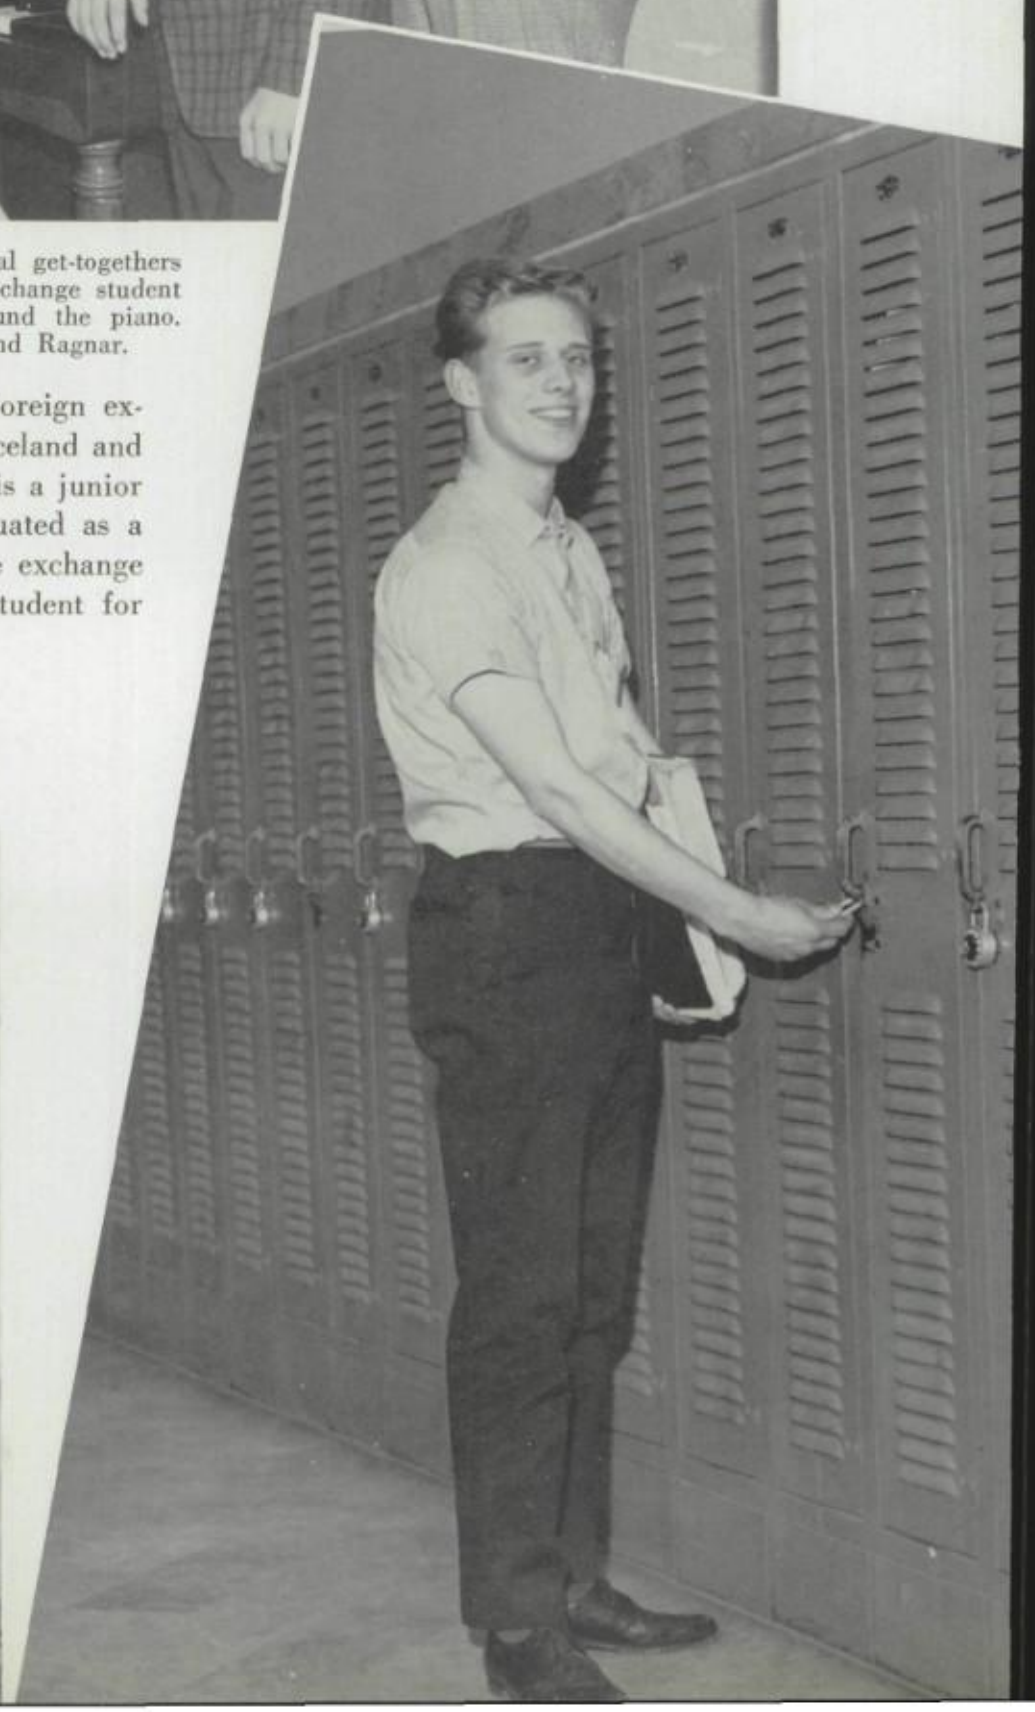
Four of the six Adam Award winners from the Class of '61 posed for the benefit of the yearbook photographer. The Adam Award is given yearly to one boy and one girl in recognition for the highest scholastic average. Previous winners were, l. to r., Marsha Schwartz, Bob Benson, Carolyn Harris, and Jim Fornango.

Exchange Program Brings Icelander

Becoming better acquainted with his American "family" during informal get-togethers has been a pleasurable experience for Ragnar. Here is JT's foreign exchange student with his "family," the Hathaways, as they trade national songs around the piano. From left to right are: Mike, Debbie, Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway, Cliff, and Ragnar.

This year, JT had the opportunity of welcoming its first foreign exchange student. Ragnar Thor Magnus came from Reykjavik, Iceland and spent the year with the Clifford Hathaways, whose son, Mike, is a junior at JT. Ragnar entered the school year as a senior and graduated as a member of the Class of '61. The student council supports the exchange program and it was through their efforts that an exchange student for this high school was possible.

Speaking before groups was one of the many opportunities availed to Ragnar as an exchange student. Ragnar is seen here speaking before the student body at the United Nations assembly which featured students of JT from foreign countries.



Here Is Invested the Strength of JT

JUDY and JANET DiVECCHIO, double instigators of school spirit, create many of their own fashions in addition to enthusiastic support for the school's teams. Besides being varsity cheerleaders, the twins are members of Student Council, and are Booster Club officers.

NANCY ARIAGNO, Editor of the J and President of GAA, still finds time to be an avid foreign car enthusiast. In addition to riding herd on these two extensive organizations, she also gives freely of her time to Tri-Hi-Y, NHS and SMS.

SAM BARCELONA, Senior Class President,. when not involved in an important class project, is caught on occassion engaging in one of his favorite pastimes. Besides presiding over the Senior Class, Sam is also active in the band, dramatics, Student Council, and the Singing Steelmen.

CHUCK WOOD, Battalion Commander of ROTC, exemplifies one of the finer fundamentals of RO training. After making sure that the RO is in top shape, Chuck turns to his other activities which include Hi-Y and the varsity football team.

For the first time, the J salutes the outstanding students of the Senior Class. Without the able leadership of these students, the organizations and activities at JT, of which they are a part, would be less significant. It is only through the efforts of the student leaders that JT enjoys the distinction of being one of the nation's great high schools. Even though the work of these students is exemplary now, it is gratifying to know that for them it is only the beginning and the limitless heights to success are a welcome challenge to these leaders of our generation.

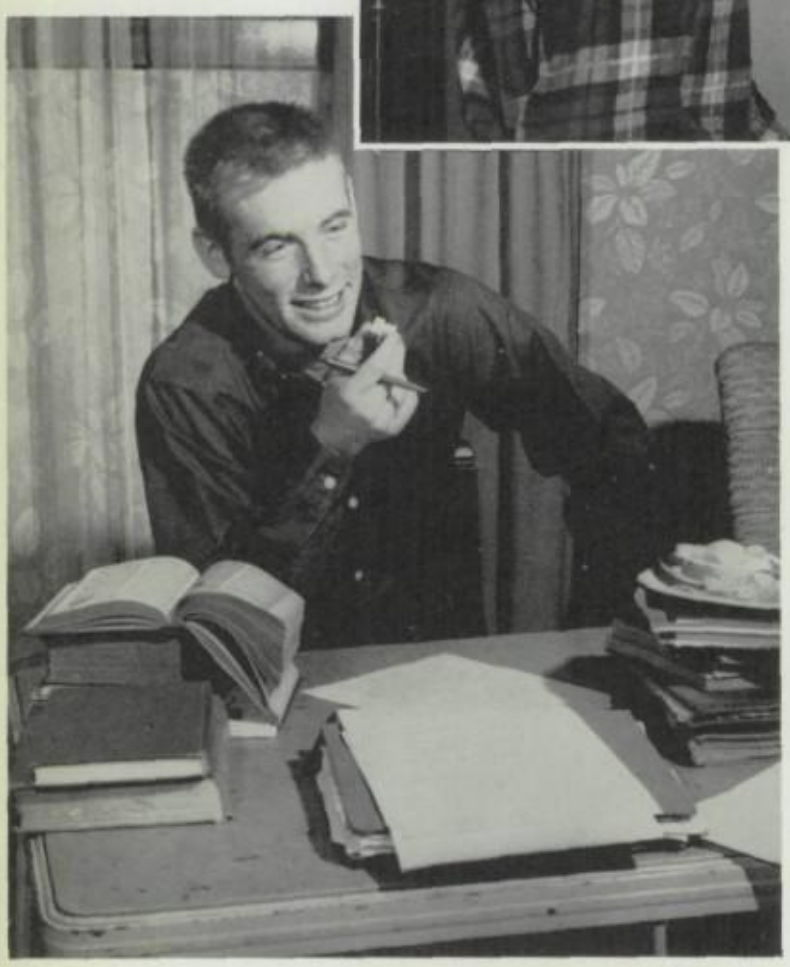
These Enterprising Students Preserve JT's Status

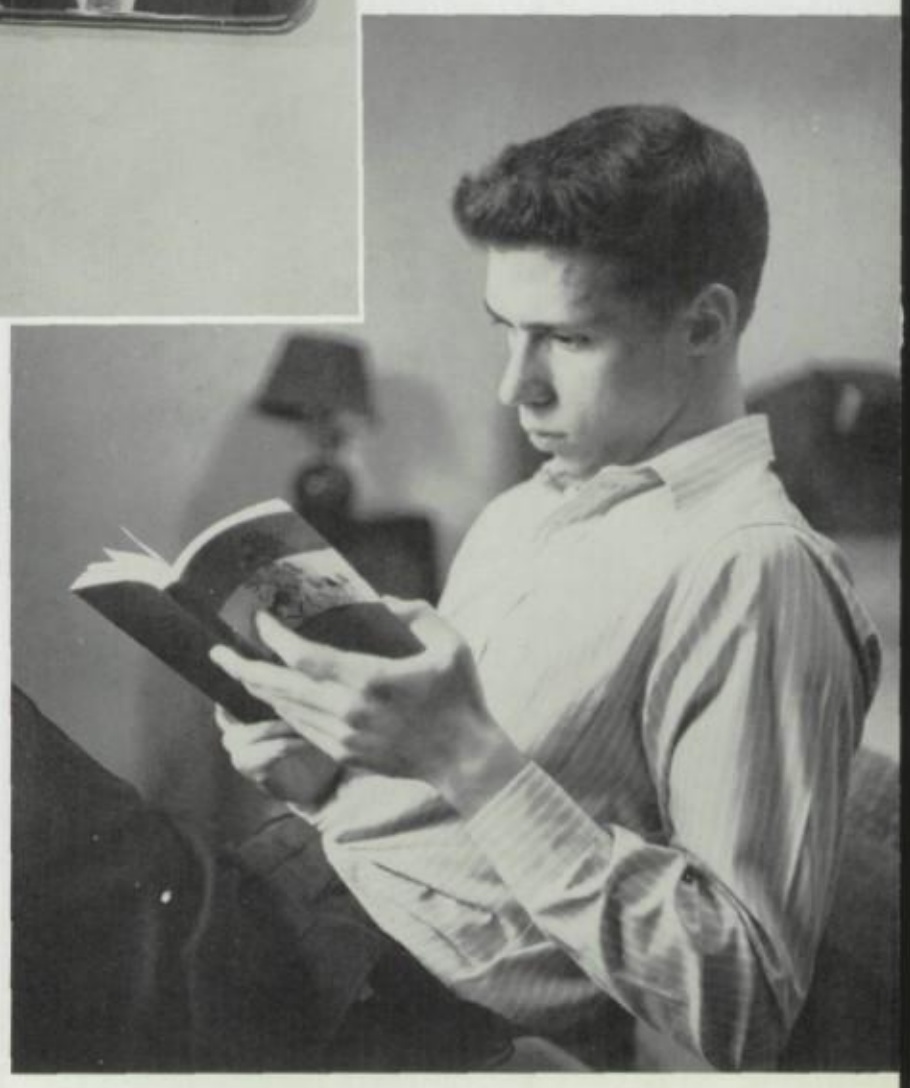
EVE BUELL, 1960 Homecoming Queen, proves that there is more to being a queen than beauty alone. When finished with her "queenly" chores, Eve helps keep the band in championship form by being the Blue Band sponsor. She is also involved in Tri-Hi-Y, Student Council, and NHS.

CLYDE ANDREWS, President of Madrigals and vice-president of our Student Council, proves that a warm smile and a winning personality will gain more than simply friends of the two legged animal variety. Among Clyde's other activities is the A Cappella Choir.

SKIP PAULSON, Student Council President, takes a mental respite from nourishing the sensitive soul and nourishes the hungry body. Past class president, Skip also gives part of his free time to NHS and the varsity basketball team.

DAVE KROHN, President of National Thespian, is used to a change of character and shouldn't be surprised at another image reflected in the mirror. Dave's other activities are as varied as his dramatic roles; a Merit Scholarship finalist and NHS among them.



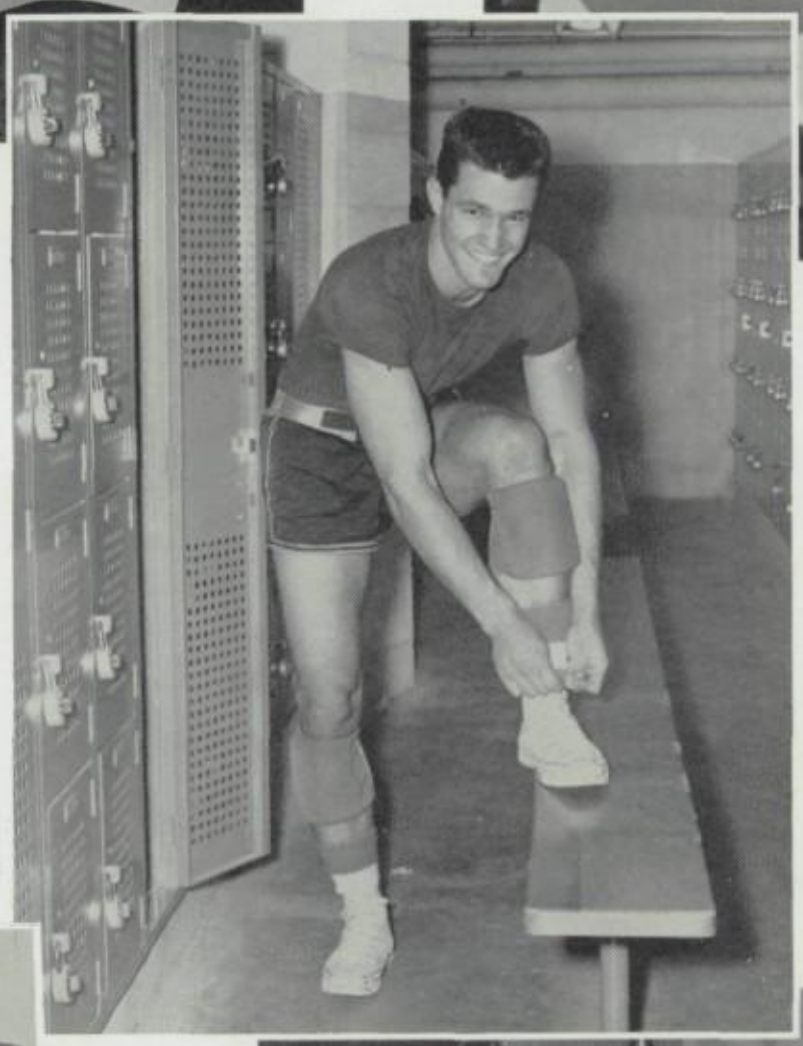


SCOTT RACKHAM, Class Orator, becomes just as engrossed in books as he does in school activities. Scott is Battalion Executive Officer of the ROTC, an editor of the J-Hi Journal, vice-president of National Thespian and a member of NHS.

as One of the Nation's Great High Schools

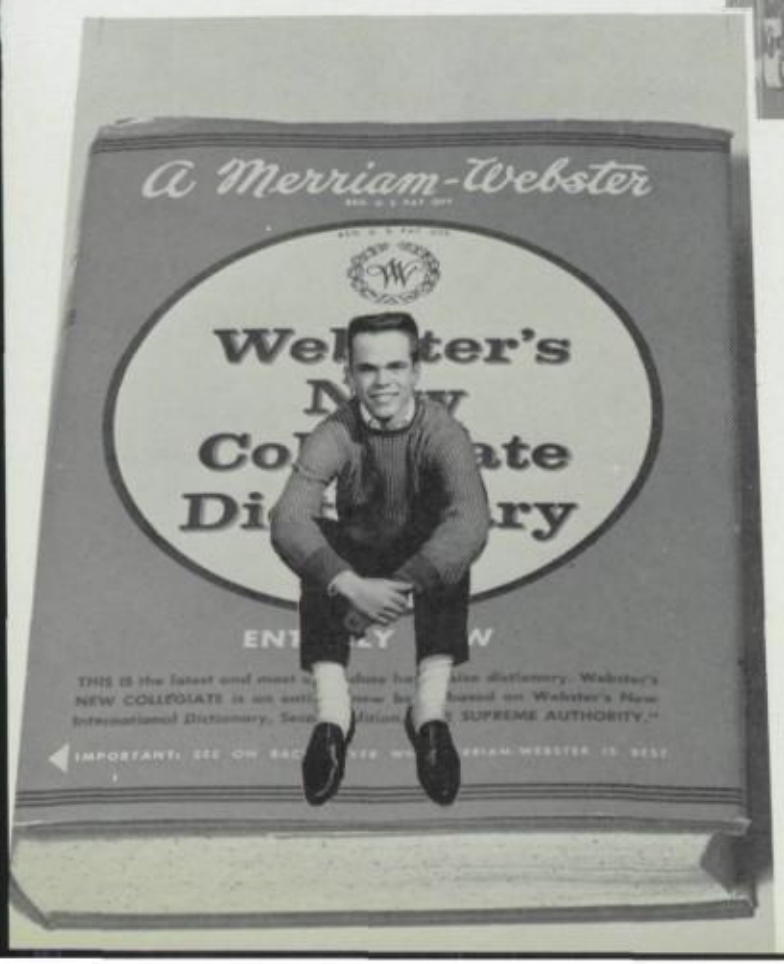
Often finding himself the center of newspaper activity, LARRY HARRIS centers himself around one of the prize issues of the J-Hi Journal of which he is Editor-in-Chief. Larry has applied his writing talents to the JT News Bureau and has nailed down numerous trophies and awards in the field of student journalism.

GINNY BUSSEY, President of Tri-Hi-Y Council, practices as enthusiastically on her typewriter in preparation for her future job as a secretary as she works enthusiastically in behalf of Tri-Hi-Y. Ginny also is a worker for Student Council, NHS, and GAA.



BOB McDANIEL exemplifies the name Steelman in all phases of athletics. Bob played halfback position on the varsity football team, was a member of the varsity wrestling squad, and is captain of the varsity track team.

Words can hardly describe the proficiency with which BOB BENSON subscribes his talents as he involves himself in such activities as NHS, of which he is president, his verbal contribution as Commencement speaker, and his vocal exploits in the field of music.



GEORGE RADAKOVICH, Band President, works with music all through the school day; then relaxes with music at home in the evening. George's music interests also carry over to the Singing Steelmen, of which he is a member.

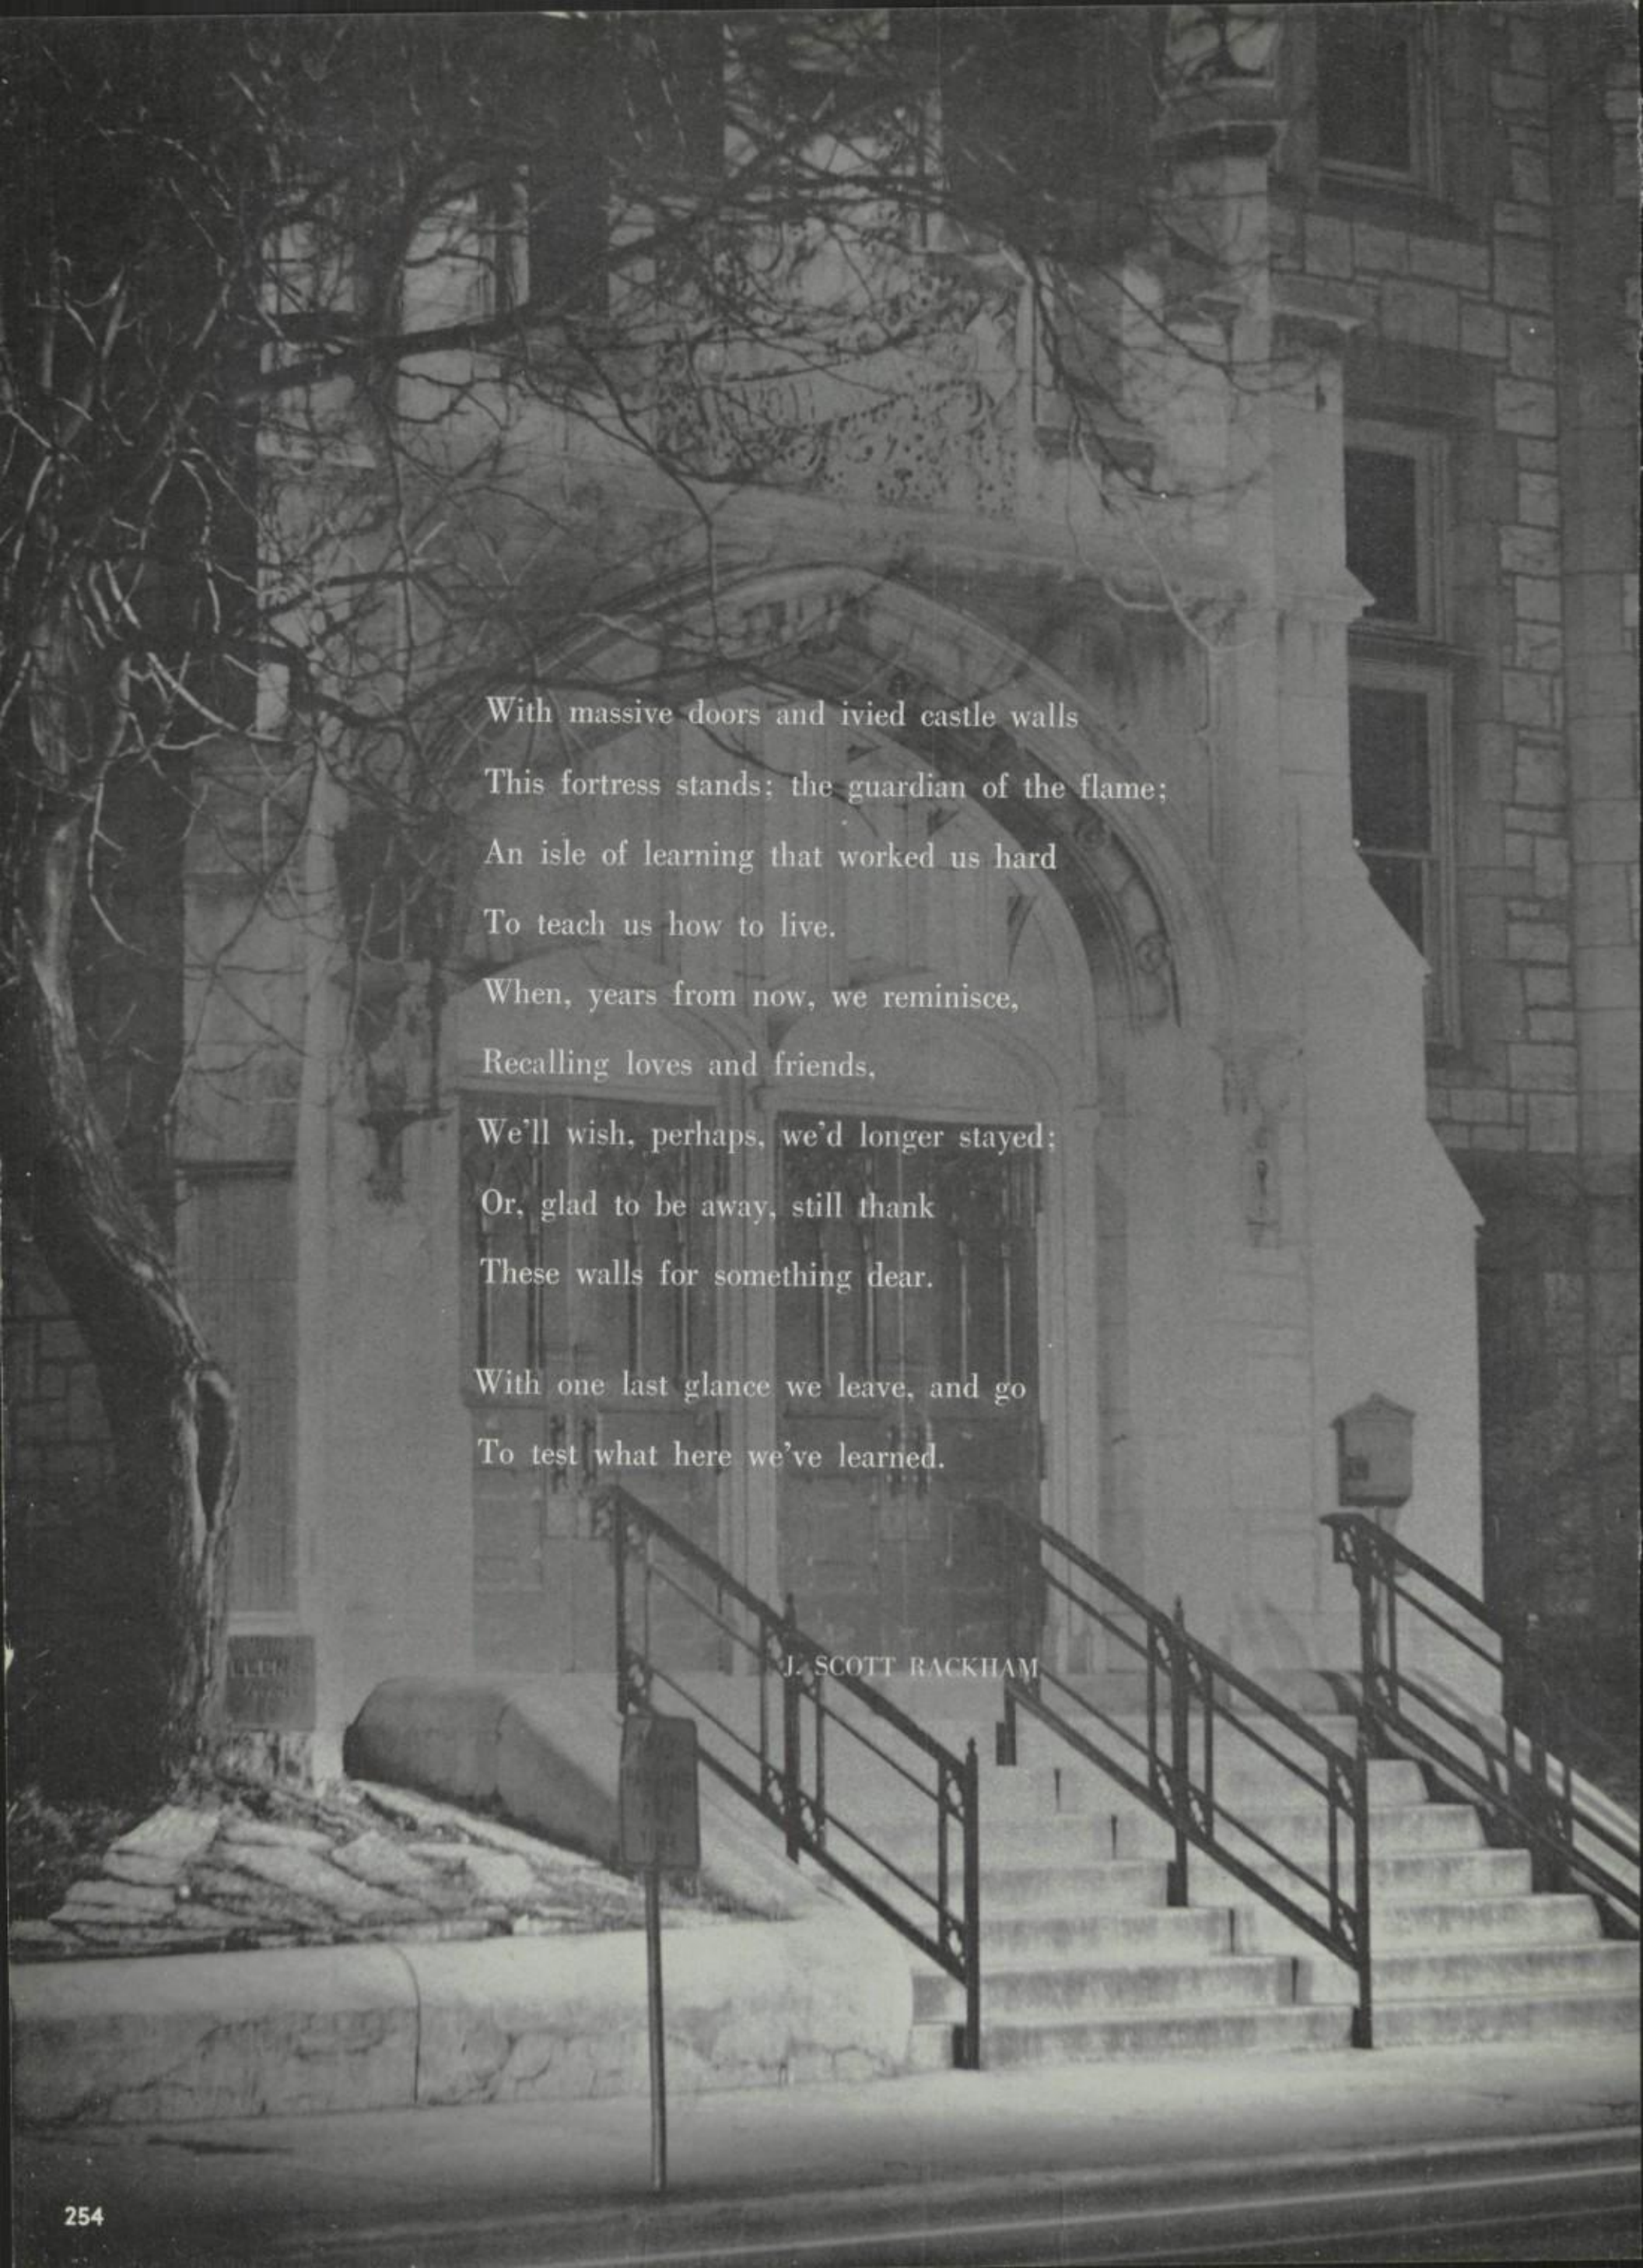
Glimpses of Those Fleeting Moments

When Time and Tide Stood Still



With massive doors and ivied castle walls
This fortress stands; the guardian of the flame;
An isle of learning that worked us hard
To teach us how to live.
When, years from now, we reminisce,
Recalling loves and friends,
We'll wish, perhaps, we'd longer stayed;
Or, glad to be away, still thank
These walls for something dear.

With one last glance we leave, and go
To test what here we've learned.
